

CEO Bride 348

Chapter 348

When Nash saw the nervous look on the staff member's face, he did not think much of it and chalked it up to them having heard Hunter's screams just now.

"Mr. Calcraft... President, allow me to escort you to the presidential suite!" The staff member's attitude was respectful, but her legs were trembling slightly.

President? Was the appointment notice from Universal Group's headquarters issued so quickly?

"How did you know that?" Nash asked cautiously.

"The hotel has access to Universal Group's HR system. We can retrieve information about all Universal Group employees through their ID cards," the staff member explained cautiously.

"I-I'm so hot..." Hera's cheeks were flushed at the moment. Her breathing was rapid, and her misty eyes seemed unfocused as she continued to tug at Nash's clothes that were wrapped around her with her hands.

glanced down with furrowed brows. "Please, take me staff member glanced at the woman in Nash's arms through the corners of on the third floor. The staff member swiped a card and opened the door before hinting suggestively,

"Mr. Calcraft, there is a Group were not only highly capable but also exceptionally good-looking. The young lady now, but more than that, she felt envious. This man was responsible for all 18 Universal Group branch offices in Drakonia, after all.

salary. If it were her, she would not even require drugs. She would just get into his were drinking with this woman tonight. Also, please try to keep my identity discreet."

the room. The room was lavishly decorated with a 180-degree panoramic floor-to-ceiling window that to Nash's neck tightly while refusing to let go. A small was Nash. Her voice was soft feel terrible. Please help me..."

one could resist the to let go first. Let me check your pulse. Then, I can figure out how to

"You're the antidote..." Hera said urgently before pressing a passionate kiss to his lips.

At the front desk of Cloud Peak Palace Hotel, the beautiful receptionist sat in her chair, lost in thought. On her computer screen, information on Nash's identity within Universal Group was still displayed.

[Name: Nash Calcraft.

[Position: Head of inspection in Drakonia.

[Position level: SS-rank.]

The hotel had received numerous executives from Universal Group, but most of them were in F to B-rank positions. B-rank corresponded to positions like the head of departments. Beyond that, there were A-rank general managers, S-rank middle level shareholders and vice presidents, SS-rank high-level shareholders and presidents, and SSS-rank chairmen and presidents of various major councils.

The head of inspection position was an SS-rank position, similar to the presidential position. It was a role directly under the chairman's jurisdiction. "He's around the same age as me, isn't he?"