

CEO Bride 53

Chapter 53

As everyone was discussing among themselves, the sound of Walter and Brian talking and laughing outside drifted past the door.

Everyone immediately shut their mouths..

“Dr. Tanner, Dr. Calcraft, this way, please.”

Walter invited the two men into the house politely.

He then introduced them to his family members. “This is Dr. Tanner. All of you probably already know him. Next to him is Dr. Calcraft. He’s also Dr. Tanner’s...”

Walter looked at Brian as he reached this part of the introduction.

Seeing Brian nod, he continued, “He’s Dr. Tanner’s grandmaster. He’s a brilliant doctor with incredible medical skills. He’ll definitely cure the madam!”

“Good day to you both, Dr. Tanner and Dr. Calcraft!”

All the members of the Watson family greeted the two figures. Only Kai and Queenie remained standing motionlessly.

Queenie had brushed her teeth three times, and she breathed into her hands to check if there was still a peculiar smell.

Brian quickly put his hand on his heart and replied, “You don’t have to be so courteous.”

These people were all part of the Watson family, and every one of them owned huge businesses. If he were to pick anyone at random, they would all be worth millions of dollars. He dared not be careless in front of these people.

other hand, was not courteous. He put his hands into his trouser pockets, looking completely at ease.

Calcraft, please follow me

Brian

immediately stepped forward to press

on the

had to put on sterilized protective clothing before they entered the room. They noticed an ultraviolet sterilizing air shower room after opening the door to the shower room.

was more than 100 square meters and was snow-white.

two-meter-wide sick bed was a skinny old woman with sunken eye sockets. She looked like a vital functions beside the sick bed. The data shown on

He immediately grabbed the old lady's wrist and began to feel her pulse.

not at all like how

at the nurses.

were feeling for a pulse. Why would said, "Why are you standing around? Quickly get the nurses reacted and immediately took out a scalpel slashed the old lady's wrist.

are you

Watson family members changed drastically, with in the end, he raised his hand to stop everyone. "Everyone, back down."

wife had been lying here for three years.

treat her

Brian also looked extremely nervous.

He could not understand what his grandmaster was doing.

A nurse had already brought a tray over and placed it on the bed.

After Nash made a cut on the old lady's hand, he used the scalpel and stirred the wound for a while.

Blood splattered, and pieces of flesh fell into the tray.

Everyone wore tight frowns on their faces.

A few of the gorgeously dressed women did not dare continue watching and turned away from the scene.

Walter's face turned pale, and his mouth trembled constantly.

The nurse very quickly pointed at the wound and exclaimed, "Oh my god, there are bugs in the flesh..."

Hearing this, Walter hurried over and saw bugs the size of rice grains wriggling in the flesh.

"Dr. Tanner, do you know what these bugs are?" Walter asked, his voice trembling.

Brian squinted his eyes and said, "They look like some sort of parasitic bugs... but... I'm not sure. I have to ask my grandmaster about it."

Hope rose in Walter's eyes. "As expected of your grandmaster. He actually found the cause of the disease so quickly. I hope my wife can wake up safely."

