

Catch Me If You Love Me

Chapter 103

Zoey Gu just took Alina Yin's hand, heard the sound, and looked up at the speaker.

At a glance, she recognized that the other party had given herself a piece of chocolate in the hospital, and was the first nurse to find out that she had given birth to a child.

She became nervous suddenly, and subconsciously glanced at Alina Yin by her legs.

"Sorry, you misunderstood, she..."

Alina Yin didn't wait for her to finish, she suddenly tightened her hand and spoke loudly to the little nurse.

"Yes! She is my mother!"

"Alina Yin..."

Even Liam Lu, who was beside him, frowned unhappily, and whispered at Alina Yin, "Alina Yin!"

The little nurse looked at Alina Yin and Zoey Gu again, and suddenly laughed happily.

"Miss Gu, you and your daughter really look alike."

"At the beginning, I was really fooled by you. I almost wanted to tell you that the incision of the caesarean section on your stomach was appendicitis. In fact, it is really not a shame to have a child without marriage, you..."

The little nurse was still chattering, but the surrounding air suddenly cooled down.

Zoey Gu looked at Liam Lu with a pale face as if he had been put on the fire.

He got it.

Last night she mustered up the courage to embarrass the past without saying it, so it passed through the mouths of others to his ears.

She looked at him and yelled very hard.

"Liam Lu..."

Liam Lu lowered his head slightly, unable to see the expression on his face, but she could clearly see his suddenly tight face, the violent blue veins on his forehead, and the obvious bulges on the back of his hand.

Zoey looked at him decisively, without any doubt that he would suddenly get up in the next moment and break her neck without hesitation!

For a moment, she only heard his almost gritted teeth.

“When did this happen?”

Tears flooded Zoey Gu’s eyes instantly, she clenched her fists tightly, and answered in a low voice.

“The first year you left, that kid...”

Zoey Gu made a decision in his heart.

As long as he thinks, she must not hide all the darkness of the past, and tell him all of them bit by bit.

But he didn’t give her a chance to continue, so he interrupted her suddenly.

“Go in and continue to try the wedding dress.”

Zoey Gu was startled, all her voice seemed to be stuck, and she looked at him unexpectedly, “You really, don’t want to know at all?”

“I don’t want to repeat the second sentence, try your wedding dress!”

Now, even the dull people should see the situation clearly.

The little nurse was silent, looked at Zoey Gu guiltily, and once again pulled the people around her, and left without looking back.

“Gu, Miss Gu, I’m sorry to offend you. I, let’s go first.”

Zoey Gu looked at Liam Lu indifferently, and the faint light in his eyes was extinguished little by little.

After a long while, he laughed desperately.

“That’s right, you marry me now, but you just want my body. It’s me who doesn’t know what I can do, and I have too many expectations of you.”

After she finished speaking, she turned and walked towards the inner room.

Alina Yin pursed her ignorant face and watched Zoey Gu leave, turned and walked to Liam Lu's side, stretched out her little hand to cup his face, and asked puzzledly.

“Dad, what's the matter with you?”

In the next second, the little girl suddenly met a pair of scarlet bloodthirsty eyes, with clear pain and murder in the eyes.

Alina Yin was shocked instantly, her mouth squashed, and she opened her mouth to cry.

“Wow...”
