

After the Divorce, CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover By Madison King

Chapter 12 Divorce at the court

"It's a shame for such a shameless woman to stay in the Graham family!" said Julian. He couldn't help but clenching his fists.

He had thought that it was too cruel to divorce her all of a sudden since she was an orphan. He had tried his best to make up for her self-giving contributions in the past three years.

Now he only felt that she was disgusting...

He must divorce this shameless woman now!

The uncontrollable anger made the man could not stand her for one more second. He immediately stood up, strode into the car and started the engine.

"Julian, where are you going?" Niki trotted to catch up with him. Her eyes were full of worries.

If Natalie had an affair with another man, she couldn't stay in the Graham family anymore. Now, Julian would definitely not care about the old affection they had before. The position of Mrs. Graham came faster than Niki imagined!

"I have something I need to deal with. Zack, send Niki back to her apartment." After saying that, Julian started the accelerator with a gloomy face, leaving only a figure viewed from behind.

"Miss Linch, this way please." Zack opened the car door for Niki.

Seeing Julian left the Graham family' mansion, Niki changed her worried and soft expression and got in the car in a good mood.

At the same time.

Julian put his slender hands on the steering wheel and called Natalie impatiently.

Philip was hurt in love today and went abroad to heal his wounds. As a friend, Natalie sent him to the airport and immediately hired someone to move the things she had just bought into the Greenlife villa.

Natalie was just lying on the sofa to get some rest. When she saw the phone call from Julian, she raised her eyebrows.

He had checked everything clearly so soon? Was he going to apologize to her?

She answered the phone casually, "So have you checked it all clear..." Before she finished her words, Julian's powerful voice came.

"Now come to the court to get a divorce. I've sent you the location."

"What?" Before she could react, Julian had already hung up the phone.

Get a divorce now?

Although she didn't know what had happened, it meant that she could get rid of the Graham family smoothly. It seemed that Niki had helped her a lot.

She loved that man so much that in the past three years, she had been used to seeing Julian's face and feeling at ease, so it was difficult for her to accept the sudden leave.

It was like a withdrawal reaction.

But since she had decided to wake up from her dream, she had to face it.

Natalie decided to go immediately and wake up from her dream as soon as possible.

At the gate of the court, the man was dressed in a black suit, tall and straight. His deep eyes, straight nose and cold face showed his displeasure.

Wearing a long dress, Natalie saw the man standing in front of the court. The sunlight of this afternoon shone on him, and she was amazed for a moment.

Even if she knew that it was Julian, not the man she was thinking of, her attitude softened unconsciously.

"I'm sorry I'm late. There was a traffic jam on the road."

Julian's face overlapped the man's face in her memory, which made her a little unstable.

She had been relying on her dream for too long. The moment she saw the man's face, her thoughts wavered.

But that was only for a moment, and then it was firmly rejected by her.

Julian looked up and found that Natalie's face was as gentle as every day in the past three years.

It was totally different from the attitude she had when she was at the sales office.

So, she wanted to show her affection and made him would not want to divorce her temporarily because of their old love?

No way! If she could do such a shameless thing, she should know the consequences.

Looking indifferently at Natalie, Julian said casually, "It's useless if you want play for time. You can't delay it for the rest of your life. I want a divorce today."

Hearing this, Natalie smiled, "That's what I think. Let's get a divorce as soon as possible."

No matter how much Julian looked like him, he was not that man after all. Natalie knew that it was useless to deceive herself like this.

It was better for them to divorce earlier.

She hoped that after Niki married Julian, she could take good care of his grandfather and his mother Linda.

Linda temporarily recovered after three years of treatment, but it was still likely to have a relapse.

Julian frowned and squinted at her.

"Then let's get in as soon as possible. We can rest assured if we get divorced early." With a calm face, she looked at Julian. There was no sadness on her face. She finally ended all of this and felt relaxed.

Blue veins stood out on Julian's forehead and his eyes became colder.

Niki was right.

She was so anxious to divorce him that she didn't even bother to pretend to be sad. She couldn't wait to divorce and find another man!

"Okay, let's get inside." His expression was uncertain. He looked at Natalie seriously,
"After our divorce, it's impossible for you to come back to me!"

"Don't worry, I won't come back." replied Natalie indifferently.
