

CEO Daddy 12

Super CEO Daddy

Chapter 12

The host announced, "The highest bid is fifty thousand! Congratulations to this mister for winning the opportunity to share a drink with Ms. Bunny for fifty thousand!"

All the guys cheered as Gwendolyn walked down the stage. Although she had covered her body wearing the white satin dress, it was the mystery and sense of the unknown that piqued those men's interests.

She would only dance to one song and drink a glass of wine a night whenever she worked there. Moreover, she requested to pick her outfit because she did not want to wear any revealing clothes.

Initially, Night City's manager did not agree to her request, but the manager had to concede because of the impact she brought to the nightclub. Gwendolyn became the best dancer and attracted more customers to the place after working there during her one-week tryout period.

The manager was willing to comply with her requests as long as she worked there.

The winner of the bid was a stout and burly man. He wore a golden chain around his neck and was gazing lecherously at Gwendolyn.

Gwendolyn walked up to him with a glass of wine of her own and smiled graciously at that man.

That fat man's eyes shone at once. He could feel his heart quivering as he gawked at her.

"Mister, I hope that you will enjoy tonight to your heart's content."

about to take a swig of the wine, that fat man grasped her spend such a short time with you. You cannot leave straightaway after drinking this glass of wine.

hand free, but to no avail because of his to encounter troublesome customers such as this fat man. However, Gwendolyn could take care for one drink. I can help you call someone over if you need people to keep listened to Gwendolyn. He scolded loudly, "You should know your expecting his reaction, Gwendolyn splashed him with the wine in her hand in let go of her and wiped the drinks off his face. Then he growled, "You b*tch! How dare you second, he swung a punch at her. Gwendolyn closed her eyes, accepting her fate that she was about to get

she was expecting. Instead, she heard opened her eyes, she saw a tall man standing before her. He turned

"Pat, are you playing a old lady with a just rescued her. Despite the intense hatred she shivered as the chilly wind