

CEO Bride 332

Chapter 332

After Fabian spoke, he hung up the phone.

Frankie seemed... suspicious?

The moment the idea arose, he quickly dismissed it.

If Frankie had been a mole, he would have already perished with the plane. If it were not for Frankie's warning, he would have been completely destroyed.

However, if it was not Frankie, who else would have exposed his whereabouts?

Fabian turned to look at the helicopter pilot.

The helicopter pilot had jumped out of the cockpit, hiding fearfully beside several of the others.

Fabian cautiously shifted behind Melody and Finn.

Melody noticed Fabian's odd behavior and immediately turned to look at the pilot.

"W-Why are you looking at me like that?" The pilot seemed nervous.

"Which family sent you?" Fabian's dark brown eyes shimmered with a sense of authority.

"The Lees... I've been working for the Lees for three years!" The pilot explained with his head lowered.

"You're lying!"

Fabian squinted at him.

These Nihon ninjas were all at the level of a great-grandmaster.

They were adept at ninja techniques, and just four of them could kill a martial artist in the early stages of the Profound Reality Realm.

"You two leave. I'll handle this."

Being a man, Finn would not hide behind a woman.

"Go!"

Melody shouted harshly.

Seeing the seriousness and anger on Melody's face, Finn realized the gravity of the situation. He grabbed Fabian's arm and ran toward the edge of the roof.

Two ninjas wielding blades blocked their path.

Melody's true energy surged wildly as she charged at them. She fended them off with a series of flying kicks.

The little fox was clutching onto Fabian's hair, refusing to let go. Its blue eyes were filled with fear.

Then, Fabian felt a burning sensation on his neck.

Damn it...

'Did it just pee on my head?' he thought.

Just as he was about to react, his body uncontrollably fell from the rooftop of Chateau Hotel.
