

CEO Bride 196

Chapter 196

Felicity had a proud expression.

It only took her a year and a half to climb from being a nameless inspector to deputy chief.

The erosion of the Green Bamboo Association caused chaos in the major cities in Sagen that they ruled.

When she was named deputy chief, she used violence to control violence and personally led the people to suppress the Green Bamboo Association.

Now, the people from the Green Bamboo Association avoid her.

The only disadvantage was that it was difficult to make her identity public.

After all, her methods were rather cruel.

Angelica quickly gestured to Felicity to shut up when she heard her increasingly outrageous humiliation towards Nash. "Felice, stop embarrassing Mr. Calcraft. His identity is more than you could imagine..."

Felicity snorted and said, "What? Isn't he just some random director of some random place? You think any random person can have the same talent and power as me?"

"He's the sworn brother of the Northern Territory's Warden!"

"Damn..."

Felicity staggered and almost fell to the ground.

She stared at Angelica with wide eyes and asked, "Are you sure about that? How it is possible that he's the sworn brother of the Northern Territory's Warden?"

Angelica glanced behind and saw Nash in the far distance, so she whispered to Felicity, "Because he helped the Warden change his fate..."

eyes narrowed. "You mean, he cured the

"That's

a moment. "Then what does he have to do with the single detail about the Lewis walking for half an hour, they

a huge lake ahead of leaves and flowers were floating in long wooden bridge led directly to the

and the tourists on the bridge had begun to leave.

all the tourists must

2/3

wooden bridge.

she

a resident of Bronze Town, and there red ID card from her back pocket. "Can I enter with this?"

checked her ID card and frowned

Security Institution was an institution with was like magic, it was possible to enter any location with ease and could get the authenticity of the

and grunted,

Director of Sagen Inspection Department' on on a moment, I'll make snatched the certificate back and walked straight to the bridge.

but Felicity turned around were

"Why are you two still standing there?"

Felicity warned them and then strode across the wooden bridge.

Nash regained his composure and followed closely behind Angelica.

Lotus Cemetery was on the other side of the wooden bridge.

After crossing the bridge, there was a wooden fence.

A log cabin sat beside the fence.

The caretaker of the cemetery lived in the cabin.

The woman from the bridge earlier was chatting and laughing with the caretaker.

When the woman left, the three of them approached the cabin.

The small old man in the cabin frowned and asked, "Are you tourists?"

Nash nodded and said, "Yes..."

The old man asked again, "Are you here to visit the cemetery?"

Felicity answered, "We're from the Inspection Department and we're here on business. Please open the door and let us in!"

"I can't do that, there are rules in Lotus Cemetery. You can't enter unless you are related to the deceased buried inside."

The old man shook his head and refused, then he picked up a tobacco pipe and lit it.

He exhaled the smoke and said, "Please go home, I can't let you in!"