Chapter 31

His body was so firm that when he knocked into her, it felt very painful. She put her hand on his shoulder to stand steadily, and their eyes met.

“What kind of punishment would you like? How about increasing the interest of your debt?”

Judging from his behavior, Gwendolyn could tell he had drunk quite a lot. No wonder he sounded strange over the phone. He spoke more passionately rather than in the usual indifferent and cold tone.

Thinking that he was drunk, Gwendolyn helped him to remove his tie.

He felt more comfortable after his tie was removed. Then, he cast his alluring eyes upon her.

“I've drunk quite a lot tonight, and I'm feeling pretty awful now. Do you know how to make a hangover remedy?”

In fact, he did not drink much, as he only drank a glass of white wine. Besides, he had always been a good drinker. He simply wanted to feel how it was to be drunk.

It was as though he could only express his true feelings when he was not sober.

Gwendolyn blinked her big eyes and said, “Yes, I know how to make it. Mr. Lowen, didn't you ask me to come here and do some chores? So, what exactly are the chores?”

It seemed like someone had been cleaning Patrick's house frequently, as it looked pretty clean and neat.
