

CEO Bride 414

Chapter 414

Daniel's grandson was Ethan.

He was upset as well that none of the missing people were found.

However, there was not much that he could do.

"Find them? How are we supposed to find them? We've been looking in the mountains for seven hours, and we couldn't even find a single trace of them!"

Daniel stretched his neck, his muscles rippling as he slowly clapped his hands.

The seventh and eighth people from the Xalderon lineage immediately walked over.

These people had round waists and thick arms with strength beyond ordinary people.

The person who had just spoken gulped.

He looked at the others who had spoken as if he wanted them to stand up and seek justice with him.

However, they just turned their attention elsewhere.

It was obvious that none of them wanted to go against the Xalderon lineage.

Professor Law looked at the dead body with the bullet hole between his eyebrows, frowned, and asked, "Was there anyone else in the mountains?"

were sinister. "Yes. Not only did they destroy our drones, Law frowned and said, "Yoseph is in the National Archaeological Team. It's obvious that this type of work isn't Yoseph's... He also promised not to

"Bradley Perry..."

it possible that Bradley kidnapped

clenched his fists, emitting an evil

he had suffered at the pondered aloud, "It's unlikely... The Tomb Whisperer Lineage has rules... They won't attack innocent people in a fight unless their lives are threatened, and they won't easily resort to violence if their are history. The Tomb Whisperer Lineage is long gone too. Do you think he'd still follow their rules?"

to explain

a member of the Tomb Whisperer eyes of the others, Anders was an outsider. No matter what he said, they would we should go to the tomb immediately!"

they enter the tomb of the King of Medicine before haven't already found the tomb and entered muscular, he had a calm turning to Professor Law and the Tomb Whisperer Lineage that had passed down thousands of years of knowledge. Their

"I think we should wait for the others to arrive first so that we can all go together... According to the Tomb Whisperer Lineage's record of the tomb of the King of Medicine, before Leopole died, corpses. Your hand cannons

you mean... we need to give up on Zain eyes and was lost in

The grandchildren's fates were uncertain.

Perhaps, as Daniel suggested, they had found the entrance to the tomb of the King of Medicine.

Every minute wasted meant an extra minute of danger for Zain and the others.

However, if they entered the tomb without the items purchased from Madam Lunaris, the entire team might be at risk with no chance of return.

"Old Herera... we should go to the tomb!"

"Yeah! Let's go. We can't wait any longer!"

"If you want to wait, then so be it, but I won't wait any longer! Everyone... grab that guy and follow me into the mountains!"

Several old men who had lost their grandchildren spoke one after another. They were unwilling to wait any longer.

Old Herera opened his eyes and said, "One person from each family will stay behind to watch the ceremony. The rest will go up the mountain with me and Professor Law..."

Professor Law sighed helplessly before packing up his things and leaving with them to the mountains.

The main peak of Seven Pinnacle Peaks was located southeast of the foot of the mountain.

Nico imitated what he had seen on TV and said, "In the search for dragons, one must look closely at the entangled mountains. Each layer of entanglement is a layer of challenge. If the gate is locked a thousand times over, surely kings and nobles reside within!"

His serious expression almost convinced Xeno and Finn.