

CEO Bride 536

Chapter 536

The man who had been speaking to Melody immediately clapped a hand against her mouth.

True energy trickled through Melody's body.

However, she did not strike.

She would end up exposing herself if she made a move.

Thankfully, the security guards stationed outside heard what was going on and rushed in with batons in hand.

"Damn it!"

"No. 3... Move!"

The man shoved Melody aside and scampered off, leaving his companions behind.

Another man pulled the refrigerator door open, and he shuddered when he saw what Kai's face looked like.

One of the guards tased him.

The man the others addressed as No. 3 fell to the ground and spasmed.

“Fucking hell... How dare you break into a mortuary? Aren’t you afraid. you’ll get possessed or something?”

The bodyguards dragged the man out of the room.

Just then...

The power went out.

The emergency lights affixed to the walls turned on.

Melody glanced at the surveillance cameras and realized the infrared lights on those had gone out as well.

This was a wonderful opportunity!

She slammed a hand against the table and propelled herself off it.

Then, she immediately transported herself over to the cabinet.

After extracting Kai’s corpse from it, she slung him over her shoulder before escaping through the predetermined route the hospital director had prepared for her.

In a van parked outside the hospital's back entrance, a petite man got into the vehicle once more after he had finished using the bathroom.

The minute he sat down, he realized the screen was flickering.

There one in the morgue!

was no

What a wonderful opportunity!

He immediately grabbed his earpiece and said, "No. 3, there's no one in the morgue now. Quick, go get the corpse!"

No one answered him.

"No. 3?"

He still did not get any answer.

The petite man mumbled disgruntledly, "Where on earth is that bastard? Has he gotten seduced by that nurse?"

Soon, the screen showed a nurse walking into the room and sitting down on a chair.

She was also accompanied by several security guards!

Meanwhile...

Melody jumped over the back entrance fence.

When she saw the van parked nearby, she immediately ducked behind the shrubbery and slowly crawled away while making sure she was staying close to the walls.

Then, she removed the nurse's uniform she had been wearing and took Kai out of the body bag.

She disappeared into the night with Kai on her back.

The petite man got bored waiting in the van and began watching porn.

The other two men sitting in the front of the vehicle were subjected to indescribable sounds as well.

"Holy fuck... Are you that horny?"

"Well, our boss is having the time of his life right now at the Garden of Heavenly Delights. Can't we at least have a visual feast?"

The petite man sniggered.

"You should keep your eye on the morgue. No. 3 and the others haven't even gotten their hands on the corpse yet. We'll be done for if anything happens!"

"You're right!"

The petite man sighed and switched back to the original feed.

Then, No. 3's voice rang out through their earpieces. "Fucking assholes, they electrocuted me!"

The petite man asked, "What's going on? Did you guys make it into the morgue?"

"Yes, we did. Didn't you see anything? The security guards electrocuted us!"

"No wonder these guards are in the morgue. Looks like we'll have to proceed with plan B instead and wait until Kai is sent to the crematorium!"

The petite man shook his head in disappointment.

He had thought they could steal the corpse and destroy it without much trouble.

Now, it looked like they would have to wait for another evening.

Sometime later, Duncan called them.

"Boss..."

"Anything out of the ordinary going on at the hospital?"

"Everything's good... I'm keeping an eye on things!"

“Alright... Thanks for what you’re doing. You’ll receive 500,000 dollars once Kai is cremated tomorrow... Ah...”

Duncan’s voice sounded odd.

He sounded like he was both in pain and in pleasure.

The petite man grinned. “Thank you, Boss. Enjoy yourself!”

At the Garden of Heavenly Delights, Duncan was seated in a recliner.

A beautiful woman knelt before him.