

CEO Bride 475

Chapter 475

The computer screen was projected onto a huge monitor behind him so that everyone could see it.

The tomb of the King of Medicine was a tomb from the Saer Dynasty. Their undercover researchers who were lurking in society managed to learn from information from the nine major raider families.

Everyone present looked worried as they were worried that the tomb of the King of Medicine had already been robbed by the nine major raider families.

The doorbell rang from outside the door.

The deputy dean raised his head and said, "Please come in!"

The conference room's door was pushed open.

A white-haired old man wearing a pair of reading glasses walked in.

Beside him was Tristan, the head of the Special Security Department.

"Mr. Campbell!"

"Professor Stone!"

Tristan finished saying what he had to say, he turned around and

Yoseph knew that he was not welcome, so he did not bother to stay for their meeting and chose to go home and rest.

The deputy dean dialed the dean's number to ask him to kick Yoseph out of the institute. "Hello!" An old and hoarse voice came from the other end of the phone.

"Dean... I suspect that the tomb of the King of Medicine has been robbed!"

"Do you have proof?"

"No... I don't!"

"Don't throw accusations around if you don't have proof!" The dean's tone was cold. "But..."

"That's enough... Someone from the Special Security Department has already contacted me. Just drop the matter!" The dean coldly interrupted the deputy dean and hung up immediately. The deputy dean was left puzzled as he listened to the busy tone coming from the phone.

Usually, the dean would carefully consider his opinions.

However, today, he was acting completely out of character. He did not even bother to chat with him.

If the conversation was about someone from the nine major raider families or the Tomb Whisperer Lineage, the dean would not be so nonchalant about it.

The deputy dean wondered who had enough power to persuade the head of the Special Security Department.
