

Catch Me If You Love Me

Chapter 100

Liam Lu put his pocket in one hand and looked in the direction where Zoey Gu was leaving, and closed his eyes forcibly, a taste of compromise in his tone.

“The person I want to marry has always been Zoey Gu, and it has never changed.”

Anna Yun was startled, and her whole body retreated severely, screaming in disbelief.

“impossible!”

“Liam, have you forgotten? She once betrayed you, you hate her so much, and she and other men...”

To Shang Liam Lu’s cold eyes, Anna Yun didn’t say the rest.

But she was not reconciled!

She has worked hard for many years, and she is about to become her husband’s man. Why should she give her hand to a dirty Zoey Gu? !

Anna Yun suddenly raised her head and smiled strangely at Liam Lu.

“Liam, that woman didn’t really love you, so she wanted to marry you as Mrs. Lu. Do you believe it?”

“Not only men have a virgin-female complex, women have even more. She is dirty, and she knows better than anyone that she is not worthy of you. Also, after you failed to rescue her relatives, you did so much to hurt her. After the incident, she cannot continue to love you.”

Anna Yun said, gritting his teeth severely. By now, she simply threw her hole card.

“Also, our marriage was decided by the Lu family and the Yun family together. You suddenly change your mind to marry her, Zoey Gu will not have a good result!”

Liam Lu did not move.

After listening to her quietly, only those eyes slowly changed color, and the bloodthirsty and murderousness in the eyes suddenly appeared.

“In the past five years, all you have paid for me, I keep in mind. As compensation to you, you can mention all the shares and properties of the Lu family under my name. But whoever wants to quit this person, first Take my life.”

After deciding to get married, Liam Lu disappeared for a few days.

Zoey Gu healed herself while taking care of Alina Yin who was hospitalized. All matters related to the marriage were given to Toshigoshi, and they proceeded like a raging fire in private.

Ten days later, Zoey Gu and Alina Yin were discharged home from the hospital.

The group of people entered the return garden, and as soon as they entered the living room, they were shocked by the sight in front of them.

The jewels all over the room.

On a shelf not far away, hung a whole row of white wedding dresses recently designed by an Italian designer.

Wedding dresses, shoes, and jewelry are all available.

On a glass table not far away, all kinds of ring patterns were neatly placed.

A group of uniformed staff members saw Zoey Gu coming back and surged forward.

“Miss Gu, I am responsible for trying on and modifying your wedding dress for you.”

“Miss Gu, I’m responsible for choosing a dress for you.”

“I am responsible for customizing the wedding ring for you and Mr. Lu...”

“I’m...”

Zoey Gu was surrounded in the middle, watching faces spinning in front of her eyes, mouths closing and closing in front of her eyes, a fire in her head, making her pale and clenched her fists inch by inch.

She felt suffocated inexplicably.

She felt that her goal was achieved, but she couldn’t be happy anyhow.

Two people entering into marriage because of love is the most beautiful and innocent thing in the world.

But as long as she thinks of the marriage between her and Liam Lu because of calculation and the physical union, she feels inexplicably collapsed and depressed, so sad that she wants to cry.

He doesn't love her anymore, and she can't love him either.

They can't go back at all...

"Enough!" She suddenly collapsed uncontrollably, "I won't get married, I won't marry!"
