

CEO Bride 354

Chapter 354

Queenie and Justin were both department managers.

They had applied for a luxurious mansion with four bedrooms and two living rooms under their joint name.

At this time, Justin was lying in bed groaning in pain.

When Queenie ended the call, Justin immediately asked, "So, who's that bitch?"

Queenie shrugged. "Just a senior shareholder friend!"

"A senior shareholder? Does that mean I can't beat him up?"

Justin looked disappointed.

All of the senior executives of Universal Group had influential backgrounds. They were either wealthy scions of prestigious families or close associates of the leader at Universal Group's headquarters.

Among the managers, Justin stood out as one of the few who ascended from ordinary salesmen's ranks. He relied solely on his degree from Project 985.

Fortunately, he used his talents and good looks to pursue Queenie Graham. That was how he ultimately established his firm foothold in the company.

Even though the Ten Families of Capiton were very famous, they were not essential to Universal Group. would not offend a senior shareholder for Justin's sake.

He quickly pushed her away and said helplessly, “Don’t... Don’t cry! I didn’t do anything to you! You’re on your period, remember?”

Hera held the blanket and cried heartbrokenly. She was not in tears because of Nash’s actions but rather because she was still afraid after what happened yesterday.

If Nash had not found her, she could not imagine what would have happened to her.

Nash got under the blanket, hugged Hera gently, and said, “I promise I didn’t do anything to you. I was just kidding...”

Hera grabbed Nash tightly and wailed, “Nash... I’m so sorry... I shouldn’t have gotten mad at you... I should’ve believed you!”

In the past two days, her mind was filled with every moment she had spent with Nash. Although they had not been together for a long time, she believed that Nash was not a promiscuous person.

Nash sniffed and said, “It’s my fault for not explaining it properly to you... Don’t cry anymore. It pains me to see you in tears!”

Hera held back her sobs, raised her head, and looked at the lipstick stains all over Nash’s face.

At that moment, Nash’s phone rang again.

It was Skadi calling.

Nash rejected the call without hesitation.

Hera asked through sniffles, “Why did you hang up on Skadi?”

Nash pursed his lips and explained, “She wants me to break up with you!”

As soon as he finished, his phone rang again.
