

Chapter 1047

Biden Lu was now modest.

"Where, where, where, what does the family say about merit or not merit, you're happy, Jenny is happy, I'm happy when Jenny is happy."

Quietly spreading the dog food.

Mo Caiwei couldn't help but laugh at this.

That night, Quexu tossed and turned in bed all night, hard to sleep.

It has been more than thirty years since his family suffered at the age of ten and came to the desert, which has long since become his home, and it was not easy for him to leave it.

But the conditions Biden Lu proposed were too tempting, plus Mo Caiwei....

Alas, he didn't trust Mo Caiwei to go to China by herself after all.

After all, Mo Caiwei hadn't left his side all these years.

She's not exactly well, either, and while she's gotten much better about the communicating with strangers part, she's still not actually emotionally stable.

Often, once you're in a crowded place, there's still subconscious nervousness.

At that time, besides him, Mo Caiwei didn't trust anyone else at all.

So Quexu thought about it, but it was always unsettling.

The next morning, he came out of his room with two big black eyes, and as soon as he saw Biden Lu, he said with a cold face, "I promise to go to China."

With each other, Biden Lu is holding little Jing Ze and sitting on the couch teaching him to play on the computer.

At the news, he looked up at Quexu and smiled, "Decided? No regrets?"

Quexu was already in a bad mood, and looking at his tone of voice, it got even worse.

Not giving him a good stare, "I've never regretted anything I've said."

Afterwards, he didn't even eat his breakfast and left in a rage.

Mo Caiwei came out of the dining room and saw him take the car keys and head out, anxiously asking, "Eh, it's almost breakfast, where are you going?"

Without turning his head, Quexu said, "To the lab."

Mo Caiwei frowned and stomped her foot, "This man, really! What's the point of going to the lab when it's almost dinner."

Jenny smiled and came over, climbing her shoulders, "Mom, Uncle Que is going over to the lab to deliver the matter of moving out, you don't have to worry."

Mo Caiwei actually already knew that he would agree, but at this moment when she actually heard it, her face couldn't help but reveal a touch of joy.

She had been separated from Jenny Jing for ten years and was reunited again, so naturally she wanted to stay with him.

But she doesn't want to be separated from Queju, who has long been more than a kindness to her, but also a love that has endured for the past ten years.

But since time immemorial, you can't have both fish and bear's paw; where in heaven's name are there so many of both?

So she was also aware that she would have to ask Quexu to give up the place where he grew up and the lab he had worked so hard to build for so many years.

It would have to be put on any one person, only to be relentless.

But in the end, Quexu had agreed for her.

So it was his own choice to make himself the aggrieved party to fulfill what she wanted to do ah.

It would be a lie for Mo Caiwei to say that she was not moved.

But in front of Jenny Jing and Biden Lu, the younger generation, she could not reveal it.

I could only wipe the corner of my eye and managed to smile, "I know, that's okay, we won't wait for him, we'll eat first, don't you have to go shopping again afterwards? I'll go with you later."

Jenny nodded.

The group then went to the dining room for dinner.

Because it was an afternoon flight, you could still go out to do things in the morning, and after dinner, Jenny let Biden Lu stay at home to take care of the two children, and he and Mo Caiwei went out to pick up the things they needed.

Biden Lu originally didn't trust the two of them to go out.

But because Jenny wanted to buy gifts to bring to the employees in the company, she came out this time, and everything in the company was left to Xiao He and the others to take care of.

So she thought that since she was going back, it would be good to bring some accompaniments for the staff, not only her uncle and grandparents and the others.

All of these gifts were bought right then and there to have them couriered back and they didn't have to bring them back, so it wasn't that hard.

But the process of picking a gift had to be done by Jenny himself.

No matter how thoughtful Biden Lu was, he was still a man.

Most of the employees inside her Starlight Entertainment Company are women, and she's afraid that Biden Lu won't get the points they like.

So the matter must be taken personally.

And it would be too conspicuous and too troublesome for the two children to go out with them, with a vast crowd of people.

So Jenny Jing's meaning was that it wasn't a big deal anyway, just let her go with Mo Caiwei.

Biden Lu, on the other hand, stays home and looks after the two children.

Choosing a gift would take an hour at most, and with the driver taking them, nothing should happen.

Plus, although Mo Caiwei couldn't leave her home on weekdays, she had been in this place for ten years after all, and many of the locals knew her and knew that she was Quexu's wife.

It's also hard for anything to go wrong with Quexu's local influence.

When Biden Lu saw this, he had no choice but to follow them and let them go out on their own.

Jenny Jing and Mo Caiwei both then took the car and went to one of the largest local malls.

Many of the items sold in this mall have a local flavor and character.

Jenny found a boutique, picked out some of each item, had it packed, and gave the mailing address before leaving.

As we walked out of the mall, Mo Caiwei suddenly said, "Eh, I remember that there's a cuisine across the street that's particularly delicious and authentic, and we're leaving anyway, so why don't we buy some back and give everyone a taste for lunch."

Jenny understood that she had also lived on this side for ten years, saying that she was not used to it, but in fact, more or less, she had some feelings.

Now that we're seeing ourselves leaving, we thought we'd head over there to get some local specialties and eat one last time as a farewell.

So, Jenny nodded.

Because it's shopping time, it's not snowing today, the weather is clear and the sun is out, and with the cooler temperatures, it's not as hot as it was.

Instead, it has a soothing feeling like a warm winter sun, so there are many pedestrians on the street.

After all, it was only going across the street, and Jenny was too much trouble to drive, so he asked the driver to park the car here and wait for them.

After they go to the restaurant and order their food, they can just walk back by themselves.

The driver saw no reluctance to sit in the car and wait.

Mo Caiwei took her hand and smiled as she walked, "You may not believe it, I've been here for ten years, the number of times I've been down to the restaurant is a handful, this local dish, I've heard of it before, but I've never had the chance to come out and eat it, always thinking about next time, next time, but now that I think about it, where's the next time?"

Jenny Jing smiled, "Not necessarily, if you miss this side anytime in the future, we can still accompany you over for a little fun."

Chapter 1048

Mo Caiwei shook her head and sighed, "Forget it, you guys are so busy working, I've already caused you a lot of trouble, so don't cause any more trouble."

Jenny was about to say something to persuade her, but she interrupted again.

"Don't tell me no, I know that the reason why Suu agreed to go to China with us this time, apart from worrying about me, is because Biden promised to provide him with a better medical laboratory, and also promised to allocate a sum of money to him every year for him to spend freely, although this sum of money may not be a big deal to you guys, but I can't just because of this. Get an inch, Jenny, you married into the Lu family, it's lucky for you that the Lu family treats you well, but we should never become more arrogant and greedy just because people treat us well, it's not good."

Jenny couldn't help but laugh as she saw how well she was talking.

"Mom, I haven't even said anything yet, look at you, how much you've said."

She sighed and took Mo Caiwei's hand, patting the back of her hand.

"Mom, don't worry, even if this money isn't from Biden, I can still afford it, don't underestimate your daughter, I'm not as good at making money as he is, but it's not something ordinary people can compare to."

Mo Caiwei had heard that she was doing a thriving business in China.

Now, the entire domestic entertainment market is pretty much controlled by Anning International.

In the first two years, Jenny was still just the PR director of Anning International, but then gradually, Biden Lu just gave her the entire Anning International.

Even the shares were transferred to her name.

So, she's now the real big boss of Serenity International.

Together with her own Starflight Entertainment, although it was said that until now, Starflight had still been attached to Anning International, but that was only because Jenny felt that since both companies were hers, it would be too troublesome to split them up again, so she just didn't bother to split them up.

In fact, since she had transferred all of Starflight's artists to Anning International two days ago, and Starflight to a video platform, Starflight's earning power was gradually becoming comparable to Anning International.

Therefore, for Jenny, money was never in short supply.

She had the strength and the qualifications to say such words to Mo Caiwei.

Of course, Mo Caiwei knew that she was telling the truth, and while she was pleased, she couldn't help but feel sad that she was busy all day.

Even less likely to bother her around every day.

But she didn't say any more of those words.

After entering the restaurant, she ordered some of this side's specialties, paid for them to be delivered to the castle at 11:30 pm sharp, and then left with Jenny.

When she left the house, I don't know if it was her illusion, but Jenny always felt that someone was following her behind.

She looked back, but found no one else behind her but the shop's customers and a few waitresses each busy with their own business at hand.

She frowned and wondered if her senses were wrong.

So they didn't think twice about it and walked across the street with Mo Caiwei.

The car was still safely parked there.

Cheji, wearing that big hat he wore when he came out this morning, got out and opened the door for them.

Mo Caiwei was so happy now, perhaps she had finally figured it out, and the heavy stone in her heart was finally put down.

When she got in the car, she felt like she was carrying the wind with her.

Jenny was also infected by her pleasure and chatted with her wordlessly.

The car started up downtown and slowly drove off.

The two of them didn't mind, sharing their feelings as Jenny Jing told Mo Caiwei about the funny things that had happened to her in China before.

Mo Caiwei loved to hear her say this, as if the more she listened, the more she would make up for the missing days over the years.

Because she couldn't remember anything from before, and even if she remembered some of it now, it was only bits and pieces.

So, Jenny Jing wasn't sure how much memory she still had of Kevin Jing.

Naturally, they wouldn't go out of their way to mention that about the King family.

After all, the Jing family was all gone now, whether because of the crimes they had committed against Mo Caiwei or the things they had done to themselves, Jenny Jing could not forgive them.

Those hatreds, even if they die, they can't let go.

And they were too heavy to be carried by her alone, so there was no need to let Mo Caiwei know.

So, Jenny Jing also didn't tell her how she had been bullied by the Jing family since she had left, and how she had later retaliated back.

She was afraid that Mo Caiwei would blame herself, worry, and think too much.

Mo Caiwei didn't seem to remember this either, so she didn't ask.

They were chatting and chatting without noticing in the slightest that the scenery outside the car window was getting colder and it wasn't the way back to the castle at all.

After a long time, Jenny looked out the window unintentionally, before he was suddenly startled.

She looked at the time on her watch, it had been half an hour, and if she remembered correctly, it would only take about twenty minutes to get from that street to the castle.

Since she didn't know this side of the road well, she wasn't sure if the other side had gone a different way or what.

So out of the blue, he asked, "How long until we get home?"

The driver's muffled voice came from the driver's seat, "Almost there."

Jenny frowned.

No, how does that sound not quite like the previous driver.

She was thinking, when her neck suddenly hurt.

She fiercely stared and turned her head, only to see that the other party was holding a syringe in her hand and was sticking it in her neck, while next to her, Mo Caiwei had already been injected with an unknown drug and had fallen asleep.

She stared at the other woman, trying to speak, but nothing came out, and finally, only her eyelids rolled back and she collapsed heavily.

After both of them passed out, the man who had been hiding under the back seat of the car, squared his long legs and stepped over.

He first checked the eyes of both men and was relieved to find that they were indeed unconscious.

As he pulled down his collar, he cursed, "Damn, it almost smothered me to death trying to knock them both out! You're good, just drive a car in the clear."

The driver, who had been sitting in the driver's seat, took off the round courtesy of his head.

He smiled coldly, "Don't complain, who made that driver of your son's body different? I still have to do this."

He said, nudging his eyes back.

"Is the pregnant woman okay?"

"Nothing, still alive na."

"That's fine, but the master made it clear that she must be kept safe, she's the biggest chip we have, and nothing can happen to her."

"I know, okay, now take us to the Lord."

Chapter 1049

"Good."

The driver said, and turned the car around and drove off in the other direction.

And now, the other side.

In the castle, Biden Lu was sitting in the living room, playing with his two children.

The door was suddenly banged open, followed by a blonde haired man, stumbling in.

As soon as he entered the door, he fell in front of Biden Lu with a poof.

"Mrs., Mrs. and Miss King, something has happened, something has happened."

He passed out right after saying that.

.....

Jenny woke up and found himself lying on a luxurious bed.

The soreness at the back of her neck made her hiss softly.

I was trying to struggle to sit up, but as soon as I moved my arms and legs, there was a clattering sound of chains clashing.

She turned pale and looked away, only to find that her hands and feet had been tied with four large chains at some point.

One end of the chain was attached to her wrists and ankles, the other end went deep into the surrounding walls and floor, like the kind of chains used in the dungeons when prisoners were held in the olden days.

Her heart sank hard.

The house is lavishly decorated, in that European style of gold and white intermingling.

The curtains were wide open, revealing that it was night outside.

Jenny's mind was not filled with many question marks.

Where is this?

What's going on?

The last image she remembers is still stuck in the car, the shot of someone suddenly appearing from under the back seat and sticking a syringe in her neck.

Mo Caiwei, on the other hand, seems to have been given a needle.

By the way, where's Mo Caiwei?

She looked around in panic, but saw that the entire house was empty, where was half a person but her?

Mo Caiwei has disappeared!

Realizing this, Jenny's heart completely panicked, struggling to sit up as he shouted, "Mom, Mom, where are you?"

"Anyone? Who the hell are you? Why did you tie me up here?"

"Can you tie me up if you can, but can't you come out and meet me?"

"What do you want? Money or profit? I'll satisfy you all if you bring it up, but first let my mother go!"

Jenny shouted for half a day, but didn't get a single response.

The house was so empty that it seemed as if she was really the only one there, and she could even hear a hidden echo when she shouted loudly.

Jenny's face was a bit ugly.

She didn't know exactly what had happened, but she probably figured that she was being shady.

Who the hell is the other guy? With what intent?

For all intents and purposes, first, she had to meet this person.

And lo and behold, so far, they had only tied her to the bed and had not taken her anywhere else to see it.

The other guy obviously didn't want her dead.

As long as she wasn't trying to kill her, there was still hope.

Thinking so, her mind raced and her sharp eyes looked to several corners of the house, and sure enough, in several places she saw hidden, ever-flickering little red dots.

She smirked in her mind and looked to the one closest to her among them and said coldly, "Not coming out is it? If you don't come out, then don't blame me for being rude. I'm sure you've gone to a lot of trouble to get me here. You must have a purpose for it.

Right? If you want a corpse, then you can continue to be shrinking turtles, and we'll see if you can still get what you want then."

She said, about to bite her tongue hard.

A voice suddenly came from outside the door, "Slow down."

Immediately afterwards, a slender, upright figure was seen, coming from outside.

Jenny Jing's pupils shrank.

Nangongjin? How could it be him?

Nangong Jin's face contained a smile, and even up to this point, he had never fallen half-hearted.

Still with that warm and humble appearance, he smiled slightly and said, "Miss Jing, we meet again."

Jenny Jing's face was gloomy.

"Nangong Jin, what did you catch me here for?"

Nangong Jin raised his eyebrows, somewhat appalled.

"So you already know who I am."

Jenny snickered.

Nangong Jin wore a white suit today, and his hair was meticulously taken care of, looking more and more like a gentle gentleman.

But Jenny knew that his warmth was all on the surface, and that deep down he was actually a thorough, treacherous villain.

Jenny Jing had never had a good face for such villains.

What's more, his villainous counterpart was his own best friends, Gu Siqian and Bella Qiao.

Therefore, once he saw that it was him, Jenny didn't even feel like saying one more word.

Get straight to the point and ask, "Tell me, what did you get me here for? And where's my mum? Where is she? What did you do to her?"

Nangong Jin smiled slightly and said, "There's no need to rush first, Miss Jing, I've specially invited you over to be my guest this time, naturally there's a reason, but I'm not doing it out of any malice, maybe you'll thank me later."

"Thanks?"

Jenny Jing snickered out loud and shook the chain he was holding.

"You've done this to me, and I thank you? Nangongjin, you're a pervert for thinking abnormal thoughts yourself, so don't assume everyone is as perverted as you."

She spoke rudely, but Nangong Jin didn't seem angry.

He still had that sparse look on his brow and lightly laughed, "I know it's rude to use such a method, but if I don't use it, I'm really worried that Miss Jing will do something out of the ordinary that will affect our friendship, so I'll have to be offended for now."

Jenny was so angry at his soft knife everything that it was like a fist hitting cotton.

In contrast, Nangong Jin's words were dripping with water, and she couldn't ask anything even if she wanted to.

In the end, only stared at him hard.

"Where's my mum? Where did you get her?"

Nangong Jin smiled slightly, "Don't worry, since Lady Mo is your mother, I will naturally treat her with more courtesy, she is resting downstairs right now, she hasn't woken up yet, when she wakes up, I will bring her here to meet you."

After Nangong Jin finished speaking, he commanded outside, "Someone, serve tea to Miss Jing."

A maid answered the door outside.

Only then did Nangong Jin turned back and smiled, "Although I can't help you open the chains yet, I won't treat you badly, there are two servants outside, if you need anything, you can mention it to them, if you are hungry and thirsty, you can also look for them, if there is nothing else, I'll leave first."

After he finished, he paused and saw that Jenny indeed had nothing to say before leaving.

When he left, sure enough, it wasn't long before a maid brought in tea.

Although Jenny's hands and legs were covered with chains, the chains were relatively long, but they did not affect her ability to lift her arms and legs to eat or anything else.

Come to think of it, this was also intentional on Nangong Jin's part, just so she didn't have an excuse for him to open the chains.