

CEO Bride 238

Chapter 238

At this moment, in a manor in the eastern suburbs.

This was the Lee family's private mansion that had been temporarily lent to six of the Juggernauts of the Green Bamboo Association.

Outside the manor, there were more than 30 members of the Green Bamboo Association.

They all had crew cuts and were dressed in suits and leather shoes. Each of them also possessed the strength of a grandmaster.

There was a pair of dark eyes watching the manor. They look like they belonged to a jackal that was hiding in the dark, ready to pounce.

In the brightly lit villa, Howard was having a drink with three other old men. These three old men were also part of the 10 Juggernauts.

Unibrow Juggernaut was 82 years old and had not a single wrinkle on his face. He had cultivated to the level of a stage nine grandmaster. As his name suggested, he had no eyebrows.

Howard held up his glass and clinked it with his. "You were so fierce back then, Brother Unibrow. You cut down over 180 members of the League of Heroes with your machete that it became dull!"

laughed loudly. "That's all in the

the two downed their drinks in one gulp.

the earliest group, you've actually done the best for yourself. You have a billion to your name. You handed glass again and replied, "Brother Giant, you jest. I'm only here today thanks to all of you.

way they were today was because they

lot of money back then too, but we vulgar lot don't have the business acumen like you do.

other two also nodded while trying to get him to give them money and immediately said righteously, "My brothers, were to give the 10 Juggernauts each 30 million, that would only add up to 300 million. His net worth had already reached 80 billion. 30 million would not hurt him beggar?" Nutcracker Juggernaut suddenly scoffed after having said nothing the entire breath-taking coldness instantly

"Brother Nutcracker, I-"

as cold sweat

The Nutcracker Juggernaut was the head of the 10 Juggernauts. One could tell from his code name that the former madman was a completely deranged person. At the beginning of the Green Bamboo Association's establishment, he had almost never encountered any unexpected incidents in his fight for Sagen territory. Those who confronted him were either missing an arm or had a broken leg. What was more, some were even subjected to death or torture by methodical cutting or slicing of their body.

Now, he was the most powerful figure in the Green Bamboo Association, and his cultivation level had even reached the middle stage of the terrifying Profound Reality Realm.

"Brother Nutcracker, Howard is already taking bullets for the president. He's giving us money out of goodwill. He doesn't even need to do that by right, so what are you getting so angry for?"

Giant said as he glared at Nutcracker.

He then immediately said to Howard, "Nutcracker doesn't hold his alcohol well. Please don't take it to heart."

Unibrow Juggernaut sighed and said, "Brother Nutcracker has a lot of debt due to the romantic ' affairs he got involved in when he was young. He has more than ten sons and as many as 30 grandchildren living off of him."

Howard was not an idiot either. They were only finishing each other's tune to get more out of him.