

CEO Bride 492

Chapter 492

Finn and Derek followed Yasmin's finger to the figure lying in a pool of blood. They both wore expressions of disbelief as if they had not noticed the person on the ground before. Canary, covered in blood, lay motionless on the ground like a lifeless corpse.

"My goodness. Are you really still my gentle and fragile sister?" Derek was wide-eyed and tongue-tied. His sister was usually timid and would get scared even at minor troubles. Yet today, she had beaten up someone so badly. How did she manage to do that to a fully-abled man?

Finn's throat moved as he gulped. Was... Was Yasmin really that fierce?

He had been thinking of marrying her, but would he just get beaten up every day if he were to bring her home?

Nash noticed that Canary was still alive and decided not to deal with him. Instead, he dragged David out from behind the sofa. Curled up on the ground, David gritted his teeth and said, "If you have the guts, just kill me."

Nash stepped on David's hand, and the forceful stomp crushed one of his fingers into a bloody mess.

"Argh!"

The veins in David's forehead bulged from the pain, and his eyeballs felt like they were going to explode. Ken muttered, "Your methods are much more ruthless than mine, huh?"

could not bear to watch and turned their heads to the side. Calm and composed, Nash need for that."

it. If you have the guts, then kill me. If you don't dare to kill me, it means you're a coward.

pressed his foot down once entire thumb turned into a pulpy mess while the stark white bones showed through.

from the

his gums started to bleed. The three grandmasters standing nearby were completely stunned, especially with Nash having an

in a pool of blood, Canary opened

he immediately wet

Xeno entered with a smirk. He was

“I wondered who it was, and it turns o Lucky from the Black Cat family!”

he saw David’s crushed fingers, even the usually thought he might, at

However, what Nash was doing seemed more like torture.

Nash, that’s David, the second-in-command of the Black

he walked over

down at the miserable looking man and said, “Your should’ve Nash, trembling as he parted his lips. “Y-You... You’re in the face, adding, “You name on its own?”

David’s teeth flying.

“was just saying...” David then stammered, “I’m here to collect management fees from the landlord. Since the landlord wasn’t here, I had to take control of the company owners!”

David was fearless of many things, but he was terrified of Nash, who could make even the leader of a powerful organization quiver at the mere mention of his name.

“Management fees?” Nash furrowed his brows slightly.

Xeno explained, “It’s like... protection money. Currently, the Black Tiger Hall is the only one collecting management fees in Jonfor Derek sneered and said, “Your people not only failed to protect you also often harass and intimidate the girls in the industrial a Why should you have the right to collect management fees?”

He used to act subservient to these people, but with Nash here, he was ready to assert himself.

“Mr. Nash, we didn’t know this place was your territory.” David was now trembling with fear, his courage shattered by the mere mention of Nash's name.