

CEO Bride 471

Chapter 471

“N-No!”

“If you piss off Mr. Hamilt, getting fired will be the least of your concerns!”

The security manager’s stone-cold voice scared the security guard into a cold sweat.

The back seat of the company car had been modified with two rows of bench seats made out of leather.

They were very comfortable to sit on.

“Turn on the lights...”

Yadris took a pair of white gloves from his pocket, put them on, and ordered the driver to turn the lights on.

The driver immediately turned on the lights in the car from his seat.

The bright lights made everyone squint their eyes.

The gold and silver jewelry in the backpack sparkled under the light.

Yadris’ face was flushed, and his mouth was dry as he picked up an emerald bracelet and inspected it.

Emeralds like this were worth almost 30 million dollars.

It was a shame that it had tiny marks due to friction. After polishing, the price would likely drop by two million dollars.

inspected them before pulling out his phone that, he hung up.

laughed. “You’re just like your never doubted you. It’s just that this is my first time collecting the goods, so I wanted to do a steady wins the race. It’s a good

Perry, please don’t take offense!”

Bradley finished speaking, in the form of

Nash and the

and Hera getting out of “Boy, we’ll go have dinner

!

said that, a look of shock appeared on met again? Did they mean that they would not future?

Did he upset Mr. Perry goods earlier. Considering that our families have worked together for so many years, please overlook my mistake this slightly startled.

retire from this line of work. There's a high chance out a sigh of relief.

afraid that if he angered Bradley, he would be scolded by his you're retiring, the Hamilts will made any shipments in a decade. However, whenever he did,

The saying "If you don't open shop for three years, it'll thrive for three years the antique industry was once again proven true.

when you do" in Bradley slowly stood up. "Alright, I should get going to dinner. Say hello to Old Hamilt for me!

Yadris quickly stood up to see him off.

Nash and Hera had already walked to the hotel's entrance.

Hera wore a white dress, and her pretty face was lightly made with makeup. She looked as youthful and innocent as a college student.

Next to her, Nash wore a crisp suit. He had styled his hair with a 30:70 part as per Hera's request.

As they stood hand-in-hand, they looked like a match made in heaven that made everyone envious.

Nash took out his phone and was about to make a call.

It was a coincidence that Finn called him just when he was about to take Hera out for dinner..

Everyone had worked so hard on this trip, so it was only right to treat them to a nice dinner.

Hera pointed in the direction of the parking lot and said, "They're over there..."

Finn and Ken walked over first.

Before they could speak, Nash smiled and asked, "How's your hand?"