

CEO Bride 553

Chapter 553

‘Affall from such a height would be so gruesome!!”

Clamor continued to echo outside when a convoyyoo fluxury cars slowly drove in from outside the building.

Water and Queenie stepped out of a Rolls-Royce stimolitaneously and glanced upward.

There was concern on Queenie’s weary face as sheenmuttered, WWhy would Helena be so foolish?”

Watson fumowed this brows tightly. He had not expected Nesbh to keep even Helena in the dark.

Just then, Hers and Melody’s cars were parked by the roadside.

Both of them got out and headed straight for the World TraddeToower

Hera dialed Helena’s number only to find her phone switched off.f.

“Janson, will you be able to catch her if she jumps?” Walter aske man standing beside him nervously

Helena was Kai's girlfriend, and she was a woman willing to risk her life to save him. She was absolutely qualified to marry into their family. He did not want to see Kai waking up separated from Helena.

Janson shook his head. If he were in his prime, he could, but he's dealing with internal injuries now.

Walter smiled bitterly. "I'm sorry, it's my fault."

Some time ago, he spent three billion purchasing a batch of medicinal pills from a dubious market to help Janson and George with their cultivation. For some unknown reason, George took them without any issues while Janson almost lost his life.

Janson quickly responded, "It isn't your fault. It's a problem with the cultivation technique I practice!"

Hera had approached Jupiter and Angelica. "Captain Holt, you have to save Helena," she pleaded through choked sobs.

She had just reconciled with Helena and did not want to lose another one of her remaining family members.

“Ms. Lewis, don’t worry. Our expert psychologist is already up there,”

Jupiter assured her solemnly.

Melody’s inner energy was poised and ready. “You should just get them to act and save her immediately!”

Jupiter was astonished. “We’re afraid she might jump before we even get there!”

It was a huge concern whether or not the air cushions could b

Helena’s fall from over 30 floors high.

Melody brimmed with confidence as she replied, “It’s okay. I can catch her!”

It finally occurred to Jupiter that Melody was a martial artist. After a moment of hesitation, he said, “For safety reasons, let’s attempt to save her by talking to her first. Even if we save her this time, who knows if she might attempt again later?”

“That makes sense.”.

Melody casually nodded and then gazed toward a certain direction at the back with a frown on her face.

A dozen bodyguards had surrounded Duncan and an elderly man in a white suit with white hair.

“It seems that my concern was unnecessary. The ashes Walter brought back from the crematorium today were undoubtedly Kai’s,” Duncan said with his hands in his pockets. His expression was a mix of bewilderment and wry amusement.

Even though he had confirmed Kai’s death the day before, he had still put the Watson family and the hospital under various surveillance.

That morning, Walter’s people had taken Kai’s body from the hospital to the crematorium. All the Watsons had been in tears.

Now, Kai’s girlfriend was about to jump. Was she trying to join Kai in the afterlife?

Boris smiled faintly. “Cautiousness endures a generation. That’s what I value in you.”

Duncan was a very clever person. He had gathered information about Boris’ past before coming up to Black Mountain to look for him. He knew Boris had no children and immediately recognized him as his godfather.

He even asked Boris to come down to the secular world to lead a prosperous life...

After spending years in seclusion at Black Tiger Mountain without any advancement in his cultivation, Boris figured it might be good for him to head down. Thus, he followed Duncan to Jonford.