

CEO Bride 227

Chapter 227

He had not forgotten this woman ever since he saw her three years ago at the annual Green Bamboo Association meeting. This was the reason why he took over his grandfather's position as the president of the ninth branch of the Green Bamboo Association.

He would have a place in Wanda's heart as long as he achieved something.

The Grim-Faced Juggernaut ignored Simon and just smoked on her pipe.

On this side, Rose had gotten a chair for Nash. Just when he had taken a seat, the effeminate man sashayed over with an energy drink bottle in his hand, which he handed to Nash.

"Thank you," Nash thanked him politely even though he was somewhat disgusted by him.

Nash unscrewed the bottle cap, and it was then that the effeminate man took the bottle back. Thank you, Nash."

Nash curled his hands into fists but did not strike. Instead, he calmly said, "Don't block my view."

The effeminate man smiled and replied, "Why don't we get to know each other, Nash? My name is Megan Spinelli."

suppressed his anger and said, "Why do I need to a crash on the octagonal and retorted, "My name is Megan, and my surname up and slapped Megan to the ground before looking back

Bianca to the edge of the octagonal cage, and it was she who swollen. There was even a trace launch frantic combination punches. All three sets were exactly the ones Nash had taught Mike and Bianca. They were similar down to the point of force-to-force consolidation. One would definitely not be able to comprehend its essence if one just learned them through videos as it was difficult to understand the effect of each point of force just by watching the routine with the locate the point of force meant that she had studied with Mike for some period who she was before she participated in the Phoenix Crown Championship, she definitely would have lost at this moment from Wanda's intense learned the same combination of punches. Thus, she was then. She had not wanted to waste any time and defeat Bianca as soon as possible to complete her task. She did combination bunches.

What was happening?

She participated in 52 boxing matches in a row after returning to Somer and won with the very same three sets of combination punches each time.

Yet, Bianca had actually taken on all of them today?

Killing intent flashed through Wanda's eyes, and she swiped a left horizontal hook punch followed by a jab to Bianca's throat.

Bianca had been watching Wanda, and the moment she struck, she leaned back to dodge the attack before delivering her own punch.

Both their fists met, and they each took a few steps back at the same time.

Bianca knew Wanda had gone abroad to learn boxing and was not surprised when she saw her using Mike's boxing moves. After she stabilized herself, she began to counter-attack with the same three combination punches set again. This time, it was Wanda's turn to be caught off guard.

She retreated one step at a time as she concentrated on defending herself against Bianca's attacks.

At the same time, shock and astonishment surge in the heart.