Chapter 221 Aurora's Speech

At that moment, everyone's eyes were fixed on Aurora. Aurora could sense curiosity and contempt in those gazes. The news about the Bennet Group had long been spread out. Now, no matter how confident Aurora looked, no one believed that she could solve the actual problem. This was also one of the reasons why Saul let Aurora attend this meeting.

Seeing that most of the people in the conference room had changed their minds, Saul flicked the buttons on his suit cuff and said, "The Swon Group is now the most suitable company to take over this project. Ms. Bennet, you know the relationship between the Swón Group and the Buchanna Group, right?" Aurora didn't say anything.

Saul continued, "The daughter of the Swon Group is about to marry into the Buchanna family. Mr. Buchanna has always been good to his woman. How can

Mr. Buchanna let an outsider take over such a good project?" Saul's words somehow made sense. It sounded like Aurora had been pestering Zac shamelessly. Saul's words caused a round of sniggers.

Although Zac was sitting in this room, there were still people whispering. Even if the others did not say anything, Aurora could still sense their thoughts through their eyes.

In their eyes, Aurora was just a broke girl who didn't have self-esteem. They thought Aurora must have used her body to make Zac give this project to the Bennet Group. Aurora tightened her grip on the contract. On the way here, Aurora had thought that these things would happen.

But when Aurora really encountered these things, she still felt angry and embarrassed. When Zac saw Aurora's expression, he frowned. Just as Zac was about to speak, a man walked... "Mr. Vernon!"

The managers all stood up and greeted Vernon. Vernon was usually very gentle. But now, he put on a straight face and snapped, "We are talking about business in a conference room. Why do you have to criticize other people's private lives?" Everyone lowered their heads, and the conference room regained its silence.

Then, Vernon pulled out a chair and sat down next to Aurora. He said, "Every company will encounter difficulties at a certain time. Didn't Ms. Bennet say that she was here to solve the problem? Why are you still so aggressive? The decision was made by Buchanna Group. Thus, the Buchanna Group should take this responsibility."

Vernon was the only one who could say these words in this circumstance. It sounded like Vernon's words met Saul's thoughts, but Saul then frowned and felt that something was wrong.

"As long as the Bennet Group has the confidence and attitude to solve the problem, the Buchanna Group will have no right to terminate the contract," Vernon said firmly. Aurora didn't run away with the money, nor did she refuse to solve the problem. Aurora's attitude was also positive.

As long as there was a solution, the cooperation should continue. At that instant, Aurora felt that the burden on her shoulders had become heavier, but she was full of energy now. "Mr. Vernon, thank you for your understanding." Vernon nodded and said, "I think you came prepared. Go on. I also want to hear how you are going to solve it. Anyway, the project must continue."

"OK, can I borrow your laptop?" Aurora looked at Carter. After receiving the signal from Zac, Carter immediately stepped forward and handed the laptop to Aurora. Aurora inserted the USB into the laptop and began to explain her plan.

Aurora was not good at doing project planning, but she graduated from the College of Design. Thus, it only took her a very short time to make a beautiful PowerPoint. No one could comment on the content of Aurora's PowerPoint for now. But they thought the general content was refreshing.

"This project has already started. According to the contract requirements, what the Bennet Group needs to do in the eighth, ninth, and eleventh terms..." The responsibility of the Bennet Group was stated in detail. Aurora gave out a solution to each of them.

From publicity to the continuous promotion of the project, the Bennet Group would fulfill its obligations according to the contract requirements. But Aurora chose a smart shortcut to avoid falling into the trap in this contract.

Aurora chose not to get the year-end dividends, and the Bennet Group would not add any investment to the project. This contract was thoroughly studied by Aurora.

Zac looked at Aurora's profile reflected on the screen, and the coldness between his eyebrows slowly dissipated. He raised his hand and whispered a few words into Carter's ear. Carter immediately went out and conveyed the order. In fact, Zac would do this no matter whether Aurora came or not.

Zac would hire a group of people to invest in the project in the name of the Bennet Group. The amount of investment the Bennet Group needed would also be paid by Zac privately.

But Aurora's appearance changed the situation. Aurora's adaptability and sense of crisis surprised Zac. Before this, Zac never thought Aurora's ability to resist pressure was so strong.

After Aurora finished her wonderful speech, she sighed in relief secretly. Looking at the managers present, Aurora said calmly, "This is the solution. If you have any questions, we can discuss them together," A few managers looked at each other and didn't know what to say.

Aurora's ideas were very novel, and there was even one aspect of the problem that they had never thought of. The most important thing was that the responsibility of the Bennet Group had been fully fulfilled perfectly.

"That's all I need to say. Thank you for listening." Aurora lowered her head and began to put the documents in front of her in order. She did not dare to look up at Zac opposite her.

Aurora was afraid that if she said something wrong, Zac might refute all her proposals with one sentence. This was the result of Aurora's efforts for several days and nights. Aurora pursed her lips, and her movements became slower and slower.

Finally, Zac opened his mouth and said coldly, "Ms. Bennet, please go to my office. The meeting of the Buchanna Group has to continue. Don't waste any more time." "Ms. Bennet, please come with me." Carter immediately went forward and took Aurora out.

Aurora followed Carter. When she was about to step out of the room, she turned her eyes and glanced at Zac. But Vernon happened to sit over, so Aurora did not see Zac's face. After Carter closed the door, Aurora felt the cold air in the corridor.

"He thought that I spoke too much nonsense and wasted time just now, right?" Aurora quickly walked a few steps and caught up to Carter. Carter didn't dare to guess what Zac was thinking. He only replied, "Mr. Buchanna still has other things to discuss with the managers in this meeting."

"Oh..." Aurora was a little upset, thinking that Zac must think her thoughts were too childish. Carter pushed open the door of Zac's office.

"Ms. Bennet, please wait inside." Under normal circumstances, Zac would not allow anyone to wait alone in his office. But Aurora was an exception. Carter was respectful to Aurora. Carter was Zac's assistant.

Thus, Carter knew how special Aurora was to Zac. Zac asked Carter to bring Aurora here because Zac wanted to protect her. Zac didn't want those managers to gossip behind her back.

Even Vernon had received the news and went to the conference room. It meant the news of Aurora's arrival had already spread all over the company. Carter poured a cup of coffee for Aurora. Then, he immediately went to find out who brought Aurora in.

The security had been strengthened since Aurora sneaked into the Buchanna Group last time. It meant that someone must have done something to let Aurora appear in the conference room on purpose

Chapter 222 In a Dream

Aurora sat on the sofa, recalling what had just happened in the conference room.. Suddenly, the phone rang.

"Zac, it's me. My dad wants you to come home again tonight and talk about our marriage. Can you come?" Wenny's voice echoed in Aurora's ears.

Aurora clenched her fists and didn't open them for a long time. She thought perhaps Zac wanted to ease the relationship with the Swon family through this cooperation. Her appearance might ruin his plan again. If it was before, Aurora might be very happy.

However, the situation changed. The Bennet Group needed the chance to make a comeback. She had to beg Zac not to be too hard on the Bennet Group this time. She had to do this. For the sake of the Bennet Group, she had no self-esteem in front of Zac. Aurora made up her mind to beg Zac for mercy. After days of working on the project, she relaxed and soon fell asleep on the sofa. For some reason, when she fell asleep, she seemed to smell the aroma of the coffee, mixed with the smell of a man, and the smell made her relieved. She rubbed her head against the folder beside her and muttered, "Alma, I want to eat steak tonight..." Zac, who had just returned to the conference room, stopped and looked at her.

"Mr. Buchanna, you have a dinner appointment with Mr. Wanda tonight. It's time to go," Carter reminded Zac.

"I'm not going," said Zac, waving his hand.

Carter noticed the sleeping Aurora and lowered his voice immediately. "Okay,

Mr. Buchanna, I'll reply to him immediately."

"Dinner appointment? What's the specialty there?"

Steak.'

Aurora was sleeping soundly and seemed to smell the aroma of steak in her dream.

She slowly opened her eyes. Under the dim light, she saw Zac, who was working by his desk. His handsome eyes and brows seemed to have magic to bewitch people.

Zac frowned slightly as if he was considering something tricky.

Aurora thought that she was still in a dream and unconsciously said, "Zac, if you keep frowning like this, you will be ugly when you get old."

Zac paused and looked over.

She had just woken up, wearing his suit jacket. She looked lazy and relaxed. From his angle, he could see the fair skin under her collar.

He swallowed and asked in a low voice, "Are you awake?"

Aurora was startled awake by the sentence.

Then she remembered that she had been waiting for him in his office and had fallen asleep.

Also, she seemed to be wearing his clothes!

Her mind went blank, and she stood up, her collar opening even wider.

Zac closed the document and walked in front of her. His tone was frighteningly cold. "If those plans do not work, are you going to use this method to seduce me to spare the Bennet Group?"

"I didn't."

Before she finished speaking, his arms were around her waist.

After a series of crackling sounds, the documents scattered all over the floor, and she was picked up and placed on the desk.

He suddenly leaned over, and the desire in his eyes was obvious and tempting.

"You are still in a dream."

Aurora got a little nervous. Then, Zac kissed her lips gently. The kiss became heavier and heavier, but it did not make her uneasy.

His palms around her waist were warm, igniting her up.

She wondered, am I still in a dream?

Yeah, it's my dream. Otherwise, why would Zac treat me like this?

Aurora's heart beat faster. She raised her neck but suddenly stopped his further movement. She uttered, "No. Stop."

"I can't do it in your dreams either?" Zac asked.

His voice was hoarse. He had suppressed the desire in his heart for a long time.

He was afraid that she would resist and be afraid.

He looked down at her appearance and tugged at the shirt she was wearing.

There were kiss marks on her neck.

Perhaps he did it too hastily.

With her eyes closed, Aurora shook her head and said, "No, not even in my dream."

Zac held her shoulders. After a long time, he said with a heavy heart, "Alright."

Zac carefully picked her up and placed her on the sofa, saying, "Get some sleep."

Aurora closed her eyes, and her eyelashes trembled slightly.

Her hands grasped his shirt and slowly loosened.

Was it a dream?

As Zac left, Aurora fell asleep again.

When she woke up again, she thought about the dream with a frown. When she raised her head, she saw that Zac walked in with a takeout.

"Let's eat."

Zac put the takeout on the table and walked to the desk to continue working.

Aurora felt hungry.

“Steak?” she asked, sniffing.

She remembered that Zac did not like to eat steak, so why did he order this?

Moreover, it was so coincidental that she wanted to eat this today.

Aurora looked at Zac over there, only to hear that he said in a cold voice, “If you don’t want to eat, just throw it away.”

Aurora lowered her head and started eating.

She thought she must have a dream.

She ate very quickly. After eating, Zac turned off his computer. When he got up and came over, he saw that some steak was left.

He glanced at it before sitting on the other side and eating. He didn’t mind that it was the leftover that Aurora left. Aurora wiped her mouth and said, “Well, Mr. Buchanna...” “Let’s not talk about business when eating.” Zac didn’t even raise his head when he interrupted Aurora. Aurora could only keep silent. Zac ate slowly, so she could only wait. “Mr. Buchanna, the car is ready.” Carter came in after knocking on the door.

Aurora thought that Zac had something to do, and her heart sank when she thought of the phone call. “The driver will send you back,” he said to Aurora with an indifferent attitude. Aurora picked up her things and stood up, “Just now, the phone rang. Wenny wants to see you.”

After she finished speaking, she took a breath and said, “I suddenly barged in today and caused trouble. Mr. Buchanna, I promise that this won’t happen again. I’m sorry.”

Then, she stepped out of his office. Zac still had a knife and fork in his hands. Hearing the words, he put them down and frowned deeper. He did not blame her and did not want to blame her.

Aurora was sent back to the community by the driver, who watched her go upstairs before driving away. The security guards in the community gathered together.

“She has a nice ride, but why does she live in a neighborhood like this?” “I guess she’s a rich guy’s lover.” At that time, at the Swon’s place. Looking at the dishes on the table, Wenny was so angry that her face turned pale.

“I told you that, last time you made Zac angry. That’s why he didn’t even reply to my call.” On the day that Zac returned from his business trip, he met the Swon family.

After a few words, Zac quarreled with Davis and left in a huff. Wenny summoned up all her courage to call Zac but was ignored. “I want to go to his house.” Wenny stood Davis’ face darkened.

Faye stopped Wenny, “You’re pregnant now. Why are you walking around? You have to be more reserved.” “Be more reserved? If I don’t say anything now, Zac will be taken away by Aurora. She made a scene in the Buchanna Group today. But instead of blaming her, Zac decided to continue to cooperate with the Bennet Group. If this continues...” She felt that if this went on, she would not win over Aurora

Chapter 223 A Diabolical Plan

Wenny became increasingly anxious and wanted to go to the Buchanna family right away. “Stop!”

Davis shouted, “The situation is rather complicated. I will meet Saul tomorrow. You stay at home!” “What’s the point? If he’s really capable, he would have been more powerful than Zac a long time ago,” Wenny mumbled. Wenny thought, Saul’s more considerate than Zac. But other than that, he is no match for Zac. Faye listened to their conversation and sighed, “Actually, I may know how to make Aurora leave Zac. But this might be an evil plan.”

“Faye, really?” Wenny’s eyes lit up.

Wenny wished she could beat Aurora in person, but she was pregnant and was advised to better stay at home.

Hearing Wenny’s words, Faye felt awkward.

It had been a long time, yet Wenny still did not regard her as her stepmother, always addressing her by name.

Davis’s face also darkened. “She’s your mother now!”

“If she can help me deal with Aurora, I will immediately call her mom,” Wenny muttered.

“Is that so?”

“Of course! As long as Aurora disappears!

I hate to see her.”

Faye's smile grew bigger. She said,

"Wenny, wait for my good news."

Faye and Wenny were on the same page.

Faye wanted to sell properties of the Bennet family. As long as Aurora was out of the picture, she could do that immediately.

Not only could she get rid of a thorn in her side, but she could also bond with Wenny. Killing two birds with one stone!

Furthermore, if something goes wrong, she could shift the blame to Wenny and her father.

Faye couldn't think of a single disadvantage.

The next morning...

Aurora heard a knock on the door. She opened it and saw Faye standing at the door, crying.

"What are you doing here?"

Aurora was not nice to Faye.

"Aurora, I was mean to you in the past. I'm here to apologize." Faye took out a card from her bag, "This is the rest of the money. It's all your

Aurora thought, why is she so kind today?

Aurora narrowed her eyes and didn't take Faye lowered her head and wiped her tears. "I am going to divorce Davis. He said that he would take that woman to his home. I can't take it anymore. After that, I'll leave this place. Before I go, I want to tell you everything I know about the Bennet family."

"Come in."

Aurora stepped to the side.

She also looked around to make sure that there was no one else before she closed the door.

Pretending to be sad, Faye said in a deep voice, “I remember that your dad was very close to a rich man at that time. I don’t know who he is. I only know he keeps persuading your dad to cooperate with him. Soon, the company went bankrupt.”

“I saw him again the other day!

The person in the photo was Vernon.

“Before my dad went bankrupt, he contacted Vernon?” Aurora frowned. She wondered, as far as I know, Vernon had been overseas and had only recently returned to the Buchanna Group.

When the Bene ily was in crisis, he should be running a business overseas.

But Faye doesn’t know Vernon. And this doesn’t sound like a lie.

Aurora remained silent for a while.

Faye let Aurora ponder. When Aurora raised her head again, Faye said with a sob, “Aurora, I know you hate me, but I have no choice. I have to take care of myself at that time.”

“Is there anything else? Please leave if you have nothing else to say.”

“Yes! I think Wenny isn’t pregnant with Zac’s baby,” Faye said as she approached Aurora as if she had made a big decision.

Aurora’s brows furrowed.

Faye added, “am going to leave them, so I have nothing to be afraid of. I think you should tell Zac about this.”

Half an hour later,

Faye left Aurora place and called Hugh,

Saul’s secretary.

Aurora thought about Faye’s words. maybe Faye was telling the truth.

Does Vernon truly have something to do with the bankruptcy? But he has helped me several times! Why?

Isn't he afraid that I will discover the truth?

In the presidential suite of Victory Hotel.

In front of the floor-to-ceiling window,

Saul was drinking and enjoying himself with a few entertaining women. Hugh knocked on the door nonstop and said,

"Mr. Gates, there's an emergency."

This ruined Saul's great mood.

"Spit it out," he said as he opened the door in dissatisfaction.

"Mr. Gates, Aurora knows about Miss Swon's pregnancy and is about to tell Mr. Buchanna about it."

"Where is she?"

Saul left those beautiful women, put on his coat, and strode out.

Aurora embarrassed him during the last meeting.

He was about to the cooperation contract with the net Group, but

Aurora threatened to tell Zac his secret.

He wouldn't let Aurora get what she wanted.

Saul had some friends in the underworld.

He sat in his car and looked at Aurora's apartment from a distance.

"She's living on the 29th floor. People always fall off from high places, don't they?"

The two men sitting in front of him exchanged looks and said, "Don't worry,

Mr. Gates. We will handle the matter well."

With that, they got out of the car and walked into the community where Aurora lived

“Let’s go to the company. We have a meeting with Mr. Buchanna today.” that’s perfect. I’ll use this opportunity to give him a big present. Hugh sat in the passenger seat and felt a chill down his back. As Aurora thought about the things Faye had said, she walked home.

When she arrived at the entrance of her community, she saw Terry’s car. Holding a shopping bag, Aurora stopped. Terry turned and saw Aurora coming back from the rearview mirror. He immediately got out of the car and went over. “Aurora, my mother invites you to my house for dinner.” As he spoke, he ignored Aurora’s reaction and took the bag from her hand. It was full of fast food. “You eat this for dinner?” he asked, frowning.

“It’s convenient. I have other plans for the afternoon. Thank you but I can’t go,” said Aurora. She then reached out to take the bag back. But Terry gave her no chance.

“I insist. What you bought isn’t healthy.” He opened the car door, tilted his head, and added, “Is it because you don’t want to see me?”

Aurora was stunned for a moment. She didn’t mean that. They wouldn’t go on a date anyway, so Aurora decided to keep a distance from him. “I’ll get a ticket if you stall any longer.” “Fine.” Aurora sighed silently.

Aurora planned to take this opportunity to make things clear. In the distance, those who were hiding in Aurora’s apartment saw her get into Terry’s car with binoculars. “Slade, that woman left. Should we follow her?”

CEO is Chasing Ex Wife Back

Chapter 224 Become a Target

Slade spit out a retort and said, “Of course! Once we deal with her, we can get a lot from Mr. Gates. “Let’s go. Get in the car.” Several men got into two cars, following Terry’s car. Terry drove home and did not notice that they were followed on the way. “Mr. Walton, Ms. Bennet.” Connor welcomed them at the gate.

This was the first time Aurora felt such respect after the Bennet family went bankrupt. She followed Terry quietly. On the way, all the servants were respectful to her.

Ms. Bennet, please have a seat.” Connor was unusually nice.

“Aurora, you’re finally here. I’ve been expecting you!” Kate came out with a smile, followed by several rich ladies.

When those rich women saw Aurora walk in, they felt offended.

“Mrs. Walton, is she the honorable guest you’ve been waiting for?” one of those ladies asked.

“Yes, do you have a problem with it?” Kate raised her eyebrows, grabbed Aurora’s hand, and added, “This is the girl my son has taken a fancy to. Sooner or later, she will be a member of our family. Please show her more respect.”

“Congratulations! We’ll leave you to enjoy your family reunion.”

Those women exchanged looks. They dared not to argue with Kate, so they chose to leave with fake smiles.

“Don’t take them to heart. They listened to the rumors and don’t know you,” Kate explained.

She thought, if I let the opinions of these people bother me, I would have long been depressed.

I’m more curious about the attitudes of the Walton family. They are unusually nice to me.

Is it all in my head?

Terry, your dad is in the study. Go get him. And you may serve the dishes,” Kate ordered the servants after she gave Terry the instruction.

“Yes, Madam.”

Aurora was flattered by Kate’s kindness.

“Take this place as your home. And even if you refuse Terry, I won’t blame you.’

As Kate spoke, she patted Aurora’s hand,

“Frankly speaking, ever since Terry’s accident, I have experienced a lot and thus got to know the true nature of some people. I saw what happened between you and the Jarret family. You are a good girl.”

Aurora looked down and remained silent.

Kate was still talking while Bob and

Terry got downstairs together.

Kate, stop. said with a smile. are scaring her.” Bob

The Walton family took good care of Aurora at the dinner table.

It was as if Aurora was their daughter-in-law. Aurora didn't believe

After all, the Walton Group was rich and powerful, Bob did not need to carry favor with her for no reason.

"Aurora, no, should I call you Ms. Bennet now?"

Finally, the moment for true words!

Aurora put down the knife and fork in her hand and raised her head with a smile, "Mr. Walton, you don't have to beat around the bushes."

Terry, who was sitting opposite her, suddenly frowned, but Káte calmed him down. "Your dad wants to know her more. Stay silent."

Terry's eyes darkened as he looked at Aurora.

Aurora knew what Terry was thinking about and gently shook her head.

Only then did Terry start eating again.

"I heard a few old friends mention that you wanted to revitalize the Bennet Group and even signed a contract with the Buchanna Group. What a remarkable achievement!"

"Mr. Walton, I always appreciate your honesty. So it would be better if you were more direct. And I am sure I won't be able to enjoy the food until you speak the truth." Aurora liked to make things clear.

Because of Terry, she didn't want her relationship with the Walton family to worsen.

"Alright then," Bob continued, "I'll get to the point. My son has been pursuing you for a long time, but I haven't given him my consent for various reasons. Today, I promise you that you'll get our blessings if you truly love each other."

Terry's eyes lit up.

"Thank you, Dad!"

Aurora made no move or comment.

She knew that Bob had more to say,

Bob looked at Aurora with a smile. "I also know that it is not easy for you to bring the Bennet Group to the old glories. Because of your relationship with Terry, I will not ignore the plight of your company. I know you have signed a contract with the Buchanna Group. If you need investment or anything, please do not hesitate to ask."

Aurora wondered, he sounds so nice... He even paves a road for me.

He wants me to believe that the Walton Group will be mine if I say yes. But things are much more complicated. Aurora blinked and said, "Mr. Walton, a consensus has been reached between the Buchanna Group and the Bennet Group.

It's very kind of you to offer me help, but I need no help right now. Besides, what's between me and Terry is not what you think it is." "Aurora," Terry got anxious, "My dad just wants to help you."

"The Bennet Group receives no help now.

I'm afraid that the company will fall into the wrong hands if I accept any help." Because of what happened between her and Zac, Aurora became rather cautious. Aurora would not fall for the same trick twice. Hearing those words, Bob lost his composure. Bob had been in the business world for years and had seen many temperamental young people, but he seldom saw someone as stubborn as Aurora even though stubbornness would do her no good! Aurora reminded Bob of someone else. That was Zac!

Bob thought, at a young age, Zac controls the economy of a city, so he can be arrogant. But the Bennet family is nothing like before. How could Aurora refuse to give me the face?

We already sacrificed a lot by allowing her to be part of the family. And she refused to give us any benefits. More than that, she's rude to Terry! The smile on Bob's face vanished. "Ms. Bennet, as they said, you are hard to persuade."

"I can't take the risk. Mr. Walton, thank you for your hospitality, but I don't think I deserve your kindness." As Aurora spoke, she stood up and walked out. No one dared to stop her.

"Shawn was stubborn, and so is his daughter!" Bob was embarrassed by Aurora, so he mentioned her father's name in a fit of anger. Aurora stopped after hearing that. She turned and stared at Bob Terry knew Aurora. Seeing her dark face, he knew what she was going to say. So he hurriedly said, "Aurora, that's just a suggestion. My dad has no intention to take over the Bennet Group." Bob snorted, "He's right. Your weak company is worth none of my attention. If it wasn't for Zac, I wouldn't have invited you to dinner!"

CEO is Chasing Ex Wife Back

Chapter 225 Don't Waste Your Time

Aurora wondered, was it because of Zac? Aurora sneered and thought, I should have thought of earlier. Except for Terry, the Walton family was all snobbish. She took a deep breath and said, "Terry, I'll leave first." For the sake of Terry, she spared Bob, who was a profiteer.

"Stop!"

Bob slammed the table, his eyes filled with ruthlessness. Kate wanted to stop him, but it was too late. "We're willing to accept you because of your deceased father. You should be grateful. How could you talk to me that way?" Bob only groveled in front of people like

Zac. But he was humiliated by Aurora. He could not take it. So he showed Aurora no respect. "Everyone knows how you got the project. Zac has been tolerant of you. Do you think we're idiots?"

"Dad!"

"How could you say that to her?" Terry frowned.

He stood in front of Aurora and talked back to his father without hesitation.

Kate also stopped Bob. "Alright, she's just a young girl."

Bob snorted, "Who do you think you are?"

How dare..."

"Mr. Walton, you became grumpier." Zac's voice suddenly sounded. He walked in fast with a long face.

He looked around with his cold eyes. He finally fixed his eyes on Aurora.

He was tall. As he came to Aurora, he blocked the light from the lights above her head.

"Mr. Buchanna!"

Bob's face changed immediately, and he walked up to Zac in a few steps. "Mr. Buchanna, here you are. You should have informed me in advance so that I could wait for you at the door."

Only then did Zac look over. His eyes were extremely cold. "I just came by. If I hadn't come by, I wouldn't have watched such a good show."

When Bob understood what Zac meant, he smiled more awkwardly.

“Come by?”

Terry frowned and said in a hostile tone, “I think you’re here for her.”

Aurora was nervous.

Before she could speak, Zac gave a deep smile, which, however, was still intimidating. “Now that you know it, I will take her away now.”

As he said ti wrist.

he grabbed Aurora’s

“What are you doing? Let go of me.”

Suddenly grabbed, she staggered a few steps forward to keep up with him.

Aurora struggled a few times.

However, Zac held her wrist so tight that it hurt.

“Or do you want to stay?”

His eyes made her feel suffocated.

Bob regretted it. But it was too late. He watched as Zac left with Aurora. “I’m done! Why didn’t anyone inform us when he came?”

Connor and the servant immediately lowered their eads, “Sorry, sir.”

“Terry, why don’t you go out and take a look?” Kate sighed helplessly.

“What’s the point?”

Aurora had been avoiding him. Why should he stop them?

Terry returned to his room with a cold face. He did not blame Aurora for leaving with Zac because he was not in a position to do that. In the car.

Aurora’s wrist was flung away by Zac. As   the car turnea, r hand suddenly hit the car door.

There was a loud bang.

The driver was shocked and quickly said,

“Sorry, Ms. Bennet.”

“You’re out of your mind now that you can’t feel the pain. How dare you go you go meet the Walton family? You were too bold.”

Aurora frowned, ignoring him.

“Don’t think that they will be nice to you just because Terry is interested in you. How could you reduce yourself like that? You’re worse than your father.”

It was the third time that someone had mentioned her fe her today.

All the grievances in Aurora’s heart were evoked.

She gritted her teeth and retorted with a cold gaze, “You’re right. I hooked up with Terry. He’s handsome and rich. Most importantly, he likes me! And the Walton family can satisfy all my needs now. Mr. Buchanna, you should mind your own business. Stay away from this.”

The man gripped the door handle tightly with his right hand and said fiercely, “Alright, you’re right.”

He gritted his teeth. His tone was cold.

“Drop me there, please!”

He could no longer threaten her.

Half a minute lat..

Aurora was dropped at the crossroads.

She watched as Zac’s car drove out of her sight. She had complex feelings.

Zac was busy.

How could it be possible that he “came by” and happened to take her out?

She couldn’t help thinking about his words. She looked down and thought for a while before sneering.

“I won’t make the same mistake again, even if I’ll be single forever.”

Zac was only her dead enemy.

Aurora took two steps forward.

Suddenly, there were horns. She looked up and saw .ck driving towards Ker.

The car lights were so bright that she could not open her eyes.

A bang sounded.

A violent crash sounded on the street.

A thick smoke spread out, and Aurora opened her eyes in shock. Two trucks collided in the middle of the road.

She felt that her ears were ringing, and then she fainted.

“Miss? Miss?”

“She is really lucky. If she had walked further, she would have lost her legs.” “Send her to the hospital!” There were noises, but it suddenly became quiet. As soon as Aurora opened her eyes, she found herself lying on the bed in the emergency room that was crowded with people. She couldn’t hear anything once again because of the impact. When she saw Zac’s clothes, she wondered if she was crazy. He had already left in anger.

Aurora thought, how could it be possible that he returned? For the sake of my safety? Impossible! “How is she?” Zac was wearing a cold face, looking sullen.

“There are no uperficial injuries. After she wakes up, she needs to take a CT scan on her body so that we can make sure that there are no side effects such as brain bleeding.” As the doctor spoke, he made a hook on the paper and handed it to Zac. “You’re her family, right? Sign your name.” He was not her family. But he did not hesitate to sign his name. If he did not sign it, no one would care about whether Aurora could survive.

Zac lifted the curtain and looked into Aurora’s eyes. He said something, but Aurora did not understand. Just as she was about to point at her ears, Zac picked up the phone and le a hurry.

Aurora was lying alone on the bed, closing her eyes to rest. It was already an hour later when Zac returned.

He seemed to be very angry. He lifted the quilt on Aurora and pulled her up. Aurora's arm hurt. She couldn't help but shout, "It hurts." Because she couldn't hear anything, she couldn't control the volume of her voice.

At that moment, Zac seemed to have realized something. He grabbed Aurora's shoulder and whispered something into her ear. Aurora shook her head helplessly. "Don't waste your time. I can't hear you. I wanted to tell you just now."
