

My Substitute CEO Bride by Fruit dumpling Chapter 27

My Substitute CEO Bride by Fruit dumpling Chapter 27

Chapter 27

Helena and her family rushed to the villa.

The family of three arrived at the old man's room.

Seeing that the old man had woken up, the three of them were absolutely depressed.

Herman glanced at the three calmly, then said to Harrison, "Harrison, go out first"

Harrison sighed before slowly turning around and heading out of the room in a lonely manner.

After two hours, Helena's family of three walked out of the room with smiles on their faces.

The old man had put on a gray traditional garb and combed his hair back. He looked completely refreshed.

Seeing that his father was not even using a cane anymore, a smile made its way onto Harrison's face.

"Harrison, Dad wants to go talk a walk at Rococo. Would you like to come along?" Hubert asked Harrison with a smile.

Without even waiting for Harrison to answer, Herman said calmly, "You should go back to Baroque. My body's already recovered. You don't have to look for me if you don't need anything else."

"Yes, Dad."

Harrison smiled bitterly.

The old man had lost part of his memory, and his focus had once again returned to his eldest brother's family again. The situation was not looking good for him.

Herman followed Hubert's family out of the villa and happened to see two law enforcement officers outside.

Angelica stepped forward politely. "Hello, Mr. Lewis. We're from the Criminal Investigation and Inspection Office and would like to ask you some things. Is it convenient for you?"

"No, it's not. My father has important matters to attend to at the company."

Hubert immediately went up to stop the two of them.

Helena and her mother quickly helped Herman into the car.

Angelica's expression changed. She was about to retort when Jupiter stopped her. "Haste makes waste. Let's wait here for them to come back."

Both Herman and Hubert were entrepreneurs in Jonford and had incredible influence. If they wanted to ask them anything, they could only abide by their time.

Hubert got into the car. Helena then stepped on the accelerator, and they left quickly.

Herman asked suspiciously, "Why are the people from the Inspection Office looking for us?"

Rooney pursed her lips and said, "It's probably because of Hannah..."

"What's wrong with Hannah?"

112

Herman frowned and then recalled that he did not see her this morning.

"Hannah went to pick up her nephew yesterday and got into a car accident on the way back..." Hubert explained.

"What?"

Herman's expression abruptly changed. "How are they doing now?" he asked hurriedly.

Hubert wiped his eyes and choked, "They both died... The driver who caused the accident has been caught, and we've already taken care of Hannah's funeral!"

Herman sighed heavily. "Hannah has worked in our family for more than 20 years. Now that this has happened, you lot can't treat her family poorly."

"Don't worry, Dad. We'll take care of it!"

"Rooney, didn't my younger brother and sister pay 140,000 in advance? Give her 210,000 later," Hubert said gently.

Rooney pursed her lips and muttered, "How can such a cheap life be worth that much? The driver's insurance company can take care of it, so why do we have to pay?"

Herman frowned. "What are you mumbling about?"

Helena noticed the old man getting angry through the rearview mirror and quickly said, "My mother said she'll transfer the money immediately..."

Her mother had never gone to school and did not use her brain much every time she spoke.

Was it not obvious that Grandfather would get mad at such words?

Only then did Herman's expression soften a little. "Hubert, call Mr. Zoel and sell the villa in Royal Bay!"

Hearing this, Hubert was overjoyed. He suppressed the excitement he felt and said with a smile, "Dad, it's hard to find a villa in Royal Bay. Since you already bought it, why don't you leave it to be Helena and Kai's home after their wedding?"

Herman had learned that Helena and Kai were together and felt gratified.

If Helena married the Watson family, their family could also be brought along to glory.

Hearing what Hubert said, he immediately agreed. "Do as you wish, then!"