

CEO is Chasing Ex Wife Back - Chapter 201

Chapter 201 Not Worth It

Aurora was in a dilemma as the reporters pestered her with questions. She did not know what to say.

“I...”

At that moment, Terry stepped forward. His handsome face showed a rare calm look. He directly took the microphone. “Aurora is not from our team. I’m the one that you should interview today.” The reporters came to their senses after his reminder.

Then someone asked, “What is the relationship between you two now? You once proposed to Aurora on the podium. She seemed to have rejected you.” Connor’s face darkened as he secretly remembered the reporter’s appearance. Terry frowned slightly.

Abel and the others frowned. If Terry lost his temper and got into a conflict with these reporters, there would be a lot of trouble.

They didn’t have time to step forward to stop him.

Aurora secretly pulled Terry. She wanted to tell him that no matter what these reporters asked, he could ignore them.

Unexpectedly, Terry directly said, “She refused me last time, but I still refused to give up and kept pestering her.”

This time, all the reporters’ curiosity was ignited.

In other words, you are currently pursuing Aurora unilaterally?”

“Yes.”

“So you quit racing and turned to business because of her?”

“Yes.”

Aurora looked at the side of his face, and the voice in her ear gradually became unreal.

“I don’t have anything impressive. It’s not strange for her not to choose me. After she rejected me last time, I thought about it for a long time. I think I shall make myself better to protect her well.”

This declaration was not as exciting as what he said on the podium previously, but it had a soul-stirring power.

He was like an angel when he said that.

Aurora’s frozen heart felt a warmth that she had never felt before.

She felt that Terry had indeed become different from before.

“If Aurora agrees to date you, will you get married?”

The Walton family was one of the local wealthy merchants. The reporters wondered whether the Walton family would care about Aurora’s past and the fact that she had been married before.

Everyone present could understand the meaning behind the question.

A cold glint flashed across Terry's face as he said, "Of course."

Just as the reporter asked the next question, he pushed all the microphones away. "I have answered your questions.

Please leave now."

"But..."

"Connor

With a look from Terry, Connor, who had long been unable to hold back, immediately rushed over with the people from the race team.

He stopped all the reporters who wanted to move forward.

"Alright, alright. The interview is over. We're asking you to leave!"

Everyone worked together and finally drove the reporters out.

In the room, Aurora and Terry stood face to face.

"Is your father alright?" Aurora was the first to ask.

“He’s alright. It’s my fault. I challenged him and he was angry.” Terry frowned. He wasn’t as nonchalant as before. Terry added, “Don’t think too much about it. It has nothing to do with you”

Aurora’s expression was indifferent as she nodded.

Just as she was about to speak, Terry found his courage and grabbed her wrist, nervousness and hesitation crossing his face.

However, he knew that if he did not seize every opportunity, he would probably regret it for the rest of his life.

Even if Aurora would push him away again, he wanted to give it a try with all his might.

The warmth on his palm was transmitted to Aurora. Then, he took a deep breath. “I know that it is not easy for the Bennet Group to make a comeback. You need a lot of connections and money. I was useless and couldn’t help you before.

“So, I have recently taken over my family’s business. It won’t be long before I can become your most trusted partner.”

Terry...”

A smile appeared on his handsome face. “Don’t feel guilty. I’m willing to be used by you at any time.

His words were sweet but never fulsome.

In fact, the moment he said that, he was ready to be scolded by Aurora, who would leave after that. Unexpectedly, Aurora said, “Why hasn’t Abel come back yet?

It’s time to hold the retirement ceremony.”

As she spoke, her wrist left his palm, and she walked towards the door.

Terry turned his head and slowly came back to his senses. He was surprised that Aurora didn’t blame him.

That meant she might be moved by his words.

The smile on Terry’s lips grew deeper and deeper. For the entire night, he was on cloud nine. The happiness was too much that he felt it was a dream.

At the meal, he drank much.

“Excuse me, I’m gonna send Mr. Walton back,” Connor said as he helped Terry, who had drunk too much, into the car with great effort.

The car door closed. Terry opened the window directly and stretched out his body and hand. "See you tomorrow, Aurora!"

"See you, Connor," Aurora replied casually.

The car drove out of sight.

Abel and his companions also left one after another. Aurora declined their idea of sending her off. She walked alone on the street.

The wind reminded her of many things in the past, some pain buried deep in her memory surging. But she would no longer cry from the pain.

Tears were the most useless thing. She had no time to use that negative emotion to numb her nerves. She asked herself to be rational.

She looked up at the red light flashing across the street and took a deep breath. She thought to herself, do you still deserve to have love? He is passionate. Don't you know what kind of expectation he has for you? How can you bear to use him? She lowered her head and smiled bitterly.

She thought she was not worth Terry treating her so well. She slowly crouched down and buried her head between her arms. At that time, a black car passed her. A wave of fallen leaves flew in the air. The man in the back seat had a sullen look on his face. He placed his hand on the car door. He came out of the hospital and went to the nearby bank to handle some business. Then he happened to see Aurora having dinner with the people on the race team.

Aurora had just gotten along with them well. She laughed happily and drank a lot at that time. There was a hint of anger in the depths of his cold eyes.

“What’s the debt collection company doing? Has it quit its job?” Carter, who was in the passenger seat, immediately called Earl. Zac thought to himself, I showed her mercy again and again. That’s why she felt like she had returned to the days when she had been doted on by everyone?

Carter put down the phone. “Don’t worry, Mr. Buchanna. The debt collection company will work harder. Are you going to the hospital now?” Zac slowly closed his eyes. Carter got him and instructed the driver, “Go to the hospital.”

CEO is Chasing Ex Wife Back - Chapter 202

Chapter 202 Wenny’s Act

The next morning, the news revealed that Zac had hidden a woman at home. Wenny came late at night and witnessed some dirty scenes with her own eyes. She was even pushed to the ground by a home wrecker’ and almost suffered a miscarriage. The reporters swarmed over and were blocked by Zac’s bodyguards without exception. Even with the influence and status of the Buchanna Group, they had no intention of leaving.

“What do you guys think? That home wrecker is...”

“It must be his ex-wife!”

The reporters were in groups of three to five, squatting in the hospital corridor.

Just as they were gossiping, they saw a slender figure walking over.

The few of them were stunned. Only after a long while did they come back to their senses and take out their cameras to take a photo. The one who came was none other than Aurora, who had caused Wenny to almost have a miscarriage!

“Ms. Bennet? What’s the matter?” Carter, who was waiting outside the ward, walked over quickly.

Aurora raised her eyes slightly and held the flower basket in her hand. “I came to visit her.”

If she had not seen the message sent by the debt collection company early in the morning, she would not have come here.

She thought they were simply going too far.

They ruined her reputation. Now they were forcing her to fall into desperation.

Aurora wouldn’t like to give in. She would get it straight face to face.

“Mr. Buchanna is not here right now. You’d better not go in.” Carter hesitated before stopping her. Zac ordered them to stop the paparazzi reporters. Aurora was not among them.

However, Carter still felt that he had to stop her.

He had to do so to avoid trouble.

If Zac blames you for this, you can pass the buck on me. Now I have to go in!”

Aurora thought to herself, Wenny uses her child to smear me with a show.

Today, I’m gonna teach her a lesson.

“Ms. Bennet, don’t put us in a difficult position.” Carter still took a step forward and reached out to block Aurora.

“Zac, you came just in time.”

Aurora looked behind Carter with surprise in her eyes.

“Mr. Buchanna?” Carter frowned. Just as he turned around, Aurora had already walked into the ward.

Wenny was a pregnant woman. Carter and his companions could just stand guard at the door.

When they saw Aurora enter, they all looked at each other, not daring to enter.

“Inform Mr. Buchanna right away”

“Yes, Carter!”

Wenny was leaning against the bed playing with her phone. When she heard the sound of the door opening, she thought that it was Zac.

She hurriedly pressed her phone under her pillow in a panic.

“Don’t pretend.” Aurora casually threw the flower basket on the ground, her beautiful eyes staring at Wenny’s face.

“Why are you here?”

Wenny gritted her teeth and looked nervously at the door. "That trash can't even guard me well."

Wenny was afraid that Aurora would seek revenge on her, so she asked Ella to release the news early in the morning.

Wenny planned to use public pressure to force Aurora to admit defeat.

Unexpectedly, Aurora dared to come to the hospital.

"You almost had a miscarriage because of me. Of course, I should come to visit you." Aurora smiled and walked forward step by step.

"Don't come over!"

Wenny retreated in a panic, her beautiful eyes widened.

Aurora blinked her eyes. Why are you acting like a parrot that only knows a few words? Oh, I see. Are you worried that I will record it?

Wenny's idea was exposed, and her eyes became even more flustered.

"I didn't come with a recording pen because I don't need it to deal with you." Aurora looked around, pulled out a chair, and sat down next to the bed.

"What the hell are you going to do!"

Wenny screamed. "Is there anyone outside? Come take this crazy woman away!"

Aurora thought Wenny was not only stupid but also timid.

Aurora clicked her tongue and looked Wenny's face over. Then, her gaze slowly moved down and landed on Wenny's lower abdomen.

"Don't look at my child..."

At that time, Wenny realized that something was wrong.

"You have always used this child as a bargaining chip. Do you deserve to be his mother? No, you don't." Aurora raised her lips and revealed an exceptionally enchanting and gorgeous smile, but her eyes contained a sharp hatred that was like a sword. When you fell in the Buchanna's house, did you ever think that you might really kill it?

Wenny was annoyed.

She was about to retort.

Aurora suddenly got up and pressed Wenny's shoulders with both hands. Aurora pinched them hard and her nails dug into Wenny's hospital gown. Not everyone is fit to have children. For example, a vicious woman like you."

"Let go of me! You had a miscarriage and couldn't have a child. What does it have to do with me?" Wenny couldn't help but shout at the top of her lungs.

There was the sound of a slap.

Aurora slapped Wenny in the face.

A crisp sound echoed in the ward. Wenny was slapped so hard that her mind was muddled. She subconsciously wanted to go to the other side of the bed.

Wenny wanted to hide on the balcony!

Wenny thought Aurora was insane and she might do something horrible.

Wenny went to the balcony and Aurora didn't catch up. Wenny thought she was fast enough. However, Aurora locked the balcony door the moment Wenny entered the balcony.

Then, in front of Wenny, Aurora threw the key into the toilet and washed it away.

Outside, the cold wind whistled. Wenny was wearing a single garment, and she was constantly trembling from the wind.

She was angry, but she could only stare at Aurora's face.

Aurora looked back in the direction of the hospital bed and took out the phone that Wenny had hidden under the pillow. A little time passed. The phone screen had not been locked. There was no need for a fingerprint password.

The moment the phone was checked by Aurora, Wenny broke down.

“Stop! That is my privacy. You can’t watch it.”

On the phone, there was a call record between her and Saul. Besides, there were many other things...

Zac never paid attention to her phone, so Wenny rarely thought of deleting them.

Wenny didn’t expect that her phone would be in Aurora’s hands one day.

Wenny’s hand clung to the glass door of the balcony. Wenny icily stared at Aurora’s beautiful face which made people jealous.

“What on your phone is really interesting.” Aurora raised her hand and shook it. “Give it back to you?” Wenny’s eyes lit up. “Then let you in?” Wenny trembled, and she nodded.

The smile on Aurora’s face deepened. Aurora slowly said, “You wish.” Another gust of cold wind blew, and Wenny shivered from the cold. She watched Aurora take her phone and walk out.

“No...” Wenny was extremely afraid.

What if Aurora showed her phone to Zac? What if her phone was taken by the paparazzi... Just as Wenny was lost in thought, someone suddenly shouted from downstairs, “Hey, why do you stand on the balcony? It’s dangerous.”

Wenny came up with an idea. Wenny screamed, “I want to jump off. I don’t want to live!” Wenny wanted to make the matter well-known and pass the buck to Aurora.

Even if Aurora really revealed the contents of her phone, she could say they were forged by Aurora! Wenny made up her mind, both hands gripping the balcony railing.

Against the cold wind, her hair was messed up to the point where her face could not be seen clearly. A lot of people soon gathered downstairs. "Calm down!"

"Inform doctors right away."

"It seems to be the maternity ward. Why does she want to commit suicide? Is she suffering from depression after childbirth?" At the door of the ward, after Aurora left,

Carter and his companions quickly opened the door. They saw Wenny was trapped on the balcony. It looked like she wanted to kill herself by jumping off the building. "Miss Swon, Mr. Buchanna will be here soon!"

CEO is Chasing Ex Wife Back - Chapter 203

Chapter 203 Calm Down

Take it easy. All Carter could do was ask his subordinates to find a way to open the balcony door. If Wenny fell by accident, it would be catastrophic. But at this time, Wenny was reminded of words downstairs.

She covered her head and kept shouting, "I don't want to live. My baby hasn't seen this world yet, but he has to suffer so much. Why should I let him come to this world? As a mother, I am not qualified. I should just jump down and die!" Wenny was putting on a heart-wrenching show. Suddenly, she saw a figure behind Carter. It was not Zac, but Aurora, who had returned!

Wenny's heart skipped a beat. But at this stage, Zac had yet to come.

She couldn't stop. Otherwise, she would be a joke. Moreover, she couldn't get in right now and could only stay on the balcony in the cold wind.

Aurora glanced at Wenny. A faint cold smile crossed her lips. She deliberately lowered her voice and whispered something besides Carter.

Wenny slapped the balcony door fiercely.

Don't listen to her nonsense. She is trying to hurt me. She's jealous that I can get married to Zac."

"Miss Swon, calm down." Carter frowned and reminded her.

At this time, Wenny couldn't listen to anything. She just kept shouting, like a madman who had depression.

The smile on Aurora's lips deepened.

Then, the people in the hospital were informed.

Wenny was Zac's girlfriend. If something bad happened to her in the hospital, the hospital would pay a high price.

"Break the door right now." As soon as Lewis gave the order, the staff in the hospital came to the balcony.

"The balcony is not large enough. If we force the door open, Miss Swon will be hurt. I've already called the police to deal with it," said Carter.

"But we can't just stand by. Where's the spare key? Go to the security office and find it immediately!" Lewis asked, cold sweat on his forehead.

"Mr. Buchanna is on his way. The most important thing now is to ease Miss Swon. Don't give her any pressure."

Carter glanced at Aurora hesitantly.

Aurora smiled and said, "I can leave. Ask her if she wants me to leave."

On the balcony, Wenny's hand was clasped in her palm. Wenny shook her head slowly, but very quickly, she gritted her teeth and shouted, "Don't let her go!"

Aurora looked as if she had already expected this

This made Carter more.
suspicious.

He took a look at the bodyguard behind him and said, "Go on working on a way to open the door."
"Yes."

Wenny had been in the cold wind outside for more than ten minutes.

For any person wearing such thin clothes, it would be hard to endure the cold at this time. Moreover, Wenny was a pregnant woman.

Aurora sat on the sofa leisurely. No one dared to drive her away,

Wenny's eyes were fixed on Aurora's face, refusing to shift away.

Wenny's eyes were filled with hatred, but it also seemed like fear.

Carter was puzzled by the subtle air between the two of them.

But at the very least, Wenny stopped claiming that she was going to jump off the building now. The hospital cooperated with the police and set up a gas

bed downstairs. The emergency room was ready to be on standby.

At this height, it would be fine if a normal person fell.

But Wenny was pregnant!

The child was Zac's. Under Lewis's leadership, several leaders of the hospital were busy, trembling with fear as they waited for news, fearing that Wenny would have a mishap.

At that moment, the deputy dean rushed over in a hurry. "Mr. Arnold, there is something..."

The words got Lewis's eyes widened. "Hurry up. Get ready immediately!"

Just as everyone was sweating, Wenny was freezing. All the time, Aurora had not even touched Wenny.

Carter was more surprised after checking the surveillance video.

He didn't know what Wenny was afraid

Ten minutes later.

Zac walked in with a cold expression. He first looked around the ward and saw

Wenny on the balcony, whose lips had turned blue from the cold. There was also Carter, who was waiting at the side, waiting for orders.

The next one he saw was Aurora, who was sitting on the sofa and watching the show.

"Zac..."

With tears in her eyes, Wenny leaned against the door. "Help me.

Aurora suddenly raised her eyebrows.

"Miss Swon, you wanted to kill yourself just now. Now you see Mr. Buchanna and change your mind? Can such a cold face awaken your desire to live?"

Wenny bit her lip, not daring to argue with Aurora.

Zac knew there must be something between Wenny and Aurora that he didn't know.

The staff of the hospital sent the spare key over. "Mr. Buchanna, we're very sorry. It was our mistake. We will save Miss Swon now."

There was a sound of poof.

Aurora could not hold back her laughter.

1702

Everyone looked over in surprise, including Zac.

Aurora covered her face and waved her hand. "It's nothing. Leave me be. I just suddenly thought of something very funny."

Others didn't pay much attention to Aurora's laughter and shifted their gaze back to Wenny.

However, Wenny was panicking. When she was helped to the bed by the nurse, her hands and feet were cold.

"Who locked you on the balcony?"

Zac took a step forward and looked at Wenny's livid lips.

No matter how much he tolerated

Aurora, he couldn't bear that she hurt

Wenny and his child.

Aurora tilted her head slightly and looked over nonchalantly.

Wenny wanted to say something, but when her eyes met Aurora's, she immediately lowered her head.

"I did that by mistake."

The anger in Zac's eyes almost overflowed. He said in a deep voice, "I'm here. No one dares to bully you."

The gentle embrace that Wenny had hoped for was right in front of her!

However, Wenny abruptly stopped moving. She did not dare to go forward.

Because at that moment, Aurora was holding her phone.

Wenny was extremely regretful. She could only resign herself to saying nothing. She knew once she said it, Aurora would give her phone to Zac. At that time, would she be able to marry Zac? Wenny thought Zac wouldn't want her absolutely at that time.

The others did not know what was going on. Carter came forward and reported in a low voice, "The surveillance video did not capture anything." Zac stared at Wenny, but she refused to say anything. This matter could only be left unsettled. Zac wondered, does it really have nothing to do with Aurora? Zac turned and looked at the woman on the sofa.

Aurora blinked her eyes and said with an innocent and calm face, "I came to apologize to Miss Swon. After all, I almost caused her to have a miscarriage. Look, this flower was brought by me." She had evidence. But Wenny didn't. Aurora finally spoke, and Wenny's head hung even lower.

Zac's eyes darkened. He was about to instruct everyone else to go out. He wanted to ask Aurora and Wenny about what had happened clearly. However, at this time, Lewis fushed in with a psychiatrist.

"Mr. Buchanna, everything is ready. We can make a mental diagnosis for Miss Swon now."

"I don't have any problems. Why would you do that to me?" Wenny suddenly raised her head. The next second, she stared at Aurora and understood everything.

CEO is Chasing Ex Wife Back - Chapter 204

Chapter 204 Unknown

Lewis took a look at the doctors behind him and lowered his voice to explain to Zac, "Miss Swon sought help from our hospital with her phone. She said that she often felt absent-minded recently as if another person was controlling her body. We suspect that it might be because she was under too much pressure during her pregnancy, causing her to hallucinate."

Zac's expression at this time could only be described as sullen. Wenny stared at Aurora with her eyes wide open. No one knew that her phone was with Aurora. Wenny did not dare to reveal it.

LENCLIN Wa She could only watch as Aurora put her phone into Aurora's bag. Wenny was helped to the wheelchair by the nurse.

"Miss Swon, don't worry. We will ask the most authoritative expert to treat you.

“Moreover, it’s normal for something like this to happen when you are pregnant. Don’t be nervous. Take it easy.”

Wenny bit her lips to hold back her anger.

Aurora stood up and walked to Wenny. She clicked her tongue and said, “It sucks. I’m sorry for you suffering from the illness. Well, it seems that when someone is pregnant, she really has to pay attention to her mentality.

Otherwise...”

“She might die and the baby can’t come into the world. How horrible it is.”

The words were very mean. Only Aurora dared to say this in front of Zac.

Lewis looked at Zac, who was on the verge of going berserk. Lewis stepped forward and said, “That’s just a very small chance. The specialists in the psychiatric department of our hospital are very authoritative and are already on standby in the examination room.”

Zac’s face darkened. “I want to know the result as soon as possible.”

“Okay, Mr. Buchanna.” Lewis turned to the staff. “Hurry up, take Miss Swon to the second elevator.”

Lewis heaved a sigh of relief and hurriedly led the group out.

Wenny turned around and stared at Aurora. When Wenny was about to leave, she leaned against the door frame and kept exclaiming, “I have no mental problems. I won’t do the examination!”

“Miss Swon, every patient who went to the psychiatry department said that at first. It’s because you have been under too much pressure recently. Otherwise, you wouldn’t want to commit suicide. For you and your child, you have to cooperate with us,” Lewis said patiently.

Then, he had the nurse remove Wenny’s hand and force her into the elevator.

Aurora smiled and looked at the man with a cold face. "Mr. Buchanna, it's a fickle world

Her fake sympathetic look made Zac feel sick.

"All of you, get out." Zac suppressed his anger.

Carter immediately cleared the room. Soon, only Aurora and he were left in the ward.

"What did you do to her?"

Zac saw what happened at the villa that day and believed that Aurora would not do that.

But today, he saw with his own eyes that Wenny's face was pale from the cold on the balcony. Besides, Wenny even had a look of being controlled by others, not daring to tell the truth.

Zac was one hundred percent sure that Aurora had done something that could threaten Wenny.

What was it?

"Mr. Buchanna, I don't get you."

Aurora's face was full of innocence. "I'm here to visit Wenny. What do you think I have done? Maybe Mr. Arnold is right, your fiancé has a mental problem.”

“Impossible.” Zac’s face darkened.

“As I’ve said, it’s a fickle world. When I married, I had no idea that my husband is an asshole.”

Just as she finished speaking, Aurora’s arm was pulled over.

She was forced to look at the man in front of her with a distorted posture. She raised her chin and slightly curled her lips. A charming smile lingered on her lips.

“Zac, are you angry from embarrassment?”

She was unafraid of him.

She didn’t even feel pain.

She raised her slender neck like a lamb waiting to be slaughtered.

As soon as the man lowered his head, he saw the disdain and indifference in her eyes. His hand slowly tightened. Aurora’s current posture was becoming more and more difficult to endure.

As long as he exerted more strength, he could make her cry in pain.

Zac just wanted to see her begging for mercy.

Zac was waiting for her apology or explanation. But she just had a fearless look on her face, not bowing her head or admitting her mistake.

“Zac, I won’t stop making everyone around you leave you one by one until I die.’

11

Aurora was pinched very painfully by him, but she endured it and was unwilling to admit defeat.

She wouldn’t regret it even if she might go bankrupt and carried a huge debt because of her revenge.

Zac and Wenny wanted to see her kneel and beg for mercy. She wouldn’t fulfill their wish. Now, she wanted to personally send Wenny to the mental hospital! Well, it might be a good place for Wenny to take good care of the fetus.

“Humph, you wanna die, don’t you?”

Zac suppressed his anger and placed his hand on Aurora’s neck.

Aurora frowned and endured it. She felt that her breathing was not smooth and she felt like she would leave this world soon.

There was a sound of a boom.

The door opened from the outside.

“Mr. Buchanna, Miss Swon fainted,” said Carter as he ran in anxiously.

If it wasn't for this kind of urgent news, he wouldn't have rushed in so disrespectfully.

Zac suddenly loosened his grip.

Aurora violently choked. She lay on the bed and coughed with difficulty. Her hand tugged on the bed sheet and she kept gasping.

“Take her to the villa. Don't let her leave without my permission.” Zac looked at her pale face and ordered.

“Yes.” Carter lowered his head and replied.

Then, Zac quickly left.

He gave her a cold and piercing gaze before leaving.

Aurora took a deep breath and slowly propped herself up on the bed. She could not remember how many times she had almost been killed by him.

But every time, he did not really kill her.

Aurora walked into the bathroom and washed her face with cold water.

The face in the mirror was thin and pale.

She looked weak.

Aurora could no longer remember what she had looked like before.

She bit her lips and lowered her head to take out Wenny's phone from her bag. She had already copied the data that she needed.

Such an interesting thing, of course, would be taken good advantage of by her. As for the phone... She threw it into the bathtub.

"Let's go," Aurora said to Carter as she walked out. She would not implicate others because of her matter.

Moreover, with Zac's strength, as long as she was still in this city, she would not be able to escape from his grasp. Rather than escaping, it was better to accept it.

Besides, she had a good show to watch. Carter thought he would have a hard time talking her into accepting Zac's arrangement. He was glad that Aurora was so cooperative. Carter immediately said, "Car is out front now."

"Thank you. Aurora walked out with no panic in her eyes. Before she entered the elevator, she heard the nurses in the corridor talking about Wenny.

"Does she really have pregnancy depression because of her pregnancy? I heard that Mr. Arnold invited Bruce Norman from the psychiatric department back." "The result of the examination is coming out soon. I'm curious about it."

CEO is Chasing Ex Wife Back - Chapter 205

Chapter 205 No One Will Believe It.

That night. When Zac got Wenny's examination report, his face darkened, his fingers clutching the report. "You mean she is indeed suffering from pregnancy depression?"

"According to the results, Miss Swon does have a mental problem. This may be the reason why she behaved abnormally today. Moreover, we also know that she often lost control of her emotions at home." Zac's eyes were cold as he stared at the report for a long time. "How are you gonna treat her?" He paid more attention to the results than the process. "We have already invited Dr. Norman to treat her. He's a psychiatrist. But we need to give Miss Swon mental treatment based on her condition. It's not a good idea that we treat her in the obstetrical ward."

"Cut to the chase." Zac frowned even more tightly.

"After discussion, we agree that Miss Swon should move into the special psych ward as soon as possible so that she can receive better treatment.'

"Mr. Arnold, Miss Swon is still pregnant. Isn't it inappropriate to do this?"
Carter

listened and looked at Zac.

Zac's fiancée was diagnosed with a mental illness. If the news was leaked, Zac would lose face.

And the treatment might hurt the baby in her belly.

Lewis nervously wiped his cold sweat. "We will prepare a ward for Miss Swon. We're experienced in this, so we're very likely to make it."

"Likely?"

"One week. Tell me the results in one week." Zac suppressed the anger in his chest.

“Eh...” Lewis wanted to say something, but Zac left.

“Miss Swon will be transferred to the psych ward tonight. It must be kept a secret. If the news is leaked, you know the consequences.”

“Sure, sure! We will definitely leave nothing to chance.”

Lewis personally walked Carter to the gate. When he watched the car drive away, he sighed in relief.

Lewis took out his phone and looked at the message sent by Wenny. He frowned

and thought, pregnancy depression?

Really?

Half an hour later.

Wenny was dressed. She sat in the wheelchair.

“Where are you going to take me? I want to go home!” She looked around at the nurses who were taking care of her.

“Miss Swon, please do not move. We will be there soon

“What do you mean?”

Before Wenny could finish her question, a black cloth covered the top of her head.

She bit her lips and cursed Aurora in her heart. She thought, after I am free and take back my phone, I'll throw that bitch into the sea to feed the sharks.

Wenny was pushed forward and could not see anything.

Suddenly, she heard the sound of an iron door.

Then, the person pushing the wheelchair behind her stopped, and there was another rustling sound.

Wenny was angry. "Why are you so slow?

Hurry up and take this thing off my head!"

"Miss Swon, why are you in such a hurry?" a pair of hands pressed on her shoulder from behind.

The voice...

"Aurora!"

Wenny struggled violently, but her wrists and ankles were tied, so she could not break free.

"Don't worry, we'll arrive at the psych ward soon. You have to receive treatment here. It will be good for you and the baby in your belly." Aurora bent down and whispered into Wenny's ear, "That's the price of using your baby as the chip."

Wenny's face turned pale.

Then, the black cloth cover above her head was removed, and she was pushed into the psych ward in the wheelchair.

She turned around and saw Aurora wearing a mask and a nurse's outfit behind. Aurora even slightly waved her hand.

"Ah!"

Wenny screamed.

The doctors and nurses who were waiting for her surrounded her.

"We must pay attention to her emotions. She is a VIP patient, Mr. Buchanna's fiancée. Make sure everything is alright," Dr. Norman said carefully.

The nurses nodded and tried their best to control Wenny, in case she hurt herself.

Under their control, Wenny was pushed into the ward without saying anything.

"Aurora is here! Bring that slut in."

Wenny was put on the hospital bed, and she shouted crazily.

"How is this possible? Miss Swon, it must be a mistake. Don't worry. The doctors and nurses here are very experienced. They can definitely help you out." Dr. Norman was not surprised at all. He smiled and patiently comforted her.

Wenny slapped the nurse next to her.

"Listen. Bring that slut in. You have been tricked by her."

The nurse's eyes reddened, and she ran out crying.

Dr. Norman had no choice but to send someone out to find Aurora.

But they found nothing.

“Miss Swon, you must be mistaken. She is not in our hospital. Please cooperate with us for treatment. Otherwise, I will have to be tough.” Dr. Norman also put on a cold face. No matter how strong Wenny’s background was, she was still a patient. She had a mental illness. How could he let her mess around?

The ward was filled with curses and screams. Aurora took off her mask and went to the staircase. Someone was already waiting for her there.

“Emily, thank you.

” The nurse uniform Aurora wore belonged to Emily. Emily Baker used to be in the same prison as her. They only spent more than a month together before Emily was released.

“Don’t say that, Aurora. You helped me back then. Without you, I wouldn’t be able to start a new life.” Emily smiled. The bitterness in her eyes lightened. She was her boyfriend’s scapegoat, but after she was put in jail, he fell in love with another woman. She committed suicide in prison but was stopped by Aurora...

“If people find out that I borrowed your clothes, I will bear all the responsibility. Don’t worry.” Aurora didn’t want to drag her down. Emily was stunned at first, and then she shook her head. “Aurora, you still don’t understand her current situation. No one will believe in a lunatic.

“Even if I bring you in and let you see Wenny, everyone will think that she is crazy as long as I don’t give myself away.” After all, Aurora shouldn’t have been able to come here!

“Don’t worry. I’ll go back to work first. If you need any help, feel free to call me.” Emily then left. Aurora quickly walked out of the hospital.

She told Alma that she needed to buy some daily necessities before she ran out of the villa. It was time to go back. She couldn't wait to see Zac's face. As she thought about this on the way, Aurora could not help but smile.
