

CEO Bride 222

Chapter 222

Kai knew that his grandfather would not harm him. When advised to stay away from Simon, he understood it was for his own good.

He did not share a deep friendship with Simon, who merely served as a pawn against Nash.

After angering Nash, Kai planned to leave the country temporarily.

"When did you get that idea, Kai?" Helena looked at Kai in astonishment. Her face radiated with joy and happiness.

She was eager to watch the afternoon boxing match, wanting to see Wanda beat Bianca up. However, the news of Kai taking her on a trip made other events seem insignificant.

It was an excellent opportunity to bond with Kai.

Kai tilted Helena's chin and gave her a quick kiss, saying, "I made this decision a while ago. In a few days, there's an investor meeting for my overseas company. I'll introduce you to some new friends then."

Duncan swirled his wine and chuckled. "What a coincidence. I'm leaving the country in a few days too, planning to pick up my sister who's about to graduate."

Duncan was a sharp guy. Hearing that Kai was going abroad, he immediately guessed Kai's intention to distance himself from the brewing storm.

Given Nash's undeniable strength and the six Juggernauts' attack on Nash's close associates, they seemed to be treading dangerous ground.

Exiting this scene was the smart choice.

Mr. Duncan, isn't this a bit squinted at the two.

his grandfather's call became bore his own grudges against Nash, Kai and Duncan disliked him just as the same tricky situation, but Kai and Duncan wanted out, leaving Simon as the potential scapegoat.

lifted his glass with a smile. "Mr. Lane, thanks for aiding our revenge. Once I return from abroad, I'll treat you to a grand meal at the Chateau Hotel."

and Duncan raised their glasses drink, "That call earlier was from my grandfather. He mentioned that hiring the six Juggernauts cost 900 million!"

cough up 300 million each out.

sipped his

made

likely called Duncan to implicate him toward the response.

faintly, Simon said, "The Hidden-Ghost Juggernaut is taking the lead on this. I can offer him 200 million, while the remaining 100 million will be split among the other

a number and turned on speaker

"What is it?"

came from the

the phone, and the caller

Simon chuckled. "Let's cancel the afternoon boxing match. We've achieved our goal."

Wanda responded coldly, "Are you joking?"

Simon hurriedly said, "I'll give you 15 million!"

After a brief pause, Wanda agreed. "Deal."

"I'll cover the 300 million!"

Kai narrowed his eyes and spoke.

His animosity toward Nash was evident. A mere attack against Skadi was not enough to settle his anger.

"What 300 million?" Wanda asked, confused.

Simon hung up promptly.

The 900 million was a number he came up with.

The six Juggernauts supported them due to a favor the president owed his grandfather.

"Mr. Duncan... your move?"

Simon looked at Duncan with a playful smirk.