

CEO Bride 274

Chapter 274

Immediately after the caller said that, there was another panicked voice on the other end of the call.

“No! No! Please don’t cut off my finger! No! Ahh!” A miserable shriek followed.

The veins in the suited man’s forehead popped as he roared violently. “What did you do to my father? If you lay a finger on him, I’ll destroy your entire family!”

“Oh dear, it’s too late for that. Come on, then. Come and destroy my family.”

“If I don’t see the money before 12 o’clock in the afternoon today. I’ll feed all ten of your father’s fingers to the dogs.”

The voice on the other end of the call sounded young. Still, that person’s tone was nothing but arrogant.

“Winnie, I’m not done talking to you!” The man’s eyes were red as the phone in his hand was crushed to pieces.

Nash immediately said, “Give me your details first. I’ll transfer the money to you immediately!”

He felt a little sorry that the man’s father had lost a finger because of the delay on their side.

suited man slowly took out a bank card from his force is needed to resolve some matters, so don’t hesitate.”

yet was powerless

third branch of the Green Bamboo Association.

be

with the Green Bamboo Association

have noticed something. After exchanging a few words themselves, they turned around and walked toward the

unable to choice but to go to the bank to have it done.

and learned more about him on the way.

years old. His mother passed away nine years ago, and his father was the only one left poker table after his untrustworthy friends gathered in Jonford. The presidents of seven of the association branches are also voice trembled, cold sweat soaking his clothes.

a force enough to sweep the entirety of they're already

Shaking, Xeno replied, "I'll have Mr. Skye send people over!"

"No need. I've my own way to deal with them," Nash said.

Many big shots had also caught wind of this news.

Walter immediately called Nash. "Mr. Calcraft, do you need help? I can call about 20 martial arts grandmasters over!"

Nash just smiled lightly. "Just take care of your grandson. I can handle this myself!"

Kai's hatred for him went deep into his bones. He might also take part in the Green Bamboo Association's crusade against him. He had given Kai one last chance. If he still failed to appreciate it, then he would no longer give Walter any more face.

In the Zells' residence, Grant was sitting in the living room of the villa, smoking.

Sydney sneered. "This man sure is daring. But he's a little too confident. Let's not get involved in this."

Grant smiled. "I couldn't even if I wanted to. This is the Green Bamboo Association!"

In the Lees' residence, Joseph and Olivia were having a video call with Theo.

Theo was frowning, feeling restless.

He knew Nash was very strong.