

Chapter 1026

Right along with this voice was Mo Caiwei's thin and slender figure.

Jenny Jing was slightly shaken, a touch of joy on his face.

"Mom."

Mo Caiwei was so happy to see them, too.

Nor could he care less about the maids' support behind him, shrugging them off and flying over.

"Jenny."

They embraced each other and couldn't help but cry tears of joy even though they had only seen each other for a few short months.

Jenny hugged her for a long time before letting go.

At this time, the two little gnomes woke up in Biden Lu's arms as well.

They rubbed their eyes at the unfamiliar sight, and the unfamiliar people, and had silly expressions on their faces.

Perhaps because this was a familiar environment for Mo Caiwei, she wasn't as sensitive and repulsive to strangers as before.

Thus, when she saw the two gnomes, she smiled, and although she still didn't rush over with the enthusiasm of a normal normal person, her eyes and face had lost the nervousness and greenness that Jenny Jing had when she first saw her.

She smiled, "That's Ann and Jingze, right? It's so pretty to look at, and it's hot outside, so don't stand around here, come in with me."

When Biden Lu nodded, he carried the two gnomes in with him.

Jenny was naturally supported by Mo Caiwei.

Mo Caiwei saw that she didn't look too good, and as she walked inside, she said sadly, "You've suffered a lot all the way over here, haven't you? The environment here is quite good, but it's too far away from the airport, and every time we have to come here, we have to take a long ride from the airport back to the castle, we're used to it but it's fine, like you're still pregnant, and the sun is so big on the way, you must be exhausted."

Jenny laughed and shook her head, "I'm fine, the car has air conditioning and ice water ready, it's not too hot, it's just that it's maybe a little bit uncomfortable as I'm a little bit pregnant from the month."

Mo Caiwei happily said, "Pregnancy vomiting is fine, I'll ask your Uncle Que to give you two doses of medicine later, you'll get a lot of relief from it, he has a cure for pregnancy vomiting over there."

Jenny nodded.

After the group went in, Mo Caiwei immediately ordered people to prepare drinks and snacks and so on.

In fact, she had ordered them all prepared early in the morning, and now they just needed to be served up.

Soon, everything was served, and only then did Mo Caiwei greet them and sat them down in the living room, calling Quexu again and asking him to hurry back.

After making the call, she just sat over and smiled, "Your Uncle Que was also waiting for you guys at home with me, but he got a temporary call that there was an emergency over at the lab and went out, so I had him back right away."

Jenny smiled, "It's fine, if Uncle Que has something to do, let him be busy, I mainly just wanted to come and see you."

As soon as she said this, Mo Caiwei's eyes immediately turned red.

About happy, and about, after such a long period of time, her heart had fully accepted the fact that Jenny was her daughter.

Seeing her again, there was a mixed emotion.

She even turned her head to suppress the tears in her eyes, then smiled at Ann and Little Competeze.

"How old is the boy?"

Ann stepped forward immediately and said nicely, "Grandma, I'm nine years old."

Little Competeze also milked his voice, "I'm four years old."

Mo Caiwei couldn't help but laugh out loud.

"That's so sweet, come over here and show Grandma."

The two gnomes looked back at Jenny and saw that she didn't object, which was da

Da ran over.

Mo Caiwei held the two children in her arms, and her heart was warm and soft.

She hadn't really expected to be so quick to accept it before.

Originally, at the very beginning, Jenny had suggested that the two children should meet her, and she was still very much against it.

But now, when she actually saw the two little gnomes, not only was there no repulsion, but a strange, never-before-seen warmth flowed through her heart.

Just then, however, she suddenly realized a problem.

She looked up at Jenny, confused, "An An is nine years old?Wouldn't you then..."

As soon as Jenny listened, she knew what she wanted to ask.

With a flash of embarrassment under his eyes, he smiled dryly, "I'm not Ann's real mother."

"Huh?"

Hearing this, Mo Caiwei's face went cold.

She turned her head to look at Biden Lu, and originally thought how this son-in-law looked so pleasing to the eye.

"Was Lu always the second wife? I thought you guys met and married a long time ago, that's why the kids are so big."

Jenny really didn't want to say this in front of the child.

An's mind was already sensitive, last time, being provoked by Lu Lanzhi, because of this matter of her real mother, almost all turned against her.

So from then on, Jenny made everyone keep quiet and never allowed to say such words again.

Therefore, she couldn't care less and gave Biden Lu a wink.

Biden Lu would be impressed, which is why he stood up and smiled, "You're wrong, I'm the first marriage, but An An..."

He laughed, "In Ann's heart, Jenny is her real mother."

Ann sniffed and nodded sharply as well.

As if afraid that Mo Caiwei wouldn't believe it, she looked up at her and said seriously, "Grandmother, I only have one mommy, and you can't doubt my mommy or my daddy."

She actually couldn't quite understand the conversation between the adults, but she could feel Mo Caiwei's emotions and knew that it was this grandmother who didn't like her daddy anymore, so she was busy helping to explain.

Mo Caiwei actually just said that subconsciously because she was protecting her shorts.

But in reality, there was no malice.

What's more, although An'an was not Jenny's biological child, the first time she saw the child, she felt that she and Jenny looked very similar.

I guess it's called the mother-daughter bond brought about by nature.

Even if they are not related by blood, they will slowly become more and more similar in looks and temperament after being together for a long time.

She smiled and touched Ann's head lovingly.

Softly, "Okay, I know our Ann is the cutest, most beautiful girl in the world, and I don't doubt your Mommy and Daddy, so why don't you stay here and play with Daddy and your brother for a while, and I'll take your Mommy out back and say a few words, okay?"

Ann looked at her with wide, watery eyes, befuddled.

Half-heartedly, before nodding in seeming understanding, "Good."

Biden Lu watched her get up, her eyes deepening.

Instead, they didn't say anything and naturally called the two children over.

Jenny was also a little embarrassed and looked at Mo Caiwei's cold down face and shouted, "Mom."

"Jenny, you come with me."

But Mo Caiwei didn't give her a chance to speak, just called out to her and turned to leave.

Chapter 1027

Jenny had no choice but to keep up.

Before leaving, she winked at Biden Lu, telling him to take care of the child and not to think too much about it.

Biden Lu had been with her for so many years, where would he not understand?

Without moving a muscle nodded.

Mo Caiwei brought Jenny all the way to the back of the garden.

Because it was so hot over here, the garden wasn't open to the elements, but had a large glass cover over it.

The air conditioning is always on down there, so the plants are growing very well inside, and even the temperature is the most comfortable not too hot or cold temperature.

Mo Caiwei led her to another room before turning around and saying in a deep voice, "How did you and Biden Lu meet? He's been married once before and has a child, why didn't you tell me about this sooner?"

Jenny Jing saw her angry face and smiled, "Mom, don't get excited yet, sit down and listen to me slowly talk to you."

She then pulled Mo Caiwei to sit down on the sofa and told her in detail about how she and Biden Lu had gone from acquaintance to love.

Mo Caiwei's face did look a little better after hearing this.

"So it doesn't sound like he's the kind of guy who's not always responsible for things."

But Mo Caiwei obviously still had doubts, frowning and asking her, "But he already had a child with someone else before he met you, and that too without being married, didn't you ask about this in detail? Who's the other guy? How did this kid get here? How far have they come? Are we going to see each other again? You don't know any of this?"

Jenny fell silent.

In fact, she didn't know much about Ann's life.

At first she had been a little diabolical when she knew of Ann's existence, but that was before she met the child.

After seeing the child, she fell in love with it at first sight, at that time, where still cared about those past and present affairs of Biden Lu, full of heart and eyes are only this child.

I just felt that she was nice and pitiful, and had a strange scent to her.

It's hard to describe the feeling in words, but it's real and present.

So in her mind, it didn't seem to matter that much who the child's real mother was.

All that mattered was that An An liked her, she liked An An, and Biden Lu hadn't looked at another woman since he'd been with her, and that was enough.

Thinking of this, Jenny sighed.

She knew that the reason Mo Caiwei was so anxious about this was because she cared for her and felt sorry for her, and was genuinely treating her as her daughter from the bottom of her heart.

She couldn't help but smile and said, "Mom, even though I don't know about what you just said, I know that Biden Lu truly treats me and he doesn't have second thoughts, so I don't want to pursue those things."

"Besides, there isn't a past in this world yet? Before I met him, didn't I also have a past with Rovell? He didn't hold me accountable and helped me so much, shouldn't I also return the favor and not be preoccupied with his past, as long as we can be together in the future?"

Mo Caiwei frowned.

"That's different."

She said in a deep voice: "You and Rovell don't have a child, but he does, this is fundamentally different, have you ever thought, if one day in the future, this child's biological mother

What's he gonna do when Mom comes home? And what are you going to do about it?"

At that, she smirked.

"In this world, a man is only never wrong, and always wrong, there is no intermediate value, you don't want to be fooled by his falsehoods, that mouth of a man is the most deceitful, mother has been fooled once in her life, don't fall for it again!"

Jenny Jing looked at her, his eyes deep.

She suddenly realized that the reason why Mo Caiwei was angry was not just because she was worried about her....

Jenny couldn't help but smile.

She regained her grip on Mo Caiwei's hand and whispered, "Mom, are you remembering something?"

Mo Caiwei stiffened.

Jenny looked straight at her.

It was only after half a moment that Mo Caiwei nodded her head somewhat uncomfortably.

Immediately afterwards, a pair of eyes became a little darker.

"I was reminded of some things, but it's because I was reminded of them that I'm worried about your current situation, Jenny, do you know..."

"Mom."

Jenny suddenly spoke up and interrupted her.

She looked at Mo Caiwei seriously, word by word: "Biden Lu is not Kevin Jing, and I am not you, in this world, no one will really copy another person's experience completely, I know you are because you care about me, but all these years, I am very clear what kind of person I married, and also very clear, no matter who born An'an, in my heart, she is me. The daughter."

She sighed and whispered, "Maybe you can't fully believe what I'm saying right now, so let's use time to prove it, okay? Time will surely bring us the best answers, you just have to watch, okay?"

Mo Caiwei's eyes were red.

"I was afraid that when the time came, you'd regret it..."

"I won't regret it."

Jenny Jing smiled, "Although one's life is so long, no one can guarantee what will happen in the future, nor can one guarantee that one person will always be good to another and will always love her, but no matter what the final outcome is, I have no regrets because at least right now, I love him and I'm willing to trust him."

"If he does lie to me, and one day in the future he does negative me and leave me as you say, that's my choice too, and all the consequences are nothing but my own responsibility for the consequences I should take for myself, and I'm willing to take it, and I ask you to believe me, okay?"

Mo Caiwei listened to her words and was unable to refute them.

It wasn't until this moment that she realized that Jenny really wasn't her.

Jenny was smarter, more courageous, and more decisive than she was.

It seems that your worries were unnecessary after all.

Thinking so, she smiled and raised her hand to caress Jenny's face.

"Jenny, a few days ago, mommy remembered a lot of things about when you were a child, at that time I knew that my daughter must be the smartest and most courageous in the world, and that it was comforting for you to grow into what you are today."

Jenny nodded with a smile.

"I'm glad that my mother survived and is still watching over me and protecting me like that today."

The two of them stared in relative silence for a moment before Mo Caiwei raised her hand, wiped away her own tears, and smiled, "Since that's the case, I won't say anything else."

Chapter 1028

They strolled around the castle for a full two hours.

Along the way, we also met many of the servants here.

Most of them spoke a local dialect and couldn't understand what Jenny and the others were saying, but they were warm and kind.

They even got lost for a while in the middle, and it took them a long time to get back to the front room.

It was after six o'clock when I returned to the front room.

Quexu had returned from the lab, and when he saw them, he took care of the maids to fetch Mo Caiwei and the two children to prepare the meal.

Jenny greeted him with a smile, but Quexiu's attitude towards them was gentler than before.

Dinner is naturally a local specialty.

Ann and Little Competeze had spent hours with Mo Caiwei in the afternoon, and the bond had already been established.

At dinner, one bite of grandmother at a time, calling Mo Caiwei's face almost blossomed with happiness.

If Mo Caiwei was happy, Quexiu would naturally be happy.

Even looking at the two kids was like seeing Baby Kim.

Not only did she give them lots of gifts, because Ann hadn't been feeling particularly well, but she also made a recipe for a medicine for children's tastes.

Ann didn't say anything, though she thought this they were a little strange.

After dinner, Quexu remembered the money strain that Bella Qiao and the others had sent over last time, which was now being kept in the back of the nether room, so he took them to see it.

When a few people arrived at the place, they saw that it was a room built up with ice around it, with glass on top, but the glass seemed to have made some sort of transparent insulation.

This way, the sun can shine down, but without affecting the temperature below.

Previously, Nangong Jin had said that this money strain needed to grow in a cold, wet and cool place, and it was rare for Quexu to think of this under such conditions.

Jenny and Biden Lu both felt new.

And the jade box below was obviously sent by Gu Si Qian.

It was filled with a shallow layer of water and held in place by a length of jade in the middle.

Quexu said, "I'm only able to keep them alive for now, but as for wanting to breed more of them, I'll have to wait a while."

Jenny nodded.

"Uncle Que, how sure are you of this?"

In the meantime, Quexu looked at her with a light sword brow, "To be honest, I'm not sure."

Jenny was stunned.

Quexu said in a deep voice, "This thing is so delicate, I'm not a professional flower keeper, I don't know much about this stuff, and I'm just keeping it according to the method you guys said before, Nangong Jin obviously still has something to hide from you, but that's normal, you guys didn't give him all the heavenly jade books, he won't tell you the specific method."

"But don't worry too much, I have a good friend who is an expert in this area, I already called him two days ago, and when he is free in a while he will come over, and then we will work on it together, and we may or may not be able to achieve anything."

Jenny was only slightly relieved by this.

After looking at the money strains, Quexu took them on another stroll through the herb garden he had planted.

Jenny Jing had heard of the name of the Ghost Doctor before, but hadn't understood it in detail.

Only now do I realize that he is not only proficient in Western medicine, but also in Chinese medicine.

Jenny couldn't help but be curious, after the group had finished shopping, when she returned to the living room and sat down, she couldn't help but ask, "Uncle Que, I see that you know quite a bit about Chinese medicine, you should also be from China, right?"

Quexu didn't hold back and nodded, "Yes."

"Then how did you get here? And still living in seclusion here?"

Quexu did not speak.

Mo Caiwei laughed, "Suu's family used to be a medical family, then something happened and his family was gone, so he went abroad with others to study medicine, it was his master who used to live over here, then his master passed away and he didn't move away, so he stayed on."

Only then did it dawn on Jenny, "So that's it."

At this time, Ann suddenly came running in from outside and said, "Mommy, I just saw a nice strange uncle running that way."

Jenny was stunned and was about to stand up.

Quexu suddenly said, "Don't bother, he's my senior brother, he's mentally ill, so you can just pretend he doesn't exist."

Jenny Jing was somewhat appalled, but seeing that both Quexu and Mo Caiwei looked like they were taboo, it seemed inconvenient to say more, so he didn't ask any further questions.

Naturally, they stayed at the castle that night.

Mo Caiwei asked the maids to clean up their rooms, and Jenny didn't trust Little Jingze to sleep alone, so she arranged his bed in her and Biden Lu's room.

It doesn't matter that Ann is so big now, though.

At night, after the children had all gone to sleep, Biden Lu Fang k*ssed her forehead and whispered, "Go to sleep."

Jenny nodded.

A night without dreams.

When I woke up the next day, it was already sunny outside.

The nights are short and the days are long in the desert, and the sun is already shining at six or seven in the morning, and the sun doesn't set until after ten at night.

Jenny wasn't really used to it, but since there were thick curtains separating them, it was fine.

After she got up and finished washing up, she walked out and saw Biden Lu playing with the two children in the living room.

Little Competeze sat on the carpet while Ann spun around and Biden Lu sat on the couch, directing him to put the Lego together piece by piece.

Jenny looked at such a warm scene and couldn't help but lift the corners of his mouth.

"Jenny, you're awake."

Behind him came Mo Caiwei's voice.

Jenny Jing turned back and saw Mo Caiwei, who was dressed in a white dress, nodding her head with a smile.

"Well, I was up late."

"You're pregnant, it's normal, go have breakfast first, eat your breakfast and drink your medicine, last night I told your Uncle Que about your pregnancy sickness, he prepared it especially for you."

Jenny heard the words, and even thanked Quexu, and only then did the group head to the dining room.

Breakfast is also local, with a few lighter dishes that are on the Chinese side.

Mo Caiwei smiled, "I'm afraid that you're not used to the food here, so I've specially asked the kitchen to prepare some domestic food, so you can watch and eat whatever you like, and I'll have them prepare it for breakfast later."

Jenny smiled, "I can do it."

Ann and Little Competeze aren't picky eaters, plus, Mo Caiwei is actually a good cook.

No matter what kind of dish it is, it has a unique flavor when it comes to her hands.

The smile on Mo Caiwei's face deepened as she saw this.

When she finished eating, she suggested that she should go out for a walk.

It's hot here, spare this one town the much lower temperature compared to the desert outside, but it's still hot.

And the temperature difference between day and night here is so great that when they go out, they don't know when they will come back.

So not only did Mo Caiwei make them sunscreen, but she also brought a couple of thick cloaks for adults and children.
