

CEO Bride 199

Chapter 199

When Angelica thought of the call Wesley and Kale had, Kale had only hesitated for three seconds before Wesley caught on.

Given his level of observation, it was indeed unlikely that he would come to the cemetery.

The three of them continued to hide behind the tombstone.

The burly man finished burning the offerings and sat in front of the grave to light a cigarette. Then, he took out a bottle of white wine from the bag next to him and drank it.

Felicity squinted and said, "What if... he's doing the opposite?"

Angelica was slightly taken aback. "What do you mean?"

"She means that Wesley probably predicted our plan!"

Felicity's words made Nash feel rather uncertain.

If Wesley predicted that someone was staking out at the cemetery and figured out their plans, then the person who came to burn the offerings could have been one of Wesley's men. Nash was sure that the person in the dark would have suspected that they knew he was not Wesley.

That was only a possibility...

If the man was not Wesley and they were to arrest him, it would only alert the enemy and the real Wesley would have escaped.

Felicity whispered, "If they were just here to visit the grave, they should have left after they finished burning the offerings. Why would they sit down to have a smoke and drink?"

dashed out

quickly followed

"Wesley..."

up to

who was sitting across from her slowly raised his

Chief Inspector!"

Felicity said coldly.

burly man smiled and said, "I'm the country tomorrow so you came in the middle of the night to visit your first

"Are you crazy? This is my younger sister... I just got to Bronze Town today, what's wrong with coming to visit Younger sister?

lips tightened into

said in a low voice, "Then, you man nodded. "Yes, that's my turned pale and she closed her

Mission failed.

without a doubt, working with real Wesley must have already seen opposite the man in a hoodie was holding a sniper rifle aimed at the burly man and his right eye was fixed on the scope attached

He could hear the conversation live through the wireless Bluetooth earpiece.

He moved the crosshair between Felicity and Angelica.

Finally, the crosshair is locked on the photo on the tombstone.

When he saw the girl with pigtails and a pure smile on her face, the man's hands began to tremble.

"Wesley..."

At that very moment.

A rustling sound came from under the tree.

The man immediately pointed the rifle at the source of the sound and pulled the trigger without hesitation.

Bang!

A loud gunshot spread throughout the town.

The burly man who was speaking with Felicity in the cemetery heard the gunshot and immediately put his arms around his head.

He had been told that if he were to misspeak, he would be shot dead.

When he heard the gunshot at that moment, he thought he had made a mistake.

Felicity whipped her head around to look across the lotus pond and then ran out of the cemetery at lightning speed.