Sure enough, the call was from a recruiter, and they seemed to be from a company called "Cute Pets." However, Gwendolyn felt a little concerned as she didn't apply to it, nor had she ever taken care of animals.

Nonetheless, it seemed to be a well-known franchise store.

As it was difficult to find work these days, she gritted her teeth and decided to try it out. It was better to be employed, after all.

"Yes, I am. I'll be right over. Please let me know the address," she said.

Gwendolyn ended the call after receiving the information. She then drove over in her car right away.

When she arrived, she discovered that Cute Pets was a massive store. It even had a large parking lot set aside for pet owners in front of the entrance.

It was still in the morning at present. Hence, the area was mostly deserted, save for a few cars.

Gwendolyn, on the other hand, was not surprised. Patrick had been to the Ashton residence to meet the family, and the two had a relationship. Thus, it wasn't unusual for Felicia to appear at his home.

Ignoring her stepsister, Gwendolyn carried the groceries into the kitchen and stored them in the refrigerator.

Felicia followed her the whole time. "Hey? I'm talking to you!"

Gwendolyn found the woman irritating. She picked up a knife and held it against Felicia's neck. "If you value your life, shut it."

The latter's eyes widened in horror as she felt the blade touch her skin. "Y-You maniac! I'm Patrick's fiancée! You'll be in jail if I die, and your triplets will starve on the streets!" She blanched.

Gwendolyn sniggered. "Thank you for your concern, but someone will look after them on my behalf." She applied force on the blade after speaking.

Felicia quickly backed away and screamed while fleeing the kitchen, "S-Someone, save me! Help!"

She felt that Gwendolyn was serious about killing her. After all, in the past, they had done the same things to the woman. If she doesn't die, she will surely turn the knife toward us someday!

Gwendolyn didn't feel like explaining as she was completely disappointed in Zachary.

She didn't want to be his daughter. Hence, when Felicia said that she wasn't a daughter of the Ashton family, she wasn't sad at all.

There was no point in her explaining things anymore. After all, even her grandfather had silently acknowledged that she wasn't one of them.

Alice grabbed Gwendolyn's petite hand. What a pity that she didn't have a privileged background. Look at her exquisite beauty. But, it's all right. As long as she wins Pat's heart, she will belong in the upper class.

Felicia straightened herself proudly. She was extremely pleased as she was now the respected daughter of the Ashtons, and Gwendolyn was no longer a threat to her.

In her knowledge, as a prominent family, the Lowens were bound to take their grandson's wife's background into serious consideration.

Thus, it didn't matter if Gwendolyn had unrestricted access to Patrick's mansion. After all, she could only enter his personal properties. There was no way he could bring her back to the Lowen residence.

Gwendolyn initially planned to prepare dinner first. However, Alice wanted to chat. Thus, she ordered the housekeepers to do the work.

Gwendolyn couldn't stop crying once she started. When she felt his fingers caressing her cheeks, she hurriedly backed away in shock. With that, she sat on Felicia's face accidentally, causing the latter to shriek and jump to her feet.

"Ahh! Gwendolyn Ashton, are you trying to kill me?"

As she had just woken up from her sleep, her voice was harsh and high-pitched. She had forgotten where she was. The only thing she saw was Gwendolyn's buttock moving away from her face. Hence, she reprimanded the latter without any thought.

Gwendolyn stood aside and said indifferently, "I didn't do it on purpose."

They seemed to have forgotten about Felicia's presence previously. It was only now that Patrick noticed her.

"It's true that she didn't do it on purpose. Just go home and rest if you're tired," he clarified, his brows furrowed.

Following that, he rose and remarked, "Grandma, Gwendolyn, it's time for dinner."

Patrick wasn't aware that a woman had treated him as a trash bin.

However, she was merely joking around. After all, she didn't have the guts to do so in reality.

Noticing Felicia's absence, Alice knew that Patrick had made his choice. Naturally, she would support her grandson unconditionally.

After dinner, she was in a hurry to leave the mansion. Before she left, she told Gwendolyn, "Gwen, I should get going now as I turn in early. Besides, I need to accompany my husband too. So, I will leave the dishes to you!"

She cast a meaningful look at Patrick as she said so as if implying to him to seize the chance.

Gwendolyn replied, "Sure, I'll do the chores. Goodbye!"

Alice then left together with a few housekeepers, leaving the entire mansion to Gwendolyn and Patrick.

Gwendolyn was struck dumb by the hit. She nearly screamed when she felt the arms around her waist and his thighs pressing against her rear.

Hearing his words, she narrowed her eyes slightly.

“Let go of me, Patrick. It is none of your business about my positions. If you want to try it, do it yourself!” She twisted her body as she struggled, attempting to break free.

However, it only served to darken the man's expression. Her actions had turned him on.

His lips pursed, and he gave another slap on her buttock.

“Don't move.” His icy voice was laced with a warning tone.

Gwendolyn wanted to straighten up, yet she couldn't do so with Patrick hugging her. The posture began to tire her out.

Infuriated, she threw the books back on the floor. “Let go! My waist is going to break!”

However, her scoldings sounded like an invitation to him. This woman is deliberately seducing me, huh? Such words would only make me excited.

Thus, his arms tightened around her slim waist involuntarily, pressing her down. He closed his eyes to enjoy the touch of her body.

Hearing the sound of water in the bathroom, Gwendolyn sped up her cleaning. Without even vacuuming the floor, she picked up her bag and ran away.

When Patrick came out of the shower, she was already gone. He heard the sound of engines and walked to the window, only to watch her car slowly drive out of the yard.

The corners of his mouth curved slightly. She's avoiding me because she's frightened.

Earlier, he had been sorely tempted to continue what they had been doing, as the touch was very different from his own hands. It was not the same as the doll he had shoved into the deepest part of his closet either.

I'm doomed! It seems like nothing else but her will do for me now.

On the very next day, Gwendolyn woke up in a good mood, feeling excited about her first day at work.

The three kids watched her dress up beautifully.

"Gwen, are you going to start working?" asked Juliette.

At the sight of Kevin, Gwendolyn deliberately made a show of sniffing him. He no longer smelled like shit, and she only caught a whiff of his mild fragrance.

With a faint smile, she replied, "What a coincidence, Mr. Chavez! I work here. Your Biscuit is so pretty!"

Little did she know that a doctor's pet had to go to a veterinary hospital too. After putting Biscuit in a small cage, she took out a purebred male Panderan cat from it.

"Look, Mr. Chavez. This is a Panderan cat that comes from a royal bloodline in Ustrana."

At a glance, Kevin was satisfied with the pure fur color.

"Okay, hurry up then. I'm taking it for a beauty treatment after this."

These wealthy people would rather spend all their money on their pets than donate it to the poor. The world is so unfair, especially for single mothers like me and Lucy. We have it so hard! It's difficult for us to even get by, let alone have all this extra money to splurge.

Gwendolyn put the male cat in the cozy little cage full of red temptations before sitting aside, waiting for them to start.

However, the two cats lay on each side of the cage without even opening their eyes. Seeing that, Gwendolyn wondered if they were not interested in each other.

She turned her head and glanced at the handsome man sitting on the couch drinking coffee. He was dressed casually in white sportswear and a gray down jacket. From his attire, he appeared to not be going to the hospital today.

When Gwendolyn heard Kevin's words, she snapped open her eyes, only to find out that she had indeed stabbed his hand with the needle.

She quickly let go of the syringe in shock. She was sure she had aimed for the cat, so why did it end up on the back of his hand?

Oh, my goodness. What do I do?

Kevin pulled out the needle and tried to keep himself calm as he asked, "What were you supposed to administer to it?"

Gwendolyn started to panic, and her lips quivered.

"A-An aphrodisiac..." she stammered.

Kevin's face paled as he looked at her. His eyes were filled with shock.

"What? You mean for animals?" he exclaimed.

He had never experienced anything like this before. Under normal circumstances, all he needed to do was just eat some medicine to flush it out of his system.

But what could he possibly eat to get rid of a drug for animals?

Soon, Kevin felt weird. His eyes became bloodshot as his body heated up.

Gwendolyn did not know what to do. Thus, she quickly ran outside to look for Maddy. Maddy was also shocked at what happened.

"Quickly, call an ambulance and bring him to the hospital," she said in a hurry.

After calling for an ambulance, Gwendolyn rushed back into the room and noticed that Kevin was drenched in sweat. He was looking at her weirdly.

"Hold on a little longer, Mr. Chavez. The ambulance is coming," she exclaimed.

Kevin furrowed his eyebrows. He felt extremely uncomfortable, but he had to control himself.

I really need to stay away from this lady. We've only met twice, and she made me suffer on both occasions.

When Gwendolyn heard Kevin's words, she snapped open her eyes, only to find out that she had indeed stabbed his hand with the needle.

Nearby, several other people burst into tears as they followed the bed, which was being pushed toward the elevator.

Patrick looked at the frail woman in his arms and said in a cold tone, "Come out right now, Kevin."

He was furious at how Kevin had scared poor Gwendolyn.

As commanded, Kevin walked out proudly. When he saw the scene in front of him, he raised an eyebrow at the woman who had passed out in Patrick's arms.

"She made me suffer, so I just wanted to give her a scare. I didn't realize that she was so weak." He shrugged.

Lucas gave him a punch on the shoulder.

"So, Kev, what's it like to be drugged with an animal's aphrodisiac? I think you can give it a go with Biscuit now," Lucas teased with a snicker.

Kevin whipped his head toward Lucas, his face darkened. He started punching Lucas in anger.

Lucas quickly tried to escape. "I'm just joking, Kev! Stop punching me!" he shouted as he ran away.

However, Kevin did not listen to him at all as he continued chasing after Lucas. It was only after a few more punches that he stopped. Both he and Lucas then stood by the elevator and pressed the button.

Patrick walked over while carrying Gwendolyn in his arms. He still had a cold look on his face. Kevin pursed his lips, for he did not dare to piss Patrick off.

Patrick was funding his laboratory, so if the former decided to stop his funds, Kevin would be dead.

Therefore, Kevin moved aside to make way for Patrick. "I was only trying to scare her a little, Pat."
