

CEO Bride 203

Chapter 203

"Felice... you... you live here?"

Angelica mumbled dazedly as she stared at the estate that looked even grander than the private estates that the five business magnates of Jonford owned.

Felicity chuckled. "Didn't you already know I was rich when we were still students?"

Angelica gulped. "I knew you were rich, but I didn't know you were this rich!"

Families who resided in estates were usually extremely influential.

She had always thought Felicity's family owned a small business and had never imagined her family to be so grand and powerful.

"Money is something, but it's not everything! Nothing to make a big fuss over. Let's have lunch together!"

Felicity brought them to her family's private dining hall.

The dining hall was a massive mansion.

Its interiors were decorated even more lavishly than a five-star hotel's.

If you sat by the windows, you would even have a view of the manmade lake.

Michelin-star chef finished preparing an entire table's feast included king crab, large lobsters, caviar, and roast suckling of a simple meal?"

gulped as she

how rich her best friend

ordinary meal for us!"

Felicity answered flippantly.

sounded like she was showing off.

was true that this was nothing

way you went to the toilet may seem like you were

it to Angelica. "Here, by any chance related to the

her mouth, and asked between bites, "Are you thinking the Snyder family got their riches by being reliant on the Northern Territory

no. I and drank several spoonfuls before answering, "Philix Xing is in no way related to the Snyder chewed thoughtfully on a piece of

have killed him today if you

then, a loud voice could be dining room while several middle-aged men hurried after man is the grandson of the Ten Juggernauts' leader. Even the senior master would not have been able to protect you if you laid a hand on One of the middle-aged men smiled bitterly as he spoke.

The boy with purple-colored hair said arrogantly, "Who would dare do anything to the Snyder family when my sister is the deputy chief inspector?"

Felicity looked up at the boy and said angrily, "Caleb Snyder, I'm warning you once more, not use me as an excuse to roam free and get up to no good!"

do

Caleb froze when he heard Felicity's voice. When he finally turned around and saw the angry look on her face, a sheepish expression crept over his face. "Felicity... what... what brings you home for lunch today?"

His sister had rarely had meals at home ever since assuming her position.

A look of realization dawned on his face when he saw the man and woman also seated at the table, and he laughed as he said, "Ah, you have guests. No wonder..."

While he spoke, he dragged a chair over and sat down next to Nash.

He put one arm around Nash's shoulders and extended the other one in greeting. "I'm Caleb, Felicity's younger brother..."

Nash extended his hand as well to shake Caleb's. "I'm Nash!"

Caleb grinned. "So, what's the deal between you and my sister?"

Felicity grabbed a drumstick and hurled it at him. "B*stard, go away..."

3)

Caleb grabbed the drumstick from the air and stuffed it into his mouth, laughing as he said, "Hey, Nash, you see how horrible my sister's temper is? Don't date her!"