

CEO Bride 267

Chapter 267

Nash and the others had returned to the Royal Bay Villa.

At this moment, the outside of the villa was filled with black sedans, as well as several luxury cars worth millions.

More than 30 individuals dressed in various outfits stood outside the villa.

They were all martial artists of the grandmaster level or above.

These were all the undercover staff from the Special Security Institution stationed in Jonford.

Among them, a middle-aged man wearing a suit had a badge pinned to his right chest.

Felicity introduced, "This is Judas Deacon, the person in charge of the Ninth Division of the Special Security Institution."

"Hello, Mr. Deacon!"

Nash greeted with a smile, feeling slightly surprised deep down.

The cultivation of this man had actually reached the early stages of the Profound Reality Realm.

The Special Security Institution was indeed formidable!

"Mr. Calcraft, I've heard so much about you. I've wanted to meet you for a long time but never got the chance. I didn't expect to meet you under such circumstances today!"

out his hand to shake Nash's

Security Institution's intelligence-gathering capabilities were major incidents in Jonford related to Nash.

even discovered Nash's alias as Deacon, you flatter me. I'm just a common man!"

responded, forcing a

they had investigated him and did not appreciate the feeling of being looked have recently occurred in Jonford. The local law enforcement couldn't it, so the cases were transferred to our Special

Crow was killed.

Howard and three Juggernauts of the Green Bamboo Association, as well as over did not leave behind a single trying to warn Nash that if you could help the Green Bamboo replied with a nonchalant smile.

of dealing with that cancerous threat, the Special Security Department stared each other torch as he exuded a powerful his

hope you take care of yourself!"

warned coldly before turning

He put on a kind smile and said, "Ms. Mare, you've done a great service this time. FS has the potential to benefit humanity. It can save the lives of hundreds of thousands of HIV patients!"

Yvonne giggled and said, "It was discovered by my father. I only brought back the results of his research!"

"Your father is an extraordinary scientist. Rest assured, our government will negotiate with the Moliga Empire to bring him back in the best way possible!" Judas assured solemnly.

"Mm. I trust the strength of our great nation! But can I obtain citizenship in Drakonia?"

Yvonne grew up in Moliga and needed citizenship now that she was returning home to Drakonia for her studies.

Judas smiled. "Of course. I'll find someone to help you process this."

Yvonne's parents were both citizens of Drakonia, and she carried pure Drakonian blood.

Her father's discovery of FS could save countless lives. Such a scientist would be held in high regard in any country.

Now that his daughter had returned home, the relevant departments would, of course, pave the way for her.

After a while, the members of the Special Security Institution left one after another.

The group finally let out a collective sigh of relief.

Felicity, who had not left, approached Nash and whispered, "Oh my god, I knew it! I guessed right. You really are the one behind that incident!"