

After the Divorce, CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover By Madison King

Chapter 23 Return to the mansion of the Graham family

"You'd better worry about yourself first.

You don't need to worry about me,' said Niki sarcastically.

Well, Natalie had already reminded Niki of the potential danger of doing this.

Since Niki didn't listen, there was nothing for her to say about it.

"Mr. Smith, I have just finished the record.

Can I leave now?"

"According to the rules, Miss Spears, you can leave now," replied Tim.

Hearing this, Natalie decisively picked up her bag and walked out of the police station.

"Wait!" Niki trotted out of the door.

But she only saw Natalie's back.

"Mr. Smith, why did you let her go?

She is a suspect who has stolen property worth hundreds of millions of dollars.

How can she be released so easily?"

Having failed to stop Natalie, Niki turned around to ask Tim.

She hoped that the sooner Natalie was sent to prison, the better!

"Miss Linch, Miss Spears is not suspected of stealing the diamond ring based on the record just now.

You don't have any evidence to prove that.

According to the rules, we have no right to keep her."

"If you have any situation or evidence, you can contact us in time."

Said Tim with comfort.

“If you can do it well, the Graham family will give you a lot of benefits.”

Niki said with a hint when she found that Tim was stubborn.

The Graham family was well-known in Los Angeles, and Niki believed that Tim must know what she meant.

“This is what we should do. Don’t worry.

The people’s police are serving the people.”

Tim replied sincerely.

It seemed that he really didn’t understand.

“Please carry out the follow-up investigation as soon as possible.

Actually, this diamond ring is too precious.

Otherwise I won’t sincerely hope that you can investigate it as soon as possible.”

Niki still maintained a gentle expression.

But in her heart, she was rolling her eyes..

Why couldn’t he be more flexible!

At this time, another man in blue police uniform came out of the police car.

“Hello, Chief Bates!” Said Tim, bowing to the man who just got off the car.

Chief? When Niki heard this title, she thought he would definitely help her!

She walked past Tim and stood in front of Mr. Bates.

“Sir, nice to meet you. I’m from the Graham family.”

Niki stepped forward and interrupted the man.

She stretched out her slender wrist with a decent smile on her face.

“The Graham family?”

Hearing this, the Chief of the police station hurriedly reached out his arm to shake hands with Niki.

He saw a luxury car parking outside the police station and several bodyguards standing there.

He thought there was something wrong.

So he rushed in.

It turned out to be the Graham family.

“Tim, why didn’t you get her a glass of water?

Go and get her a glass of water!”

Mr. Bates/scolded.

“Oh, okay, I’ll go right away!”

Tim was confused.

Was the Graham family very powerful?

“Miss, please sit here.

I wonder what kind of case the Graham family is reporting.”

Mr. Bates said in an enthusiastic tone.

Tim took a cup of tea and handed it to Niki.

Niki took the tea, took a sip and started saying slowly.

Actually she added a lot of fake elements, exaggerating the story about the diamond ring.

“Mr. Bates, I wonder if we can find out the case today.

This diamond ring is very important to the Graham family.”

Niki said cautiously with her eyelashes trembling.

Hearing what had happened, the chief of the police station was relieved.

The case was easy to handle.

“You’d better come to the scene to investigate today,” added Niki.

When Julian took her to his apartment instead of his house, she knew that he didn’t want Linda to know that she had come back.

She didn't know how long it would take for Julian to persuade Linda successfully!

She couldn't wait!

Niki planned to take the risk of angering Julian and directly bring this matter to Linda.

In this way, she would see how Natalie could rely on Linda to help her!

After Linda was completely disappointed with Natalie, she was able to make Linda accept her.

It was like killing two birds with one stone.

Niki had already made up her mind.

"Don't worry. I will send someone to the scene investigation now

And the result will be found soon.

We will definitely arrest the thief."

Mr. Bates said in a flattering tone.

"Tim, now go to the Graham family with Miss Linch.

You must carefully investigate this matter and get back the Graham family's diamond ring!" the chief said in a dignified tone.

"What about Miss Spears? Asked Tim.

"Ask her to come to the scene, too!"

"It's against the rules, isn't it?"

Said Tim in a low voice, glancing at Niki who was drinking tea.

"Why is it against the rules?

I didn't arrest her.

How dare she steal such an expensive diamond ring?

What will she steal in the future?"

Hearing this, Tim still didn't move.

"Do whatever I ask you to do!

Do you want to quit?"

The man was obviously angry and reproachful.

"Miss Linch, don't mind that."

Said Mr. Bates, bending down.

Niki nodded, "it's okay."

Mr. Bates raised his head and saw that Tim hadn't moved yet.

He sighed, walked up to Tim and pulled him aside.

Then he said in a low voice, "I asked you to mediate. If you can, then reconcile."

When the lady told him the truth, he felt something was wrong.

He had heard of the name of the person who stole the diamond ring mentioned by the lady.

She was the young lady of the Graham family.

Although he didn't know the relationship between this lady and the Graham family, it was absolutely unusual.

He still thought that if the Graham family could be reconciled, then reconciled.

The Graham family was omnipotent in Los Angeles.

If he accidentally offended the Graham family, the whole police station would suffer.

"It's not against the rules to mediate.

I know you hate people who rely on power the most, and I'm not such a person.

Don't you satisfied with what I said?"

"If I don't say so, will Miss Linch's Graham family be satisfied?"

Our police station can't afford to offend the Graham family.

You can do us a favor.”

Hearing this, Tim nodded slowly.

“Tim, remember what I said.

Don’t offend the Graham family when you get there.” Mr. Bates warned again and again.

With a serious look on his face, Tim picked up his phone and began to make a phone call.

“Hello, Miss Spears. I’m from the Los Angeles police station..

I need you to come to the scene.”

The old mansion of the Graham family.

Looking up at the familiar building, Natalie had mixed feelings.

She had thought that she would never come to the Graham family again in her life.

But she had no choice but to come because of Niki.

Niki just wanted to make a scene in the mansion of the Graham family.

And he had a clear conscience.

So she decided to watch the farce for free.

The exchange meeting didn’t end until a long time in the evening.

Julian wouldn’t come at this time.

It was one of the reasons why Natalie was willing to come back to the Graham family’s old house.

She took a deep breath and entered the old house with her head down.

Sitting on the sofa in the living room, Linda was weaving a blanket.

When she raised his head and saw Natalie, she thought she had seen the wrong person.

So she stretched out her hand and rubbed her eyes.

It was Nana!

“Nana? Why are you here? Are you here to see your aunt or to look for Julian?”

When Linda saw the person clearly, she suddenly stood up and grabbed Natalie.

“Julian hasn’t been home for a long time....

I haven’t seen him recently.

I’m calling him back now.”

Linda picked up her phone in a hurry and wanted to make a call.

Auntie, no, please. No need to do this.

I’m not here to look for Julian.”

Said Natalie, who stopped Linda.

She looked around but didn’t see Niki and the police.

Hadn’t they come yet?

“Lily, Nana is here. Bring some cakes that Nana likes to eat.” Linda pulled Natalie to sit down.

She didn’t care why Nana came here.

If Nana came to see Julian, she would be very happy.

Even if not, she would be very happy if only Nana was willing to come.

“Young lady, you are here.”

Lily heard the voice and came out with a lot of cakes and tea.

She suddenly realized that something was wrong.

It was too late to take back the words.

“I’m old and can’t use my brain.

I’m used to calling you like that, Miss Spears.

Please don’t mind it.”

Lily touched her head and said apologetically.

With a faint smile on the corner of her mouth, Natalie said, “It’s okay, Lily. I don’t mind.”

Everyone in this big house was nice to her.

She had left the mansion of the Graham family.

But she had an indescribable complex feeling when she saw the familiar person.

Lily put the cakes on the table and poured a cup of tea for Natalie.

“How’s grandpa recently?”

Asked Natalie, raising her teacup.

“It has been the same since you left.

Recently, he becomes much better and eats more than before.” Linda sighed.

“As soon as you leave, no one talks to me in this big house.

Julian is busy with his company, and it’s normal for him not to go home for a few days.

Now I live like a lonely old man.”

Unda replied, tears rolling in her eyes.

She didn’t know why Nana came back.

But since Nana was willing to come back, Linda felt that there was still room for postponement of the divorce.

Natalie quickly took out a piece of paper to wipe off Linda’s tears.

“Isn’t Lily with you?”

“What’s more, after the divorce procedure is completed, Niki will marry into the Graham family.

At that time, she can accompany you in the Graharn family and help take care of Grandpa...”

“Niki Lynch?”

Linda stopped crying when she heard the familiar name.

Her eyes were full of shock.

When did Niki come back?!!!

Why didn't Julian mention this to her?!

Seeing the expression on Linda's face, Natalie didn't finish his words.

How dared Niki go back to her family after what she had done?

How dared her come back to look for Julian?

Linda was very angry and her lips trembled uncontrollably.

Niki even hoped to marry into the Graham family?

How shameless she was!
