Chapter 230

Father Cillian was dressed in a white robe today.

He had long eyebrows and an outstanding figure. His waist-length white hair hung behind him and made him look graceful.

His skin was even fairer than that of snow with a faint luster to it, and his deep and dark eyes shone with light glazing over. There was an enchanting beauty to his being.

"F-Father Cillian?"

A look of shock crossed Bianca's face when she saw him.

Father Cillian was the head priest of Quiet Winds Church. Quiet Winds Church had started a video account that posted videos of him drinking tea, admiring flowers, and discussing life within the church in an effort to promote the culture of the Path.

His ethereal demeanor and youthful countenance despite his appearance as an elderly man attracted millions of female fans. She was able to see him in reality now.

"Stop gaping. Let's go."

Nash closed the car door and started straight for the villa gate. Only then did Bianca come to her senses. Recalling that her friend was seriously injured, she followed anxiously.

Cillian saw Nash and greeted him with a smile, "Master Calcraft."

Nash nodded calmly. "Hello."

Cillian was no stranger to gaffes when a member of the opposite sex saw him.

He did not ask to be good-looking.

If handsomeness was a sin, it was likely that he could already expect the death penalty.

In the living room, Brian was ready to head on upstairs with the boiled medicine.

Hera said, “Dr. Tanner, why don’t you pass me the medicine.”

“Careful, it’s hot.”

Hera was his grandmaster’s wife, so Brian treated her with the utmost courtesy.

It was then that Nash and Cillian entered the living room.

Bianca saw Hera holding a bowl of holistic medicine and said, “Hera, I’ll go with you.” He quickly walked up to her.

Hera only knew then that Nash had gone looking for Bianca. She nodded slightly and said nothing.

Bianca noticed that Hera was a little unhappy but only thought that she was sad because of Skadi’s injury.

The two arrived at a room on the second floor.
