

CEO Bride 450

Chapter 450

Finn shrugged. "You can decide for yourself, Ken. But either way, I'm too afraid of it to want it!"

Was there anyone who would want to keep a hand as a pet?

Could they even take it out with them?

It would also be creepy to just leave it at home alone!

"What should I do?"

Ken stared at the dismembered hand, his eyes narrowed.

A look that was equal parts shock and greed had appeared in Madam Lunar's eyes when she saw that hand.

If even Madam Lunar, a Mystique Loyalty Realm expert who spent most of her time holed away, wanted it, what reason did he have to turn it down?

"I can attach it to your hand... But it'll be pricey!"

Madam Lunar rinsed another wine glass and poured some wine into it.

Ken remained silent. He only had about a dozen dollars on him. How was he going to afford the surgical fees?

Finn asked, "How much?"

Madam Lunar looked up at him, brushing the white-colored hair that obscured her face as she said nonchalantly, "Three billion dollars!"

"Three billion?" Finn and Melody gasped.

"Ma'am... Have you received any formal education? Do you know just how much money three billion dollars is?" Finn could not stop himself from mocking Madam Lunar.

only cost around a million billion dollars for his

his entire life was worth three billion dollars.

"Three billion dollars is fine, but we'll have to see if your surgery is worth the price you've tacked upon it..."

Lunar was a Mystique Loyalty Realm of cultivation, she

for charging three billion least one billion dollars for every mission he carried to charge, and few clients his value, he had a steady stream of clients wanting let's forget it!"

his head lowered would pay three billion dollars to hand, why don't we sell it to her for three when she heard Finn's suggestion, "This hand is not valuable. I will only pay 300 million dollars 300 million dollars?

claimed it was shocked by what Madam Lunaris had than what met the eye, and she narrowed her head at that too. "My surgical skills aren't what brings value to this
That stumped everyone.

out
walked over to Nash and whispered something into his ear.

lips curled upward. "Melody...

Melody's eyes widened.

Why should she be the one paying?

Were they taking advantage of her?

If Nash were the only person in the room, she would have begun arguing with him.

However, since there were so many people in the room, she had to ensure she did not embarrass him.

She took her phone out and began making the payment.

Since three billion dollars was no small amount of money, it took her around half an hour before she completed the payment.

After Madam Lunaris received the money, she grinned as she picked up the dismembered hand and pulled Ken along with her into the room.

Dinner was served half an hour later.

It was a magnificent feast, with all sorts of meats present.

The gang gorged themselves on the food.

After they finished eating and drinking to their hearts' desire, Derek bounded out of the room. His arm and bottom did not hurt anymore.

When Derek saw the leftover food on the table, he grabbed himself a seat and began feasting as well.

"Why isn't Ken here yet? Did something go wrong with his surgery?"

Finn started worrying about Ken's safety.

Madam Lunar is was getting on in years, and there was no medical equipment here. It was difficult to tell if the surgery would be a success or not.

"You need to have faith in Madam Lunar is' skills... She used to be a professor at Capiton Hospital!"