

CEO Daddy 27

Super CEO Daddy

Chapter 27

Patrick revealed a tinge of surprise when he saw Gwendolyn. However, he regained his calmness in the next second and smiled faintly.

“What a coincidence, Ms. Ashton!”

Gwendolyn was also surprised. Nonetheless, she thought it was normal when she remembered that the man was Felicia's fiancé.

It was the Ashton residence. His appearance there was nothing unusual.

Gwendolyn did not want to talk to him. She remembered that she owed him money, but they were not friends.

She retracted her gaze and strode toward the staircase.

Patrick smiled again with his brows raised, unperturbed by the woman's reaction.

He caught up with her pace immediately and walked next to her. His voice was low with a tinge of amusement.

“Gwendolyn, do you still remember that I'm your creditor? You didn't keep your promise to work in my house when you recovered from your illness. Should I add some interest, then?”

Gwendolyn felt her head start to ache at the mention of that one hundred twenty-five thousand. That was a lot of money to her.

paused in her tracks instantly and glared contract because I'm a kind-hearted person. Someone else wouldn't even care about how much you lose or

day. If she had not her between him and the wall with his hands upon hearing

the kind-hearted person instead? If I had left you his finger. Her pink lips gleamed under the light. It was a tempting sight to behold. He had to urge to thought, he moved his lips closer to quickly pushed him away. “Mr. Lowen, please behave she fell ill the other day and kissed her lips until they got swollen. No one force on her hands, pushing the man away

why he could not your house at six o'clock sharp tomorrow. I don't have time during the

was not discussing with him

said, she went downstairs, not wanting to touched his chest, which Gwendolyn had touched earlier. He could still feel the trace of her

Michael sat on the main seat. Sitting next