

CEO's Unexpected Wife by Charlie

Chapter 101

/ CEO's Unexpected Wife by Charlie
Chapter 101

Elaine gradually eased herself. When she was arms carried by Issac, she heard his ragged breathing.

He walked quickly up the stairs. It was so quiet that they were inevitably listening to each other's heartbeats.

Issac carried her into the bedroom and pressed her on the bed.

The girl's comely face was tinged with nervousness. She subconsciously pressed her hand against his chest, "Issac."

Issac locked Elaine between his propping arms. He swallowed slightly and said in a hoarse voice, "May I?"

In the dead of night, just a kiss would be enough to make something happen.

Elaine's cheeks were glowing, "."

Issac was covered with a hurt look after detecting her hesitation. He took Elaine's hand over his chest, "Honey, do you really not desire me?"

Elaine only felt that her palms and face were heating. She wanted to wrench her hand from his grasp, but the man held tighter as if he was waiting for a clear answer.

"We are husband and wife. We will never divorce."

Although he could hardly repress his desire, he still wanted to respect her wishes.

Under the passionate gaze of the man, Elaine suppressed her running heart, pinched her lips, and nodded gently...

(In a village pub in S Country]

A graceful figure was leisurely sitting at the table and swirling the wine glass in her hand.

The whole pub echoed with loud music, which made the people of every color drown in this crazy night.

Ingrid picked up her phone to check her bank balance.

After she spent 200000 dollars on finding a fall guy, she had squandered 500000 dollars on enjoying debauchery, and now there were only 300000 dollars left.

It seemed that she had to threaten Serena for an extra million dollars with the recording of their talk.

Ingrid had got a trick up her sleeve to grab more money.

Thinking of this, she smiled evilly and left the pub.

There were both beautiful women and men were soliciting at the entrance.

As soon as Ingrid came out, a few men blocked her path and flatteringly winked at her.

Ingrid glanced at them, randomly pointed at one of them, and walked straight ahead.

She had lost her reputation in Country Z. Since she could do nothing now, she chose to enjoy herself during her escape.

The man she picked immediately followed up. Just as they were passing through a dark alley, the man pulled Ingrid into a corner and began to do his job urgently.

Ingrid didn't discount such outdoor sex. She was happy to enjoy the man's thrusting.

Suddenly, there was a sound of pulling the trigger.

Two gunpoints were pressed against their temples.

The two who were having an orgasm were stopped. They looked at the four men in black standing beside them in astonishment.

When Ingrid's blurred eyes caught sight of what was pressing against her temples, she instantly became frightened.

"Don't..

Before she could finish speaking, the man beside her was pulled away by those men in black while one of them sprayed an unknown gas on her face.

Then she just went blank and passed out.

When she was about to be unconscious, she heard someone say, "Call Mr. Capener and tell him we are done."

That man was speaking the language of Country Z!

[...]

Issac lazily opened his eyes and looked at the sleeping girl in his arms.

He lowered his head and gently kissed Elaine on her forehead.

Last night was a good sign that his honey had accepted his body for the first time.

When he put his lips on hers, the girl frowned and said in half-awake, "No, no..."

He chuckled and stroked her silky hair. Then he whispered in her ear, "There are all bad comments about you outside now, so you'd better stay at home for a while. You can ask the maids to prepare what you need. Do you understand?"

"Okay."

Elaine answered instinctively while not knowing what the man beside her was saying.

Issac got out of bed and picked up the phone on the table.

After he unlocked the screen, he saw the missed call from Ian.

His eyes glinted with coldness. Then he walked into the bathroom in his nightgown.

When Serena opened her eyes, she saw the boring ceiling of the ward. It was bright outside, and the smell of disinfectant water filled the air. She was too weak to move at all.

She remembered that she had gone to ZC Entertainment to look for Elaine, and when Elaine pushed her away, she deliberately missed her footing and fell over the stairs.

Thinking of this, Serena reached out with difficulty to touch her lower abdomen, but she caught a glimpse of a familiar face by the bed.

She widened her eyes in shock and looked in disbelief at Chris, who was sleeping soundly beside her.

To make sure it wasn't an illusion, Serena weakly moved her hand to stroke his hair.

CEO' s Unexpected Wife by Charlie

Chapter 102

/ CEO' s Unexpected Wife by Charlie
Chapter 102

After Chris heard sounds, he opened his eyes. When he saw the pale face, a look of delight flashed across his tired face.

“Serena, are you awake?”

A familiar voice sounded.

Serena was more convinced that it was not a dream. Suddenly, she became excited as she struggled to sit up. “Chris, am I dreaming?”

Chris quickly comforted her in a gentle voice, “No, it’s me. Lie down and don’t move. Would you like some water?”

Serena nodded, but she fixed her eyes on his face.

Chris had never spoken to her in such a gentle tone!

Then Chris helped her sit up, put a straw in the cup, and sent it to her lips. “Drink it.”

Serena bit the straw obediently and drank the water mouthful by mouthful. In fact, she was filled with mixed feelings.

Suddenly, a thought hit Serena, and she grabbed Chris’s arm worriedly. “Chris, where’s our child?”

Chris froze and put more strength on the glass in his hand. “Serena, our child is gone.”

Serena relaxed her grip on his arm and touched her abdomen sadly as if it was a great shock to her. “Why did Elaine do this to me? Why was she so vicious? Why didn’t she let off our baby?”

Chris was worried about Serena and felt resentful that Elaine had caused the accident.

He held Serena and comforted her softly, “Don’t cry, Serena. We will have another child. I’m sorry for making you feel sad. I will treat you better in the future.”

Serena leaned into his arms and trembled as if she was heartbroken.

Chris patted her on the back and comforted her gently, "Don't worry, I'll be with you. I won't let Elaine live in peace."

"Have you seen that vicious woman?"

Serena suddenly asked.

"Yes, she came to the hospital yesterday, but I chased her away."

"Chris, don't you love her very much?"

"I don't love her anymore."

There was a hint of coldness in his tired voice.

After hearing the answer, a slyness flashed through Serena's piteous eyes. She buried her head in Chris's arms and moved up the corners of her mouth, looking smug.

It seemed that while in her coma, everything went as smoothly as she had imagined. Chris hated Elaine and felt guilty about her. Then Elaine's good days were coming to an end.

She won the bet this time.

Serena fixed her eyes on the abdomen and gently stroked it.

"I'm sorry, my unborn child. I had no choice."

[...]

In the bright living room of the Splendid Villa, Elaine sat alone in a trance, holding her phone. On the screen, there was entertainment news about her.

The news dealt with various contents. Some said that the wife of the president of the Lakey Group came to Elaine because she seduced her husband, but Elaine made her miscarriage. Besides, someone clipped yesterday's video, only leaving the scene that Serena staggered back a few steps and fell down the stairs after Elaine pushed her.

Elaine took a deep breath, forcing herself not to overthink. Then she turned off the phone and turned on the television.

It happened to be replaying the latest episode of The Arrival of the Empress, which had her scenes.

Elaine made a lot of efforts to enter the industry and had expected that she would have a bright future. However, troubles came close ranks.

Her reputation was in tatters, and her acting career was nearing the end. However, she felt unreconciled.

As Crystal had foretold, she got into huge trouble.

In the morning, Edward called her. He suspended all her trips and asked her to stay at home and wait for the arrangements. Now Elaine became the target, and there were many nasty comments about her.

Elaine lay on the sofa dejectedly. The scene of Issac kissing her in the living room emerged in her mind, which made her flush in shy.

Suddenly, she sat up and walked quickly towards the bedroom upstairs.

Elaine found out the contraceptive drug she bought in A City and swallowed it.

Although Elaine knew that the medicine was not good for her health, she was not mentally prepared to have a child. She and Issac still needed to warm up to each other, so she wanted to give birth to a baby at the right time.

At this moment, Issac and Thomas made an appointment in Night Light Bar.

Although it was daytime, the Night Light Bar was hilarious as night. It was a luxurious and noisy world, which was completely different from the outside world.

After knowing the course of the incident from Issac, Thomas took a sip of vodka and said helplessly. "Apart from finding convincing evidence, it's hard for Elaine to get through it. If she is silent for too long, the others will believe that she was a mistress and did wrong."

Issac suggested expressionlessly, "ZC Entertainment should keep quiet for the time being and try to collect videos taken at close range from the employees when the incident happened. Besides, you need to release the video that the woman slapped Elaine. As for those exaggerated rumors, you have to clarify them. Now you have to control the public opinion on the internet and don't let it get out of control."

Thomas nodded. "I will try my best to save everything. Anyway, are you going to make trouble with the Johanning Group?"

Issac gave in a grim smile and said in a cold voice, which sounded like a demon, "There has never been anyone who could escape unscathed after hurting my wife."

[...]

In the evening, under the control of the ZC Entertainment company, the exaggerated public opinion gradually disappeared. However, Thomas did not expect Chris's sister, Brianna, to make a statement on the internet, accusing Elaine of being a bitch and mistress.

Thomas, who was keeping an eye on the situation's progress, threw the laptop to the ground with an angry expression on his face.

"Is she crazy?"

"What's wrong? Is there any new rumor on the Internet?"

A gorgeous woman walked into the beautifully decorated living room with two glasses in her hands.

Thomas's boiled down soon. He rubbed his temples tiredly and stood up to greet her. "I didn't expect you to come for me tonight."

CEO's Unexpected Wife by Charlie

Chapter 103

/ CEO's Unexpected Wife by Charlie

Chapter 103

Kelly handed Thomas one of the glasses of wine, then walked to the sofa beside him and sat down, "You know what I'm here for."

Thomas shrugged jealously, "The public voice had been suppressed, but Chris' younger sister popped up."

Kelly frowned impatiently and smiled sarcastically, "Her family is made of drama queens!"

Thomas came to her side and sat down. He took his glass and clinked it with hers. With a hint of seducement, he said, "Will you stay tonight?"

Kelly reached out to block his approaching body and said with a cool expression, "I'm just here to ask about Elaine."

She could not get in touch with Elaine now. If she hadn't met Thomas in the hospital and learned that he was from ZC, she wouldn't have contacted him and come over. Kelly didn't want to have anything to do with him after that night.

"I'm so sad. I can't stop thinking about you."

Thomas covered his chest and sighed bitterly.

Kelly didn't know that he was the boss of ZC Entertainment and still thought that he was just an ordinary employee, an agent like Edward for example.

Kelly ignored his flirting and looked around his place, "Where did you get such a good house?"

Thomas crossed his legs like a big shot and replied casually, "I got it by proper means. What? Are you interested in communicating deeply with me? It's the kind that only enters your body, but not your heart."

"Fuck off"

[...]

It was late at night.

Issac got on the private plane with Ian at a private airport in B City.

"Mr. Tort, they have already controlled Ingrid. According to your order, they only feed her once a day to make her alive."

"Okay."

When the plane took off, Issac slightly lowered his head and his eyes fell on the night sky outside the window. A shadow flashed in his dark and deep eyes.

Since Ingrid had been successfully controlled, he had to find time to go there and deal with it.

He must make sure that she would pay dearly for the pain she brought to Elaine!

It was the next morning.

Elaine woke up alone on the empty bed. The clock on the wall showed it was eight in the morning.

She lifted the cover to get out of bed, walked to the window, and opened the curtains.

At this moment, there were four strong men in black and sunglasses guarding the entrance of the courtyard. Two strong men had been watching over the door of the villa these days, but she didn't expect that there were four more at the entrance today.

It seemed that Issac was really worried about her safety.

Yesterday evening, Issac came back to have dinner with her and said that he was going abroad on a business trip and would not be in Z Country these days, so Elaine had to stay alone these days. Although it was not that easy for someone to find her current residence, he arranged for bodyguards to be prepared for the worst.

Elaine put down the curtains and stretched lazily. Then she turned around and walked away. Her eyes fell on the phone on the table with the screen on.

She picked up her phone and glanced at it. There was a piece of news, which was nothing more than the events that had been hyped these days.

It said that because Elaine was the spokesperson of the advertisements made by YW Group and ZC Entertainment, YW would remove all the advertisements now. YW Group took the lead to do this, and that made the companies that wanted Elaine to endorse and shoot advertisements for them also canceled their appointments. Everyone was saying that Elaine had offended the business world and would definitely not have a chance to turn over a new leaf.

Only Elaine knew that the cooperation between YW and ZC was promoted by Lakey Group behind the scenes. Now they suddenly canceled the cooperation, which must be partly because the Lakey Group proposed it.

After reading the news, Elaine turned off the page without changing color, then stood up and walked towards the bathroom.

The news listed the companies that had canceled their cooperation with her, but there was no Jasmine Group, which made Elaine a little curious.

On the other side, Owen, who had been concerned about recent events, was casually browsing through all kinds of negative news about Elaine in the CEO office of the Jasmine Building.

When he swiped down to the comments of curses, Owen yawned and then turned off the page. A faint smile appeared on his lips and he muttered in a low voice, "What an unlucky wild kitty."

"Knock, knock, knock."

There was a knock on the door.

Owen came back to his senses and replied coolly, "Come in."

Just then, a gorgeous figure pushed the door open and entered.

"Owen."

Irene came up to the sofa in the office and sat down gloomily.

Owen glanced up and raised his eyebrows curiously, "What? Are you forced to go on a blind date again?"

Irene rested her head on one hand and shook her head tiredly, "No. It's because the ratings of The Arrival of the Empress have dropped drastically these days."

"Oh? Is it because of that newcomer Elaine?"

"Yes, she's the main cause. Hey, when did you begin to pay attention to things in the entertainment circle?"

Owen casually opened the contract, "It spread all over the city. It's hard for me not to pay attention because of the media's coverage."

However, he was paying attention all the time.

Irene pinched her red lips thoughtfully, "Speaking of this, I remember that we made her advertise for our products a while ago. YW has removed her advertisement. Will we do this?"

"No."

There was almost no hesitation in his answer.

Before Irene could ask, he went on to give his perfect reason, "What happened in the entertainment circle has nothing to do with the Jasmine Group. Since the advertisement has been finished and the money has been paid, just let it go."

Irene's eyes flashed, "Our Jasmine Group is indeed unique. At least it won't be too embarrassed for Elaine if we don't remove her advertisement. Now we just wait for ZC to state their stand and see if the ratings of the The Arrival of the Empress can get back up."

"Irene, did you have any contact with Elaine on the set before?" Owen suddenly threw out such a question.

Irene nodded and looked sideways at him, "Of course, I have a good relationship with her. I invited her to my last birthday party. And the news on the Internet, I was with her that day when it happened. But I went to look for the security guard and missed the thrilling scene."

The strange light in Owen's eyes suddenly disappeared and he naturally asked, "Really? Do you have her personal number?"

He was just thinking about how to get in touch with the hidden wild kitty.

"Yes."

Irene stood up and took out her phone. She quickly found Elaine's number in the address book and handed it to Owen, "This number is hers. Well, what do you want her number for? Even if you want to cooperate, you don't have to do it personally, do you?"

Speaking of that, Irene stared at Owen with a searching look.

CEO's Unexpected Wife by Charlie

Chapter 104

/ CEO's Unexpected Wife by Charlie
Chapter 104

Owen quickly remembered her number, then calmly looked away and continued to read the contract on the table. "Instead of being curious about what happened to me, it's better to mind your own business."

Irene put away her phone unhappily. "I'm not worried. It's mom and dad who are in a hurry. I'll tell them I have a sweetheart when I get back."

"Oh? I think they won't believe you."

"They will!"

Irene pretended to be angry, then turned to walk out of the office.

It was not until the office door was closed did Owen put down the contract and quickly took out his phone to dial the number he had just remembered.

The phone was soon connected and a familiar and pleasant female voice came, "Hello."

Owen curled his lips. "Elaine."

Elaine, who was on the other side of the phone, was confused. "May I ask who you are?"

As soon as she changed her phone card, the call came. She thought it was from Issac, who was on a business trip.

"Some lady-killer from the Jasmine Group." Owen teased.

Elaine immediately understood. "May I ask what's the matter, Mr. Jasmine?"

She felt it strange that he had her private number.

Owen stood up slowly and walked to the window. "Elaine, you have had a lot of negative news recently."

Elaine pressed her lips and replied calmly, "If Mr. Jasmine wants to take down the advertisement, you don't have to tell me. It's up to you."

"I don't mean that. I'm calling to comfort you. How are you these days?"

Although he said so, his tone sounded indifferent, as if he was gloating.

"Very good! Thanks for your concern."

Elaine was grateful if he didn't make trouble.

"You are now the hot topic on the Internet and it looks like it's going to take a while. Your company is really disappointing."

Elaine took a deep breath. "If there's nothing else, I'll hang up first."

She didn't want to hear his tease or sneer. She preferred to talk about meaningful things.

Thinking about how angry Elaine was now, Owen's smile deepened. "Don't worry. You can't stand still in the entertainment circle if you are impatient."

"Really? But it's none of my business. I don't even have a chance to stand in there now." She said in self-deprecation.

"I can give you a chance to stage a comeback."

Owen suddenly said this.

Elaine was slightly shocked and blurted out, "What chance?"

"It's very easy. Be my woman and I can stand up for you. This will not only help you get rid of your current predicament but can also stop those rumours about being the mistress. Jasmine Group will cooperate with ZC Entertainment to support you again. People will forget the Johanning Group's daughter's miscarriage after a long time. You."

Before he could finish speaking, Elaine interrupted him, "No, thank you for thinking so highly of me. I'm sorry that I'm not interested in your words at all. Goodbye."

The call was quickly hung up.

Owen took the phone away from his ear and showed a meaningful smile.

"Elaine, I'm more interested in your stubborn personality."

[]

On the other side, after hanging up Owen's call, Elaine threw her phone aside and muttered, "Inexplicable."

Then, she walked to the closet to choose clothes.

Her period would come in these days. She had to buy some sanitary pads, and then took a look at the coffee shop. Otherwise, she would feel too lazy if she stayed at home for too long.

Soon, Elaine changed into casual clothes and walked downstairs excitedly with her wallet, wearing a cap and a mask.

"Creak!"

As soon as she pushed the door open, two strong men in black immediately blocked her way. "Mrs. Tort, it's better not to go out. Mr. Tort said that you shouldn't go out during this period of time."

Elaine frowned slightly. "But I have to buy something"

"I can buy it for you if you need."

Elaine looked away awkwardly. "... It's not convenient for you to buy a woman's thing."

Then the two bodyguards did not continue to ask. After discussing with other colleagues for a while, they finally decided to accompany her out.

The two bodyguards sat in the driver's seat and the passenger seat respectively, then slowly drove away from the villa.

When the car left Splendid Villa, Elaine was shocked to accidentally see four men in black sunglasses standing at the entrance of Splendid Villa.

She didn't expect that even the gate was guarded. Would Issac be too considerate?

This rich area already had enough security, but he still hired so many bodyguards himself. Didn't he tell other owners that there were extraordinary people living in their villas...

"Mrs. Tort, are we going downtown?"

"Well... Forget it. Let's go to the street near JY Road. I have to go to the coffee shop later."

"Okay."

[]

At this moment, Chris's mother, Lily, was sitting by the bed in the bright and tidy ward, holding Serena's hand lovingly.

"Serena, just tell me what you want to eat these days so that the maid can prepare it for you."

"Okay, thank you, mom."

"Serena, are you okay?"

Brianna came in with a fruit basket.

Serena smiled slightly and looked much gentler than usual. "I'm fine. The doctor said that I can be discharged if I don't feel uncomfortable for a few more days."

"That's great."

Brianna came to the bed and sat down. She couldn't help but share her joy with Serena. "Elaine has been hiding somewhere these days. Many people are scolding her online."

As soon as she finished speaking, Serena's expression froze. She pretended to be uncomfortable and turned away. She covered her mouth with her hand and cried, "Brianna, don't mention that woman in front of me in the future."

Lily glared at Brianna, then quickly comforted Serena, "Serena, don't be sad. You will have another child in the future. Elaine won't come to a good end! You and Chris are too soft-hearted. You should have called the police to arrest her!"

Serena lowered her eyes and shook her head gently. "Elaine is Chris's ex-girlfriend anyway. I don't want to make everyone embarrassed, let alone Chris. If I hadn't gone to her, she wouldn't have pushed me down because of conscience."

Lily sighed reluctantly. "Serena, you're such a kind child. Chris will treat you well in the future, but you can't compromise on calling the police. Elaine had killed the Lakey family's child, your child! If you don't teach her a lesson, she may hurt you in the future!"

CEO's Unexpected Wife by Charlie

Chapter 105

/ CEO's Unexpected Wife by Charlie

Chapter 105

"Yes, Serena, you must call the police," Brianna echoed.

Serena hesitated for a moment. Then with a sly gleam in her eyes, she nodded and said, "I'll do as you say after I get better, mom."

"Good girl."

Lily patted the back of her hand contentedly. "Fortunately, Chris broke up with her. There's no telling what trouble that malicious woman will bring if she marries into our family. You are through and through the right one for Chris."

Serena lowered her head shyly. "Thank you, mom. It's really nice of you to say that."

"Where's my brother? Hasn't he come to the hospital today?" Brianna asked.

At the mention of Chris, Serena beamed with happiness. "He was here but I sent him to buy me some snacks."

Brianna jested, "Wow, my brother really dotes on you, doesn't he?"

[...]

Covered from her head to feet, Elaine arrived at a supermarket. for more visit :- To avoid drawing too much attention, she left the bodyguards in the car and entered the supermarket alone.

When she was selecting the goods she needed before a shelf, five girls walked past her talking and laughing.

Elaine pulled her hat low and turned sideways to make room for them.

"Elaine is such a bitch. It's been three days and she just plays dumb."

"It doesn't matter. She's a social pariah now."

"How could she be so black-souled?"

"Jealousy must have warped her judgment."

Elaine stayed still and heard every word they said. She clutched the handle of the shopping basket subconsciously without any palpable emotions on her face.

After they went far, she randomly threw several packs of pads into her basket and moved to the shelves for snacks.

She pulled down her mask slightly and grabbed a few packets of her favorite snacks. As she turned around, a familiar figure came into her sight.

The moment their eyes met, both of them were stunned. Elaine swiftly lowered her head and lifted her mask up.

However, she was in such a fluster that the elastic band of the mask got snagged on her finger and the mask was pulled off her face, falling to the ground.

Elaine froze and stopped breathing.

Ridicule crept over Chris's eyes as he leaned against the shelf and looked at her. "I wasn't expecting to run into you."

His voice sounded distant and cold.

Elaine didn't reply to him. Without picking the mask, she turned around to leave.

Who'd have known she'd bump into Chris in such a large supermarket?

Unfortunately, before she made it to the end of the narrow passage between two shelves, she saw the five girls just now walking right toward her.

She panicked and stopped in her tracks, ducking her head immediately.

These girls had talked about her just now and she was afraid that they might humiliate her in front of everyone after recognizing her.

She stayed put helplessly and quietly, praying that they could brush past her without noticing her, but suddenly, a shiny leather shoe came into her view and her heart sank.

A mask was handed to her and as if the man meant to draw those girls' attention, he said in a resonant voice, "Miss, you dropped your mask."

The five girls unsurprisingly shifted their eyes to Elaine.

They noticed that she was excessively bundled up.

Elaine didn't take her mask. She pulled her hat lower and planned on beating it as fast as she could.

However, Chris grabbed her by her wrist and said, "Why do you look so nervous? You're not a thief, are you?"

"Let go of me!" Elaine hissed.

She lifted her head and glared at him, struggling to disengage her wrist from his grip.

One girl's eyes lit up. She pointed at her and shouted excitedly, "Look, the side chick!"

"Gosh, it's really Elaine!"

“Stop her! I’ll post it on Twitter!”

Elaine’s heart skipped a beat. She flung off Chris’s hand with all her strength and dropped her shopping basket, bolting to the exit of the store.

Those five girls put down their baskets and caught up with her.

“Stop, bitch! You actually have the balls to show up in public!”

“It’s been three days. You should at least apologize to the woman who suffered a miscarriage because of you!”

“There’s nothing more repulsing than women like you! You’re going to learn your lesson today!”

[...]

The curses faded as the girls ran away. One side of Chris’s mouth pulled up into an ironic smile as he recalled how terrified Elaine had looked. for more visit :- He then casually threw the mask to the ground.

Before he strode away, he glimpsed the pads in the basket and frowned a bit.

Although they’d broken up, he still remembered that she suffered cramps every time her period came.

It didn’t matter now. Elaine had ruined all his love for her.

‘Elaine, don’t blame me. You had it coming!

Elaine stormed out of the supermarket and the cursing of those girls followed all the way behind her. She ran faster and the wind blew across her ears.

Screech!

A black SUV rounded the corner and came to a halt before her.

The rear door was opened and a bodyguard waved at her. “Madam, get in the car.”

Elaine’s eyes glistened as she saw hope and she quickly got into the car.

Before the girls kept up with her, the driver stomped on the gas pedal and the car quickly disappeared from their sight.

[for more visit :- ...]

[At the same time]

[In a secluded village in S Country]

A gray Maybach slowly drove into an abandoned and dark warehouse.

People hiding in the dark lifted their guns vigilantly, every one of them on high alert.

A young man in a suit came out of the passenger seat.

He scurried to the back seat and bent slightly to open the door in a respectful manner.

A long leg stepped out of the car first and then a man with a flawless face came into sight.

Issac looked around aloofly and asked as he straightened his suit jacket, "Where are they?"

Ian made a secret motion to beckon those in the dark out.

"Mr. Capener."

A fierce-looking young man walked forward and greeted Ian in a friendly tone.