Chapter 141

Initially, Gwendolyn had wanted to complain to Lucy.

However, since Lucy wasn't in a good mood recently, Gwendolyn was reluctant to bother her with further problems.

With Lillian taking the initiative to start the conversation now, Gwendolyn felt that she could talk freely. She was relieved to finally have someone to talk to.

Lillian's eyes lit up. She urged, "Tell me more. Is it because he is always unemotional when he is around you? Does he just randomly scold people?"

Gwendolyn thought about Lillian's questions.

Indeed, he always has a stern look on his face. He rarely scolds people, though. On the other hand, he did trick me into paying him more than one hundred thousand.

She was pretty pissed off by Patrick. Gwendolyn said, "You are right. He always has a cold look on his face. It's as if everyone owes him money."

Hmm, it's true, though. I did owe Patrick some money. Oh, whatever. I'm going to complain about him anyway.

Gwendolyn continued, "Yes. He always chastises others for their mistakes. He insulted the managers so badly that they dared not look him in the eyes. Oh yea, he only drinks coffee without sugar. Don't you think something is wrong with him?"

Gwendolyn finished her sentence, Patrick, who was taking care of the kids,

Yolanda smiled. "Fel, that's some harsh truth, but you are right. One of my cousins gave birth to a pair of twins. I noticed that her belly was ugly and wrinkly. It would be worse for Gwendolyn since she gave birth to triplets."

Felicia focused on Benjamin who was standing beside Gwendolyn. She felt anger rise within her.

Wherever Gwendolyn is, Benjamin is there. To think that he used to ignore me when I wooed him in the past. However, now that I have Patrick as my fiancé, Benjamin is nothing in my eyes.

As Felicia was thinking about that, excitement filled her heart. She got out of the hot spring and strolled toward the one Gwendolyn was in.

She smiled as she stopped in between Gwendolyn and Benjamin.

Felicia turned toward Benjamin. She raised her brows. "Benjamin, I thought you always leave right after eating. Why did you suddenly become interested in joining us at the hot spring?"

Benjamin is such an annoying man. All he did all these years during our gathering was ask about Gwendolyn. How is he not tired of that?

Benjamin looked at Felicia with despise.

He said coldly, "It's none of your business."

Upon hearing the words, Gwendolyn turned around and realized it was Patrick.

She was stunned for a moment. In fact, what she said just now was just to pressure Felicia.

Why is Patrick here? Did he hear what I'd said?

Gwendolyn was taken aback, and her mind went blank. She did not know what to do next.

The people in the hot spring pools were dumbfounded because they finally saw Patrick in real life.

Patrick was wearing a gray bathrobe, and his hair was slightly messy. Still, he looked handsome.

Especially the way Patrick frowned when he was smoking. He looked like a handsome bad boy.

The ladies were shocked by Patrick's visual, whereas the men were startled as well. The men wanted to get to know Patrick, but they did not dare to do so.

They thought Patrick was exuding a powerful aura, and he looked superior for some reason.

Felicia was shocked as well. A moment before, she said she would marry Patrick, and now he was here.

Besides, Patrick called Gwendolyn instead of her.

Gwendolyn was startled, and she crossed her arms over her chest. "What are you doing?"
She looked at Patrick in alert, and she slowly took a few steps back.
Gwendolyn wondered if Patrick was going to force himself on her because she had lied to others that he was the father of the triplets.
Patrick frowned slightly and asked, "What are you wearing?"
He thought Gwendolyn had a nice body figure, but she was wearing a one-piece swimsuit. He could not see her body figure clearly.
Since Gwendolyn was in his place now, Patrick thought he should let her wear something he liked.
Gwendolyn averted her gaze and said, "This is a swimsuit! Can't you see it?"
Is Patrick blind? How can he not realize I'm wearing a swimsuit?
Looking at Gwendolyn's nervous expression, Patrick was up to something. However, the triplets were outside. He wondered what he could do.

When Gwendolyn saw how happy Juliette was, she looked at Patrick, who was taking pictures of Juliette with his phone, and he occasionally glanced at Julian and Justin.

He's pretty observant. If he becomes a father, he must be a good father.

Gwendolyn walked to the pool. She looked at the rose petals in it, sat to the side, and put her legs in the water.

“Julian, Justin, be careful. That one's pretty high.”

The two liked to play exciting games. Other than the two pools, there were various water sports facilities in the mansion's courtyard.

The two boys liked those and were very satisfied.

Julian and Justin were standing on a high platform, waving to Gwendolyn. Julian said, “Mommy, don't worry. We'll be careful.”

Juliette heard Gwendolyn's voice. She turned her head and swam toward the latter.

“Gwen, get in the water. It's so warm inside.”

Gwendolyn glanced at Patrick, but he did not seem to be looking at her. He doesn't even bother to this moment. When Patrick looked this swimsuit better than models. She had already felt that certain feeling crept over him as he into the water and warned water and played with Juliette. Juliette swam to Gwendolyn, and she Gwen's boobs? Aren't they super big over Patrick's eyes. Why is she asking me hurriedly covered Juliette's can't at that part of girls? I'm just reminding Mr. Handsome that Gwen's chest looks good too, blushed. Normally, Juliette won't say things like that. Why is she Gwendolyn heaved a sigh. out his phone, then pretended he was walked Juliette to the children's pool and whispered to her, "Juliette, don't say that in the future. Okay? What did I teach you? Juliette pouted and nodded. "Got it."

Therefore, Patrick said coldly, "Tell her I don't have time to meet her." Then, Liam hung up the phone and said to Felicia, "Ms. Ashton, I'm sorry. Mr. Lowen is busy at the moment and doesn't have time to see you." Felicia could hear the laughter inside. Obviously, Gwendolyn is inside. What could he be busy with? What had Gwendolyn done to have caused Patrick to show up at that critical time as if he was the father of her children? My classmates don't believe me anymore and think that Patrick and she are a family. D*mn it! Felicia gritted her teeth in hatred. However, the door was guarded by some people. If they did not allow her to go in and find Patrick, there was nothing she could do.

Yolanda walked up to her. "Fel, they don't let you in?"

Felicia forced a smile. "They said Patrick was away, and Gwendolyn was his secretary. He brought relatives over to have some fun. One child kept crying, so he asked Gwendolyn to take care of the child."

Yolanda laughed. "I see! I thought she really gave birth to Patrick's child!"

She was willing to give birth to Patrick's child if she could. With this child, even if she could not marry into the Lowen family, she was at least the mother of Patrick's child. Therefore, she would have a significant amount of wealth.

Felicia stepped forward. "Is she worthy of Patrick? She was impregnated by an old man who was about sixty or seventy years old."

In the end, he did not bring himself to ask her that. Sooner or later, he would make sure she had him on her mind all the time.

The two went to the restaurant on the first floor, which had a very unique ambient.

There were large window walls by the dining table covered with a white tablecloth, and there was even a vase with flowers on it.

Obviously, there were private chefs in the restaurant on this floor.

As soon as the two entered the door, a waitress in a black dress and a white apron came to greet them.

“Mr. Lowen, this way please.”

The two of them sat by the window walls where they could see the bamboo forest in the courtyard and the creek behind the bamboo forest.

The environment was impeccable. Gwendolyn wondered if the restaurant they had been to at noon was the same place.

The place looked completely different from how it looked at noon.

Patrick held the menu and was about to order. He already knew what kind of food would be to her liking. Also, she did not seem to like making orders.

Gwendolyn was dumbfounded. That was exactly what she had guessed.

“Okay, I got it.”

The two did not speak after that and dug into their food in silence.

Meanwhile, a few of Gwendolyn's classmates were strolling around after their meals. When they passed by the garden restaurant, they caught sight of the two sitting face to face by the window walls.

The woman looked sweet and lovely, and the man was drop-dead charming.

Patrick scooped some dishes for Gwendolyn from time to time and gazed at her intently before continue eating his meal gracefully.

Seeing that, the few women who stood not far away were all thrilled.

“Wow, Patrick is so gentle to women!”

“I know right! I wish I could be the woman sitting across him!”

“Wait! Why do I feel the girl looks familiar? Isn't that Gwendolyn?”

Yolanda froze for a moment before she exclaimed, “That's her!”

Julian glanced at the man next to him, who fixed his gaze on their mother.

He could tell from that man's affectionate moves that the latter was truly fond of Gwendolyn.

Nonetheless, Gwendolyn seemed like she was clueless about Patrick's feelings for her. Right then, she was still busy reminding the children that it was dangerous to play with fireworks.

In the front yard of the mansion, there was a hot spring pool and some water sports. In that case, the backyard was the best place to set off the fireworks.

Patrick took them to the backyard, and all kinds of fireworks had been properly set up.

Liam was already there with a few bodyguards. As soon as he saw Gwendolyn and the others coming, he lit a few boxes of fireworks that they had prepared beforehand. In an instant, the fireworks shoot straight up before shattering into thousands of colorful sparks, lighting up the night sky.

Gwendolyn was astonished by the captivating scene before her. She had seen fireworks on New Year's eve, but it was the first time she could see them at such a close distance like that night.

Suddenly, she recalled a novel she had read before. The male and female leads had set off fireworks on the top of the mountain all night long.

At that time, she had been wondering how it felt to experience the same. She thought it would certainly be a memorable, blissful moment.

She looked exceptionally stunning, and she was the most beautiful woman he had ever seen.
Looking at her, he felt a moment of peace in his heart as though all his worries had been cleared.
It was past eleven o'clock at night after all the fireworks were set off. The three children were exhausted too.

Gwendolyn brought them back to their room and put them to sleep. Meanwhile, Patrick sat in the yard, holding a cigarette between his fingers.

It was dead silent in the mountain. The only sound they could hear from time to time was the laughter of the people on the opposite side of the mountain who were in the hot springs.

Liam stood aside and accompanied Patrick, looking at the starry sky.

Suddenly, Patrick questioned, "Liam, do you think family affection is more important than love?"

He wanted to marry this woman even though she already had children. The fact did not seem to bother him at all.

However, he could not bear to go against his grandfather who might collapse at any time, as the latter was not in good health.

As a result, he was in a dilemma.
