Chapter 272

Step by step, Francis made his way toward the masked man.

His tone had been arrogant and domineering like it came from a monster in an abyss.

The masked man took two steps back in fear.

“Which family are you from?” Francis narrowed his eyes. His cold eyes were so breathtaking that the masked man felt his courage crumble. He felt a chill enveloping his entire body and could not stop shivering

Francis was an expert at the peak of the Profound Reality Realm. He was one of the guardians of the four islands of Drakonia. He was rumored to be cruel by nature and possessed a bloodthirst that went down to his core. He even once shattered foreign cruisers that approached Phoenix Island.

The masked man took a deep breath before lifting a hand to slap himself on the forehead.

His skull shattered, and he died instantly.

Seeing this, the other masked individuals also dropped their weapons one after another before killing themselves.

The Ninth Division was stunned.

Who was this man who managed to defeat a formidable figure who had reached the Profound Reality Realm with one punch? He even managed to scare the insufferably arrogant masked folks into committing suicide.

Junior? Nash?

Francis’ junior?

Judas finally regained his composure. He then murmured to himself, "No wonder that

"Thank you, James." Lauren was both happy and scared.

She was happy that her relationship with her brothers had eased but was afraid that her father would still refuse to forgive her. He was a man as stubborn as a mule.

Harrison booked the plane ticket for James and then sent him to the airport himself.

Maria came in, worriedly asking, "The thief sneaking around outside last night is outside our house. Should we alert the police?"

Lauren's and Hera's expressions abruptly changed as the two of them looked at Nash at the same time.

"I'll go out and take a look."

When Nash walked out of the villa, he immediately saw a man in a suit sitting in the park a hundred meters away.

He walked over to the park quickly and asked coldly, "What are you trying to do now?"

"I... I was unable to complete the task Royal Biotech entrusted me with. I failed to get the 4.7 million reward." The man in the suit lowered his head, not daring to meet Nash's gaze.

"What does that have to do with me?" Nash found it rather hilarious. Was this not a blatant attempt at scamming him?

The man in the suit summoned up his courage and look into Nash's eyes. "I... I can offer you my life! I studied at Northdale Mountain for 16 years. Now, I've reached the peak of a stage six great-grandmaster and am only one step away from becoming a stage seven great-grandmaster!"
