

CEO Bride 473

Chapter 473

"To celebrate the successful completion of our mission this time, I suggest we all have a drink!

It had been a long time since Xeno drank, so now, he was starting to crave it.

However, he was embarrassed to drink alone when there were so many people present.

Bradley chimed in, "Yes, yes, that's right... We should have a drink!"

After filling the glasses with wine, everyone stood up and clinked their glasses.

Bradley smiled and said, "Everyone has worked hard... Let's drink to it!"

"Cheers!"

Everyone clinked their glasses and downed the contents in one gulp.

Hera did not know what they were celebrating, so she just raised her glass to join in.

Derek and Nico were already feasting on the food without a care in the world.

Xeno and Finn were also drinking and chatting.

Bradley informed Nash that they had successfully sold the batch of goods for four billion dollars.

the remaining 20% will be evenly distributed among the rest of us," Bradley stew.

said, "You don't have to give me that much... Let's just split the four tomb of the King of

as his own as well as the other the medicinal materials, it would be rules are rules... The set in stone... As long as humans are alive, there will be someone setting the

had a good, but if they were to divide

it made of Bradley's worried expression and said with a smile, "How about this... You set up an archaeological fund with two billion dollars

soon as Nash said that, Derek and Nico immediately stopped good thing to divide the

the money they would get would be too little.. They prayed that Bradley would not Then I'll use your 80% to set up an archaeological foundation!" Bradley said cheerfully.

more than enough to enrich the progress of the entirety of Drakonia's archaeological team and provide scholarships for each receive 100 million dollars when they divided the remaining 800 million grandfather was going to spend 80% of the money to he remembered what Bradley had said before,

key

never be too

Even if he just had 100 million, it was enough to outshine all his classmates.

Derek was a little disappointed too, but he was even more excited.

'100 million dollars! I never have to work again in my life. Mr. Nash only invested five million in my sister's pharmaceutical company. 100 million is 20 times of five million! The hard days are finally over.'

Derek thought to himself as he sipped his stew with tears in his eyes.

Not only were they caught in a daydream, but Finn, Ken, and Heidi appeared to be lost in their thoughts as well.

It was no wonder that the tomb raider families had been around for thousands of years.

The line of work was extremely profitable.

It was essentially like getting rich overnight.

Nico asked in confusion, "Grandpa... are those items really worth four billion or did you just estimate it?"

His grandfather had packed and sold all the antiques from the tomb of the King of Medicine, but Nico still could not figure out the operation process.

Bradley took a sip of his wine and said with a smile, "I calculated the items in the car last night and estimated their prices. According to the industry prices, they're worth roughly four billion...

"The reason why the Hamilts could become a multi-billion-dollar family is thanks to the three shipments from our Tomb Whisperer Lineage. They can earn up to billions in net profit from each shipment!

"From the four billion dollars worth of goods, I reckon they can sell them for at least nine billion dollars!"