

CEO Bride 562

Chapter 562

“Skadi, what’s wrong? Skadi?”

Skadi had ended the call.

Concern flashed through Hera’s beautiful eyes. From the screeching brakes earlier, it sounded like Skadi might have gotten into a traffic accident. She did not know how serious it was or whether Skadi was injured.

“What happened to Skadi?” Helena asked.

“There might be a small issue. I’ll call her later to check. Let’s go back now. I still need to make some medicine for you,” Hera said with a faint smile.

Skadi was a martial artist and had five years of driving experience.

She managed to hit the brakes in time and had even cursed at someone. It probably was nothing serious.

In the basement, Nash raised his hand and conjured two illusory seals before sticking them to the Divine Farmer's Cauldron.

The green pill flame gradually extinguished, and the palpable tension faded away.

He then moved beside the cauldron and looked inside to see two dark blue pills still rotating rapidly in a circle inside.

Nash pressed one hand against the outside of the cauldron and slowed the array's rotating effect. He then reached in and collected. the two pills.

After a day and a night, he had finally refined the Five Organs. Rejuvenation Pills.

He walked over to Finn, pinched his jaw open, and stuffed the pills. into his mouth. After that, he used his true energy to guide the pills. down his throat and into his stomach.

Activating his Third Eye, Nash could see the pills getting instantly dissolved by the gastric acid. They released a white misty energy that flowed through Finn's bloodstream and into every part of his body.

When the toxins in Finn's blood came in contact with the misty energy, they broke down and gradually disappeared.

The misty energy turned from white to black and was then expelled through the sweat glands. Black liquid began to seep out from Finn's skin.

Seeing the Five Organs Rejuvenation Pills taking effect, Nash breathed a sigh of relief. Finn was now out of danger, and it was only a matter of time before he woke up.

Next up, he needed to refine a third-grade pill-the Tiger Soul Grand Rejuvenation Pill.

The effects of this pill were bone regeneration, muscle reconstruction, and the strengthening of one's foundation. It was the most suitable for Kai, who was currently suffering from serious internal injuries.

After a day and night's worth of continuous high-intensity mental exertion, Nash felt mentally and physically drained despite being an expert in the Mystique Loyalty Realm.

He walked over to the table, sat down, and devoured the meal that Hera had brought. Although the food was now cold, Nash still enjoyed it.

Once he was full, he went to the stove and brewed a bowl of herbal medicine for Kai. While he could eat when he was hungry, Kai, who had been half-dead for a day and night, could not. He needed.

nourishment.

In this bowl of herbal medicine, Nash had added a hundred-year-old wild mountain root. It would replenish Kai's vitality and provide his body with the necessary nutrients.

Next, Nash started preparing the herbs needed to refine more pills.

Skadi entered the villa living room angrily while carrying some local specialties from Xanthalos in her hand.

Hera, who had just finished brewing the herbal medicine, exited the kitchen and greeted her. "Skadi, you arrived so quickly?"

Hera was somewhat surprised. Did Skadi not get into a traffic accident on the way just now? How did she manage to handle it so quickly?

"I was already in Royal Bay when I called you!" Skadi replied.
