

CEO Daddy 11

Super CEO Daddy

Chapter 11

Two men exuding a domineering presence were seated in the center, most expensive booth in the underground nightclub, Night City.

However, they were not drinking alcohol, nor were they accompanied by any ladies.

Kevin glanced at the stony-faced man sitting next to him. The latter held a lit cigarette between his fingers and puffed on the cigarette from time to time.

“Pat, I brought you here to have fun. How do you suppose we can have fun if you're scaring all the girls away? What do you say I bring a few more girls here?”

Kevin immediately gave up on that idea when Patrick shot daggers at him.

“All right, fine. I'll not invite any girls over. Are you happy now? Anyway, there will be a highlight for tonight's show because the best dancer of Night City is back, and she will be performing tonight. I heard she's a gorgeous lady with a very sexy figure.”

Lust was hinted at Kevin's eyes as he spoke because he was eager to watch the performance.

Patrick flicked the cigarette ash and said indifferently, “I'm not interested.”

Kevin poured two glasses of wine and asked, “Pat, the girl you're searching for, what does she look like?”

for a girl for the past six years. They wanted to know the took a sip from the glass of wine he received from Kevin. Narrowing his eyes into slits, he answered, “I don't know what wine he was drinking upon hearing Patrick's words. “Y-You don't know what she looks like? How do most powerful family in Avenport. He was a legend in the business world,

Patrick's honest answer had caused him to sound dimmed slightly as he thought to himself. It is indeed challenging for me to locate that girl, but I

the stage announced in white satin dress appeared before everyone's eyes. Then she began dancing gracefully around went wild as they cheered their lungs out tear his eyes away from the stage, Kevin patted Patrick's such a modest outfit during a performance.

Patrick recognized the dancer to be Gwendolyn, the woman gaze turned cold as he took a deep close to him and said, "Pat, this woman replied, "You can make a move on Kevin turned to look