

CEO Bride 417

Chapter 417

The corner of Nash's lips curved upward. "Ever heard of the art of lightness?"

He strode away after finishing his sentence.

Heidi was a naturally curious girl, and she turned to Melody, "Melody... Do you also practice the art of lightness?"

"Nash's true energy has formed an ever-flowing system within his body!

"Such martial artists can leap onto roofs and vault over walls easily. They usually also possess incredible speed because they utilize the energy within their bodies to reduce the weight of their bodies, which usually would bog them down!

"Forming a system as intricate as the one in Nash's body would require a solid source of true energy, as well as excellent control over the true energy!

"I can do it, but not for extended periods!"

Melody's lips quivered as she explained things to Heidi.

A look of admiration appeared on Heidi's face. "I want to learn martial arts too..."

Melody ruffled her hair. "I can teach you!"

Nash was already several hundred yards away from them.

The sludge underneath his feet had started bubbling.

left was flowing forward while the sludge on his

slowly moving

the other was

while the other moved in a

about eight miles in length but only solid 50 feet of sludge located were squirming around in the mud. Their mouths were filled with sharp-looking group and told her chest and asked, "So, can we use been built based on the sayings of the heavenly eight-angle trigram, and we're located in the southeast section of the divine trigram, which mentioned having a swamp within swamp

from two light ley lines and two dark ley

in the

exit and

explanation, but everyone merely stared at him with have to understand what Mr. Bradley is was a thorough understanding of the pre-heavenly trigram, the post-heavenly trigram, known as the post-heavenly eight-angle trigram.

was able to picture the general structure of the

The trigram's eight angles were where the eight passage graves leading to the tomb of the King of Medicine were located.

If a nine-box grid were placed on top of the structure, the main tomb would be in the middle of that grid.

Bradley also talked about the mudfish Nash had seen. "Those mudfish-lookalikes that have teeth in their mouths are called eel-tailed catfish. They're the descendants of catfish and eels, and their teeth contain a deadly poison.

"These creatures survive on sludge, and the sticky substance they secrete from their bodies helps the sludge maintain its stickiness... Most of the sludge near the top isn't too sticky because eel-tailed catfish prefer to settle about 20 feet below the surface.

"However, if you get too close to them, they'll attack you as a group. It only takes them about 30 seconds to swallow a whole cow!"

Everyone present drew their breaths involuntarily after hearing what Bradley said.

Nico asked, "Will our multi-poison powder still work?"

Bradley grinned. "The multi-poison powder isn't effective when used on humans, but it's deadly to eel-tailed catfish!"

Everyone heaved sighs of relief upon hearing that.

Bradley retrieved a plastic raincoat that could cover his entire body before proceeding to lead the way. As he walked, he scattered multi-poison powder into the sludge.

The sludge grew deeper and deeper. Soon, it came up to their chests.

Nash kept his Third Eye activated and he used it to keep an eye on what was going on inside the sludge.

The eel-tailed catfish had long since run off into the distance.

When they arrived at the area where the sludge began flowing freely, Nash said, “Mr. Bradley we can’t go any farther...”