

CEO Bride 431

Chapter 431

The Undead Corpse King was described in the manual to be impervious to all weapons, immune to water and fire, and capable of killing a large group of people with just a breath. Those who died at its hands would then be skinned and turned into new undead themselves.

corpses

Seemingly recalling something, Bradley's furrowed brows slowly relaxed as he chuckled. "Mr. Nash is a Golden Amulet Master; the Undead Corpse King may not be a match for him!" "Undead corpses are only called 'kings' if they've existed for over 300 years.

"The undead corpse in the King of Medicine's tomb was likely buried with Leopole. A top tier Celestial Master might not be able to deal with an Undead Corpse King of this level either." Anders's aged face had turned ashen.

At this moment, Derek approached with an unkind look on his face. "Old Man Anders, are you saying that we should leave the tomb right now?"

Anders looked up at Derek and replied coolly, "This Undead Corpse King is beyond your imagination. If we don't leave, we'll all die here!"

Derek laughed dismissively. "You plan on sneaking back in after we leave, aren't you? We went through so much trouble to get here and now you're trying to scare us away. Do you really think we're that gullible?"

eludes those who have no fear. Whatever more I say to you would help but feel a surge of anger now as a young man had just belittled him.

then get lost. Don't get themselves earlier and decided to drive Anders away to avoid the possibility that he might be a face turned red with pistol and said, "You'd this practically isolated space that was the King of Medicine's tomb, killing Anders would not pose any trouble.

doing?" Bradley hissed when he saw the situation getting out of control as he pushed Bradley aside and looked at Xeno, saying, Since all of you seem so impatient with me, you might as well face stiffened as he aimed his gun directly at in Jonesville. While some prominent “Xeno!” Just then, Nash and Melody were done jotting down a map of the King of Medicine’s tomb. They were now descending the rope.

“Mr. Nash, this old man wants us to leave the tomb. It’s likely he’s a spy!” Xeno replied while Derek and Nico nodded in agreement.

Finn and Ken, on the other hand, watched the situation with cold eyes.

“Enough. I saved him. You’re not thinking of killing him now, are you?” Nash pushed Xeno’s gun aside with his hand.

Anders said, “Mr. Nash, the Undead Corpse King is not something we can handle. Listen to my advice. Take them and leave this place quickly.”

Xeno could not stop himself from lifting up the gun again when he heard the old man trying to get them to leave.

However, it was at this moment that there was another explosion from the opposite wall.