Chapter 462

"Mad scientist?" Sherman rushed after Nash, fire extinguisher still in hand as he put out the fire on him. He was curious.

"Have you heard of him?"

"No."

"Then why are you asking?"

"Just curious. I see a madman can also become a scientist and come up with such insane chemicals."

Sherman rarely spoke, but today was an exception. Only someone like Nash, who was a top-tier expert, could stimulate his desire for communication-even if it was not related to martial arts. This was the kind of social circle he desired.

"The mad scientist, Leibell, is a double doctorate holder in physics and chemistry from the University of Cambridge. He gained the nickname 'mad scientist' because he often published illogical scholarly articles. The University of Cambridge even expelled him for it.

"After leaving Cambridge, Leibell established his own laboratory. It was originally called Leibell Laboratory, but because of his actions, it was derisively called the 'Mad Scientist's Laboratory'.

"I can't think of anyone else besides them!" Harrison lamented.

"Don't speculate without evidence. The inspectors from the Inspection Office will definitely find the culprits," Lauren said calmly.

"Dad, Mom, go back and rest. I'll take care of things here."

It was already quite late now, and Nash wanted the two adults to rest given they had been busy all day.

Harrison smiled bitterly. "The fire isn't even out yet. How can we sleep?"

Lauren looked around, and when she did not see Hera, she asked in surprise, "Where's Hera?"

Lauren and Harrison immediately started panicking. "What happened to her?"

"She must not have been resting properly the past few days. She probably felt dizzy and fainted after she got so anxious just now."
