

CEO Bride 424

Chapter 424

"I merely fed you tamarind wine!" Nash said to her.

However, he felt a bit guilty.

The person he had kicked earlier was Melody.

Then, when he reached out, he unintentionally touched the wrong spot.

Melody narrowed her eyes and asked, "Really?"

Smiling, Nash replied, "Would you believe me if I said it wasn't on purpose?"

Then, he quickly changed the subject. "In the dream, which group were you with? The ones in the tunnel or those with me?"

"I feel like I had two dreams. One with you and another in the golden tunnel!"

Melody did not dwell on Nash's actions but answered his question.

Nash then looked at the others, "Is it the same for you all?"

Everyone nodded in agreement.

Xeno said with a wry smile, "Did I... get myself killed in that dream?"

He, too, had experienced two dreams.

It was as if his thoughts split into two roles.

actually killed Derek in my dream. His arm is thicker than my thigh. How could I

The group

their dream scenarios as they continued

arrived at the entrance to the golden tunnel, but this time, they saw a passage

the wall.

about a meter, forcing them to crouch as they

for over a hundred passage, Nash was the passage opened up on a cliff wall.

countless undulating stone pillars. Each pillar had a character written diagram hung an enormous

examine the coffin but realized

coffin was absurdly

in length, two meters in width, and roughly three meters in height. Could such a massive coffin only contain one person, the King murmured, "These pillars must be large coffin, are all of rope, attached a grappling hook, and threw it.

the chain of

into the rock on the

for something

sentence, Finn's trembling voice came from behind.

similar to leeches, with a red line on their backs. They emitted a faint glow. Their sheer number crimson-lined leeches. They're extremely poisonous, almost like deathworms!"

Nash shook the rope, releasing the grappling hook. He said, "Let's get out of the passage first."

After saying this, he grabbed the rope and jumped down.

The rest of the group threw down their backpacks and followed him down the rope.

Bradley took out some explosives from his bag, set them at the entrance to the passage, fuse, and quickly slid down the rope.

The explosion severed the rope.

Bradley, who was halfway down, fell straight to the ground.

Finn managed to catch him, and the entrance to the passage was sealed off by rocks.

They found themselves standing on the edge of the cosmos diagram.

Everyone gazed at the undulating pillars, uncertain of their next move.

lit the

"This is the heart of a trap. All these moving pillars are control switches. Some traps here are already active... so be careful!"

Bradley warned, scanning the surroundings.

Everyone grew more vigilant upon hearing this.

"I'll go check inside the coffin... All of you be careful."

After saying these words, Nash leaped.

In the blink of an eye, he had already reached the top of the coffin.