

Chaplain! 44

Chapter 44 The Invitation

"Can you please tell me what to do?!"

"Even if it affects her growth, she would at least be alive!"

"She....she is just a child! She is just a young girl!"

"She should be having a beautiful future ahead of her. Why....why is god so unfair?!"

Emilia got on her knees and clutched her head with both arms. She couldn't help but cry out loud.

She had no directions and no hopes!

She hated Olivia's grandfather, Essex Davis, and hated Olivia's father, Oliver Walker, even more!

If it weren't for these two bastards, why would they be in this state today?!"

Essex Davis became greedy and stole from the company. It effectively got her kicked out of the company. She even received the worst ban in the history of Colorado.

Follow current on storynovel.net

Oliver Walker didn't even bear the responsibility of a father. She had to take on all the responsibility on her own and move forward one step at a time with great difficulty with her exhausted body.

These men were supposed to be hers and Olivia's strongest support, but look at what happened now?

Not only were they irresponsible, but they were also even trying to scam her!action

They wanted to take away Olivia's money for her treatment!

"Ms. Davis!"

Seeing how his plan was slowly working, James Floss finally spoke, "There is another option that is much safer for Olivia. If this works, the resulting injuries could be minimal."

He was not making a joke.

Those who truly learned traditional Chinese medicine were mostly those who had high status.

They didn't even have enough time to earn money from wealthy businessmen, so why would they care about the peasants?

"What is it?"

Follow current on storynovel.net

Emilia quickly stood up. It felt as if she could see the light at the end of the tunnel as she asked, "I will agree to it as long as it can save Olivia's life!"

She would not let go of any chance possible.

Her daughter was the only thing that was keeping her alive.

"It doesn't matter if you agree with it!"

James Floss shook his head and proudly introduced, "The godly doctor from the International Medical Center, Hendric Smith, will be holding a talk here in the First Hospital tomorrow.

"If he is willing to save Olivia, she will recover immediately from it.

"However, you should know that the International Medical Center is the most prestigious medical foundation, and there are less than ten doctors in the world who received 'godly doctor' as a title. All of them are incredibly skilled doctors.

"When the news got out, all of the invitations were reserved."

Emilia was stunned as she took a few steps backward. However, she quickly steadied herself and answered, "Thank you! I'll.....I'll try my best to get them!"

"I will definitely get them!"

Follow current on storynovel.net

Even if the invitations had been fully reserved, there was still a chance!

Leon Williams already paid for all of the treatment. He would definitely be able to spare her one ticket, right?

If he wouldn't, she could still ask George Johnson.

She didn't care who she had to beg, but she would have to get her hands on the invitations!

"It's up to you whether you will be able to get them!"

After saying everything that he should, James Floss did one last round of checkup on Olivia with the rest of the team and left!

He shouldn't stay here any longer.

Emilia was not an ordinary woman. Although they were arguing at this moment, once they got back together and Emilia realized that this entire thing was a lie, would she blame him for it?

This was why he felt scared!

"What haven't I gone through?"

"Haven't I embarrassed myself enough?"

Emilia pulled out her phone and said in a determined voice, "Even if the sky is falling on me, I will hold it up for my daughter!"