C 21 God Should Not Be So Unfair

“We’ve misunderstood ma’am. She had no other choice but to work at the Blue Sea Entertainment Club.

“George Johnson had harbored bad intentions ever since the beginning and even appointed ma’am to work at the VIP room to serve him.

“He has been using various ways to take advantage of her, but ma’am has been trying her best to prevent it.

“Other than that, in order to get enough money for Olivia’s treatment, she even signed a contract stipulating that if she doesn’t return the money in seven days, she would have to sell herself instead...”

Aiden Wilson started shivering as he spoke.

All of this information was given to him by Leon Williams, the soldiers at the garrison state of Colorado as well as the staff at the Blue Sea Entertainment Club.

It was definitely the truth!

It could be said that Emilia never compromised herself for money.

However, the words that came from Oliver Walker ever since he returned was the one that crushed her last hope!

As Oliver Walker heard what was being told on the phone, the look on his face kept changing. The truth was exactly what he assumed.

How would it be possible that his wife ended up doing such things?

This was all his fault!

He has made a terrible mistake!

At that instant, he turned around and stared at Emilia who looked desperate. His nose turned sore, and there were tears rolling down his cheeks!

He was feeling extremely guilty, and it was flowing out of his heart continuously!

Bakk – –

As he was feeling emotional, his phone fell to the ground!

How much did his wife suffer?!

Then, without any hesitation, he rushed forward with the hope of holding his wife in his arms and giving her the warmest embrace.

But, Emilia had a determined look on her face as she moved aside!

Just as cruel as how Oliver Walker was the night before!

Oliver Walker regretted what he did as he said to Emilia, “Emilia, I...”

He wanted to make up for his mistake!

He wanted to fix this marriage!

Even if it meant that he had to give up everything else! He didn't care!

He could not betray his wife who waited for him for 8 long years!

From the bottom of his heart, his feelings for Emilia never changed. What more after hearing such news?

Emilia lifted her head and looked at the man before her with her teary eyes.

Her heart already stopped beating!

How could she still feel anything?

She felt calm!

The calmness was extremely scary!

This calmness frightened Oliver Walker.

He never felt so frightened!

Whoosh...

Right at that moment, the right light above the door to the operating theater turned green.

Emilia suddenly had emotions in her eyes as she stood up and ran to the door!

As for the words that Oliver Walker wanted to say, he didn't get the chance to convey them because the surgery had just ended. It was no longer the right time for him.

No matter if it was for him or Emilia, Olivia's safety was more important than anything else!

Dinggggggg!

As the automated sterile door opened, both their hearts were incredibly nervous.

When James Floss appeared before them, Emilia anxiously asked, "Dr. Floss, Olivia...how is Olivia?"

Olivia was everything to her!

Even if Oliver Walker had betrayed her!

Their child was innocent, and this was her daughter as well!

No matter what, the marriage was at this stage because of that damn disease!

If Olivia was not sick, she would not be forced to work at the club.

If she didn't work there, Oliver Walker would not have misunderstood her as a shameless sl*t when he returned!

The ending would be completely different!

However, there were no 'ifs'!

Oliver Walker felt the same as well. Now that he had learned the truth, if Olivia recovered from this, Emilia would not hate him. This would mean that there was still a chance for this family!

However, if anything were to happen to Olivia, the woman who had suffered for so long, would treat Oliver as her enemy!

This was not the result that he wanted!

God should not be so unfair to him!

22 A Cruel Father

“The patient is no longer in danger now!”

James Floss removed his mask and said, “Once the anesthesia wears off, she should be awake soon, but she has to be on bed rest. It’s best if she is in a happy state now so that her body’s immunity can be strengthened. This should be able to stop the disease from relapsing.”

After hearing so, Emilia smiled. As long as her daughter was fine, everything that she did before would be worth it!

Oliver Walker let out a breath of relief as well. Everything was fine as long as she was safe now!

“But...”

Soon, there was another turning point, “The patient shouldn’t wait any longer. We’ll have to arrange for another surgery.

“I already settled the arrangements to get a matching bone marrow donor. We should be able to get the results soon.”

Dialysis itself would not be able to cure leukemia.

The most critical part here would be to find a compatible bone marrow, or else, the rest would be nothing but a waste.

“Thank you, Mr. Floss!”

Then, Oliver Walker spoke instead, “There’s no need for the bone marrow.

“If we do another surgery, it would further injure Olivia’s inner ‘Qi’.”

They weren’t on such an urgent timeline now.

He would get one of his apprentices to get here soon so that they could treat his daughter with Chinese traditional medicine.

If he didn't get injured 4 years ago, there would be no need for them to be in the hospital now.

"But..."

James Floss frowned as he said, "The patient is already in a terminal stage. If we don't arrange for the surgery, it could cost her life!

"Plus, she's extremely weak now, and it's not suitable for her to be moved to another hospital."

If it was anyone else, he wouldn't say a word.

But, this man?

He was the VIP who got Leon Williams so worked up. If anything were to happen to Olivia, the consequences would not be that simple.

He didn't think that it was because Oliver Walker couldn't afford it since Leon Williams already mentioned that he would be paying for it.

It was obvious that this man had his own plans, and it was most likely that he didn't trust the doctors at Colorado's First Hospital.

"ENOUGH!"

Emilia screamed, "If you can't afford it, I can!"

"Even if it cost me everything, I would be willing to do so! She is my daughter, and this has nothing to do with you!"

She knew it! She knew that she could not depend on this man.

He clearly wanted them to give up on the treatment, and he was giving such excuses!

This was their daughter....No! This was her daughter!

Her life and her inner 'Qi'? What was more important was a no-brainer!

Her eyes were filled with hatred!

“That’s not what I meant!”

Oliver Walker knew that his wife had misunderstood him, and he quickly tried to explain, “What I meant was...”

Emilia stopped him.

“I don’t want to hear your explanation. I don’t mind that you have been gone for the last eight years without sending a single message home.

“But, I didn’t think that you would give up on your daughter’s life!
“Are you still human?!”

“My mother was right. You are a cruel man!

“I will never forgive you!

“I will never allow Olivia to forgive you her entire life!

“You don’t deserve it!”

Emilia was extremely angry with Oliver Walker because she had high expectations of him!

She waited for him for eight long years. How much did she suffer all these years?!

But...what did she get in return?

She got a cold, irresponsible response. Was this a punishment from God?

“I...”

Oliver Walker did not want the misunderstanding to get any further. He wanted to explain himself.

However, Emilia has already lost her patience and coldly pushed the man away.

She turned around and said, “Mr. Floss, please save her!

“No matter how much it costs, I want to save Olivia!

“As for the money.....I’ll get them as soon as possible!

“Please trust me. Please find her a donor as soon as possible so that we don’t waste any precious time!”

She had already lost it!

Although she didn’t have the money now, she would think of something soon.

As for Oliver Walker, she had already lost hope in him.

23 Other Intentions

So what if she promised George Johnson?

At least she could still save Olivia!

It definitely wasn’t worth it to keep her own dignity for a man like him who tried to give up on his own daughter’s life!

James Floss frowned as she said, “Miss Davis, I will definitely try my best.”

He was indeed confused!

However, he didn’t dare to interfere between Oliver Walker and Emilia.

From the looks of it, the argument seemed pretty serious.

But before he left, he still felt that something was amiss, and he quickly added, “Miss Davis, all of the bills have been paid for. You don’t have to worry about it.”

Emilia’s body froze, “They have been paid?”

After hearing so, she looked at Oliver Walker suspiciously. There was some warmth that appeared in her cold eyes.

Could it be that this man was not as bad as she thought?

If she could, she would obviously hope that this man, whom she loved, would allow her to have hope for this marriage.

“I’ve already told you that you don’t have to worry about the money.”

Oliver Walker continued with a serious tone, “Olivia is my daughter as well. I will not give up on her.”

He was hoping that he could clear up the misunderstandings so that his wife would forgive him.

After all, everything that he had said the night before must have been like adding salt to her wound.

He.....had been impulsive!

Emilia’s throat felt like there was something stuck in it. There was a heartache in her that she couldn’t describe.

Her beautiful eyes flickered.

“That’s true!”

James Floss continued, “When Mr. Walker brought Olivia to the hospital, Mr. Leon Williams already paid for everything.”

This meant that Emilia should know who Oliver Walker was.

After all, there wasn’t anyone else in Colorado who could make Leon Williams work for them.

How great would that person have to be?

“Leon Williams?”

Emilia felt as if she was stuck by lightning and was frozen on the spot. All of the hopes in her that she had just found had been crushed once again.

When she was the CEO of Davis Corporates, she had been in contact with Leon Williams.

However, this man used to be interested in her, and he even proposed to her.

As she related it to how Leon Williams went against George Johnson, could it be...

She didn't dare to continue her thoughts.

In fact, this was the truth. Emilia used to be a genius in their field, and she was the Goddess of Colorado.

After getting divorced, Leon Williams actually thought about marrying her, but after getting rejected, he never brought it up again.

However, this time, it definitely wasn't because he still had feelings for Emilia Davis.

This was because Oliver Walker had returned, and Leon Williams wanted to get close to him.

All businessmen were cunning. Why would they do things without getting anything in return for it?

If Oliver Walker was only a poor man, why would he help?
All these years, when Emilia became a beggar, he didn't reach out to her as well.

It was not worth it for him to be enemies with Davis over one woman!

In the end, it was all for the benefits that came along with it!

James Floss assumed that Emilia had understood and finally left.

From beginning to end, he had been respectful.

This was because Emilia was the wife of the VIP who could make Leon Williams kneel!

Oliver Walker said sincerely, "The only reason why I don't want Olivia to get the surgery is because I have a better treatment plan!"

He was trying his best to explain. He was only hoping that his wife would believe him once more.

"Enough!"

Emilia had enough of it as she said, "I will not give up on Olivia, and I will not give you the money that could save her life so that you can waste them on something else."

“Give up on it already!”

From her perspective, this man was hopeless. He wasn't sincerely remorseful, but he had other intentions.

Perhaps the next sentence that he would say would be something horrible like, 'Even if we lose this child, we could still have another one.'

She already lost all hope in this man, and her heart had turned cold.

24 Olivia, Don't Be Scared

Oliver Walker took a deep breath as he could relate to what Emilia must be feeling.

In order to regain her trust, he would have to first treat Olivia's condition!

After a while, Olivia was transferred to a VIP ward by the nurse. Oliver and Emilia both entered the room.

The atmosphere inside the room was cold. Oliver Walker wanted to speak to her, but Emilia was being distant and cold. She pushed him far away.

In the end, he couldn't speak at all even when he wanted to!

For now, he could only wait until their daughter woke up!

Time passed quickly, and at about 10 at night, Olivia, who looked pale and was lying on the bed, moved her fingers.

These movements were small, but they affected both their hearts!

“Olivia!”

Oliver Walker could no longer hide his joy as well. He really wanted to tell his daughter that her father stayed by her side the entire time like a soldier who became her guardian.

However, Emilia was faster, and she held Olivia's hands.

She used to be a strong woman!

When Davis placed the ban, she did not allow it to break her!

Life had not caused her to lower her dignity!

But now, she had to let it all go!

Her daughter, who was in her sick bed, was her only solace.

Due to the medication, Olivia who was already asleep for 6 hours did not seem to be conscious yet.

This caused both Oliver and Emilia to be disappointed.

Inside the room, it got so quiet that they could only hear each other's heartbeat.

“Daddy.....daddy...”

Suddenly, Olivia, who was still asleep, started moving her lips. Her voice was soft that even Emilia, who was by her bed, and Oliver, who stood close by, did not hear her clearly.

But, both of them knew that their daughter spoke.

Emilia worriedly asked, “Olivia, what is it that you want?”

“You can tell mummy about it, and once you wake up, I’ll....I’ll buy the fluffy lamb plushie you wanted!

“This is all my fault. I can’t even buy the toys that you like.

“I...”

As her memories flashed back, she felt incredibly heartbroken and guilty.

Back then, Olivia was only 5 years old. She stood in front of a toy store and looked at a huge plushie. Her eyes were filled with envy.

She wanted to satisfy her little girl. The plushie wasn’t a big one, but it cost 50 dollars.

She remembered clearly that she didn’t have enough money. Even with all the pennies she had, she only had 39 dollars in total.

When she took out all of her money and placed them in her palms, she would never forget how the people were staring at her with contempt.

But, the sweet girl Olivia said something that she would remember her entire life, “Mummy, I don’t really want it. I just wanted to look at it!”

That was Olivia’s fifth birthday!

What would a 5-year-old child understand?

Olivia couldn’t even speak properly, but this broke Emilia into tears!

This was the reason why she didn’t want to forgive the man standing beside her.

As for Olivia Walker, he noted down how Olivia wanted a fluffy lamb plushie in his heart.

He wanted his daughter to have the plushie that she liked tomorrow morning as soon as she woke up!

“Daddy....”

“I want.....I want daddy...”

Olivia, who was on her sick bed, sounded a little louder, but her consciousness was still a little blurry.

Oliver Walker’s heart was in his mouth.

He felt incredibly guilty as he repented in a trembling voice, “Daddy’s here. Daddy will always be here, and I will never leave again. Don’t be scared, Olivia!”

25 Lost Hopes

It was as if Olivia could hear him, and her lips curved upwards, revealing a beautiful smile that was etched on their hearts.

“Did you know?”

Emilia couldn’t hold it in anymore as she said, “When Olivia was four, she kept asking me why she didn’t have a father!”

“I lied to her and said that you were a hero who was fighting in Indiana, protecting the country!

“When she turned five, she would envy other children who had fathers!

“When she turned six, she wanted to learn how to write so that she could write you letters!

“Then, when she turned 7, she wrote them with syllables and punctuation before passing them to me so that I could send them to you!

“This year, she found those letters inside the closet. I didn’t send any of them because I didn’t want you to worry about us!

“But, she never blamed me for it. She continued writing the letters and still passed them to me. She would always ask for her father whenever she fell asleep!

“This is because you were her pillar of strength!”

After all these years, how much resentment did she have for Oliver?

All of them were rushing out of her like a tsunami as she asked, “Ask yourself from the bottom of your heart. Do you deserve to be her father?”

Inside her beautiful eyes that were filled with tears, she was standing up for her little girl!

She felt bad that she waited for this man for the past 8 years!

She was indignant at this bastard!

There was a storm inside Oliver’s heart. If he didn’t hear them from his wife, how would he know all these?

He lowered his head without giving any explanation!

He might have been a hero for the country, but he was a criminal for his family!

“Hmph.....”

There was a self-loathing smile that appeared on Emilia's pale face, "If you are still a man, please leave this family with all your lies. Allow Olivia to only remember that her father is a hero!

"And not an asshole who abandons his wife as soon as he returns even when she waited on him for 8 long years!"

For this family, she had been standing tall no matter how bad the storm was. She held onto it for 8 years. When she got tired and wanted someone to depend on, it was not what she had hoped for.

Oliver Walker's eyes were wet as well. He did not interrupt his wife and kept his silence.

What right did he have now to explain himself?

The only thing that he could do now was repent and be penitent."

The night was quiet!

But, it was messing around with these sensitive hearts!

Emilia rested her head on Olivia's bed, and soon, she fell asleep as she was overwhelmed with exhaustion.

She was having a sweet dream!

She dreamt that Oliver Walker had returned from the frontlines in Indiana!

He came home with honor and glory. He hugged her tightly and completed his promise about giving her a complete home.

She cried!

After 8 years of pain and suffering, she was no longer at the age where she believed in a fairytale ending, but she still nodded her head.

This was because, from the very beginning, she never lost her love for that man.

Even if she was already wounded, he was still the man whom she kept buried in her memories!

When the sun rose, Emilia lifted her head, and she was smiling as she said, "I do. I agree to be your wife..."

However, the next thing that greeted her was the empty room, and she was the only one in the room with Olivia. That was when she realized that it was all a dream.

Her smile turned cold. Her eyes were sleepy before everything slowly turned clear.

How could it be possible that he would take responsibility for this?

It was good that he left as well. At least, she...

Would not have any more hopes for the future!

But, why did she feel an aching pain coming from her chest?

Why did it hurt so bad?

As she looked at Olivia, who might be asleep or was still unconscious because of the anesthesia, tears started coming out of her eyes.

She hated herself for being so weak. She always had tears that would never dry out!

That man! He did not deserve this!

Yikkkkk...

Suddenly, there was a sound that came from the door, and it shocked Emilia. That pair of eyes that had lost all hope suddenly looked expectant at the door that was opened wide.
