

CEO Daddy 36

Chapter 36

Patrick watched Gwendolyn rushing over with her heels in her hand like she was prepared to go all out in that fight.

He chuckled softly, thinking she could not possibly be more adorable.

Liam felt as if he had just done something right by showing Patrick the video as soon as he found it.

As expected, Ms. Ashton is indeed Mr. Lowen's type. Mr. Lowen rarely ever smiles, and he always acts like an ice statue. He's so cold he makes me want to quit my job.

"I shall bail Ms. Ashton out right now, Mr. Lowen."

Seeing Gwendolyn being taken away by the police, Liam took the initiative to bail her out. After all, he had nothing to see and everything to gain by pleasing the future wife of the CEO.

Patrick narrowed his eyes after watching the video. Saving her is a must. That girl must be frightened.

Thinking of how he had scared her last night, he decided to personally go to her now. Perhaps it would help her reduce her anger toward him, too.

With that, he stood up and said, "I'll go there myself."

Liam was slightly taken aback. There was, in fact, no need for Patrick to do that personally.
