

CEO Bride 352

Chapter 352

"Yes, I was involved. However, the situation is really complicated, and I can't explain it to you in one go!"

Nash sighed.

He had indeed played a role in the incidents involving the Lewises, Zabels, and Bianca. However, what happened to the Lewises was also due to something that had started more than 20 years ago.

In order to prevent the Kleins from taking further action, he could not leave Hera's side.

"I don't need your explanation. I'm standing by what I said earlier. If you truly love her, then please leave her. I believe that you wouldn't want anything happening to her either!"

"I know better than you what I should be doing. I won't leave Hera!" Nash insisted.

"You're shameless!" Skadi could not help but yell at him. Even though he was the Smiling Grim Reaper, she was not afraid to put her life at risk for the sake of her best friend.

"Those killers from when we first met had nothing to do with me! And when you were taken to Causeway Bay by Crow, I had nothing to do with that either.

"I can only tell you this much. If you continue to sabotage my relationship with Hera, then don't blame me for turning against you!"

Nash said coldly before hanging up.

when she heard the call end.

was well aware of Nash's power and against her, then the entire Zabel for Hera, but think about this from a different angle. If it weren't for Bamboo Association?

a double-edged sword. He can bring us both benefit and danger. If he hadn't helped me win the Phoenix Crown and had kept his distance from me, then looking

given the choice, I'd still trade danger to step forward and help

Hera? He's just a cold-blooded killer. He even brought another slowly weak laugh. "I've never felt that Nash was cold-blooded. On justice. He's a man with a strong sense

her

she wanted

thinks I'm in the wrong too... Could it be that I really am the Hill family's mansion, Gaspard's study updates. Justin helped Hunter arrange a meeting with Hera... and spiked Hera's drink. Nash got angry because of this, so he attacked Hunt and hurt Justin..."

voice.

"It's all that bitch, Hera's, fault... I want her dead..." Gaspard gritted his teeth.

"But Nash has the Skyes' support!" Geoffery said worriedly.

"So what? Hunt is paralyzed, and the doctor said that he has to spend the rest of his life in a wheelchair! You're his father. How can you accept this?" Gaspard glared at Geoffrey and yelled.

Hunter was the only heir to the Hills, and now he was made into a cripple by someone else. Yet, as a father, he remained indifferent.

"Justin's girlfriend is from the Graham family. Let the Grahams deal with Nash!" Geoffrey suggested.

"Don't bother them! I've sent people to guard the Cloud Peak Palace Hotel. As soon as Nash and Hera step out, they'll make the move!"

In a villa area that was affiliated with Universal Group, the vice president of Jonford Universal Group - Travis was talking to his cousin Queenie on the phone.

He frowned slightly. "What's his name?"

Queenie replied, "I don't know either... Frankie should know him!"

Travis said in a cold voice, "The people from the legal department shouldn't be easily offended."

After a few moments of silence, he added, "Well, I'll call Frankie and ask him about it first."

After hanging up, he immediately dialed Frankie's number.