

CEO Bride 495

Chapter 495

As grandmasters reached the higher stages, even small advancements meant significant differences in their abilities. Although Nash's current level was boosted by pills, he had no problems dealing with martial artists below the Profound Reality

Realm.

Nash thought for a moment and said, "If the Black Tiger Hall had a stage nine grandmaster, they would've already dominated the situation."

Finn chuckled and reassured them, "Alright, go and have your meal.

We'll handle things here."

Yasmin and her group had no idea about what would happen next, but they were certain it was not some small issue. Otherwise, Nash would not be leaving Finn and Ken, who were powerful individuals behind.

"Be careful, Finn," she said softly. Her soft voice was like a caress on Finn's heart. He nodded, smiling warmly. "Don't worry, Yasmin. I'll be just fine."

group outside. Derek gave Canary a final kick to passed by him after having tried which was now injured for he could get even had the woman called was really Nash! An when Nash did not call out to them. After all, they were top celebrities in Jonford's door, he suddenly thought of Queenie and Sydney. He stopped and turned around the door trembled when they heard Nash's said arrogantly, "What, did you just think smiled and replied, "I just remembered you invite the shareholders

“I happen to be hungry, so let’s go other hand, replied that she would not join with expression.

to have dinner together because they were. shareholders and not at all because of since he looked down on families?

disapprovingly before turning around did not have many the Zell or the Watson families. If the two ladies had not bought shares in the pharmaceutical company, he would not have bothered Sydney’s temper would not be of any benefit here.

“Nash, is this really appropriate?” Yasmin asked cautiously. After all, these two were the daughters of the Zell and Watson families respectively. Sydney was not only a shareholder; she was also the landlord of Long Lake Industrial Zone.

It might be difficult to get along with them in the future if their relationship soured.

“You can’t indulge in their spoiled behavior,” Melody responded nonchalantly.

Yasmin cast a timid glance at Melody. The woman was worth billions. of dollars, an amount that could rival the five major business giants. There was no need for her to fear either Sydney or Queenie.

However, Yasmin was different. Just last month, she was an ordinary employee of a textile factory in this specific industrial zone. Sydney. and Queenie were existences that seemed unattainable to her. Now that they were working together with them, she had many concerns.

Just then, Melody noticed the security guard at the gate rushing over to them in a panic. She smiled faintly and said, “I think we should just change our appointment to dinner later.”