Chapter 43 The Last Hope

"Ummm..."

Hendrich Smith was stunned, but he quickly answered, "I understand. I shall call you Mr. Walker!"

When they were in Indiana, he was used to addressing Oliver Walker as his master, and it would be difficult for him to change it now.

However, he still had to obey his master's words.

"En!"

Oliver Walker nodded his head and said, "Alright, you can leave now."action

Oliver Walker was never one who was high profile. Otherwise, he wouldn't have left the frontline when the battle was about to end and rushed home before the coronation.

However, this was a good chance as well. Once Olivia recovered from leukemia, he would be able to live a normal life with Emilia.

"Mr. Smith! Take care!"

As Hendric Smith left the corridor, James Floss bowed and sent him off.

After learning that Oliver Walker might be someone important as well, James Floss acted even more respectfully, "Mr....Mr. Walker, I....I'll go in now and talk....to Miss Davis?"

He was confused!

He had no idea how to address them!

Oliver Walker was the master of Hendric Smith, and Emilia was Oliver Walker's wife. He really had no idea how to address Emilia!

In the end, he decided that Mr. Walker and Ms. Davis were the safest choices.

"Just tell her that an invitation is needed. Try to make it as difficult as possible for her to get to the event!"

Oliver Walker frowned as he continued, "Remember not to give her an invitation. Just say that it has already been sold out."

This was definitely a lie, but he had no other choice.

He was only hoping to be part of the family as soon as possible so that he could protect them.

It might be a little nasty, but he didn't bear any ill will.

"Mr. Walker, please rest assured. I will resign from my position as a punishment if I can't even get such simple things right!"

James Floss was the director of the First Hospital. Other than being a good doctor, he was also a quick-witted man.

This man was definitely an intelligent one.

He took a deep breath to mentally prepare himself to enter the ward. This was a chance for him to boost his reputation in the future. He had to grab onto it.

After settling his emotions, he pushed open the door and walked into the room with a solemn look on his face.

"Mr. Floss!"

When Emilia saw who it was, she got up anxiously and asked, "Did you find the bone marrow?!"

She just wanted to treat Olivia.

Nothing else was as important as that!

Plus, they had the money for it now!

She had nothing left, and she only wanted Olivia to get better. No matter if it was George Johnson or Leon Williams, it didn't matter.

"Ms. Davis!"

James Floss looked worried as he answered in a low voice, "We have been trying our best, but Olivia is RH negative. They are also known as panda blood and are very rare."

"I..."

"Ayyy..."

The sigh broke all of Emilia's hopes. She felt as if her heart had sunk to the bottom of the abyss.

Her beautiful eyes looked lost as she asked, "Is.....is there really no hope left?!"

She turned to the bed and looked at Olivia, who was already fast asleep since she felt weak. Emilia felt exhausted.

She felt desperate!

It was as if she had fallen into darkness!

"Well, it isn't that there isn't hope!"

James Floss frowned as he answered, "In fact, your husband is right. Olivia is too young, and even if we got the bone marrow that matched her, a second surgery would only bring her more harm than good. It might even affect her in the long run."

The last few sentences immediately burst up the last hope that Emilia had!

If she couldn't stand it anymore, her entire family would be gone!

"Then....what should I do?"

Emilia was agitated as she asked, "You are the doctor! You should know what to do!"
