

Chapter 111 Ms. Green, You're Glib-Tongued

Brianna closed the door behind her.

Ben was still laying on top of Madelyn.

She pushed him angrily, "You did that on purpose!"

"Yeah! Do you want to punish me?" Benjamin's voice was a bit seductive.

Madelyn gazed at his handsome face in front of her and felt a bit horny too.

But she had to consider Brianna's feelings and said softly, "Get up, your mother is out there."

Benjamin's dark eyes blinked at her. He neither moved nor made a sound.

"Benjamin..."

Benjamin lowered his head, pecked on her lips, and then reached over and fetch a file.

Madelyn sat up.

"This is..."

Benjamin sat up with a smile on his lips. "Open it."

Madelyn opened it, puzzled.

Inside was a contract on the transfer of the right to use the building. The 4,300 square foot office space in a prime location was only rented for 30 thousand dollars a year. There were some photos and a key inside.

Madelyn was stricken dumb with amazement.

She looked up at him, "Is this your office building? You're willing to rent it to me?"

She knew a little bit about the rental market. It was impossible to rent an office of this size in such a good location for 300 thousand dollars a year, let alone 30 thousand dollars.

Benjamin merely said, "Hmm".

He wrapped the towel around her slender neck and pulled it so gently that Madelyn was forced to lift her face and press her forehead to his. They were close that they would kiss each other if one of them moved.

Madelyn gazed at him.

At this moment, she felt his care and respect for her.

said, "Hmm."

Brianna asked him to take Madelyn to Eloise's birthday party, and Benjamin agreed. He walked Brianna to the car and opened the door for her.

Brianna was about to get in the car but then turned around.

She hesitated for a while before she said, "Ben, Eleanor's back!"

Benjamin froze.

Eleanor was back!

Brianna's beautiful eyes were a little sad. "I heard from your Uncle Bennett that Eleanor stops trying to fool around and gets engaged to a showbiz mogul. Ben, Mom knows you can't let go of your relationship with Eleanor, but that was when you were young. After all these years, it's time for you to move on! Madelyn is a good girl. Don't break her heart."

Benjamin clenched his hand into a fist and then unclenched it.

He forced a smile. "Don't worry. Mom, I know."

"I'm afraid you will screw things up!" Brianna was worried. "Madelyn is good-looking and has a nice personality. She's even a Taurus. She is a rare soul... Ben, if you break up with her, I'll give you problems."

Benjamin smiled faintly.

Brianna got into the car and left.

Benjamin watched the car leave. He did not immediately go upstairs but smoked a few cigarettes downstairs.

Eleanor... She was back...

Benjamin's eyes were scarlet.

How dare she come back?

He and Eleanor were childhood friends because of their father's relationship. He loved Eleanor, who was pretty and passionate. He respected her and didn't cross any lines. He decided not to have sex with her before the wedding night...

On Valentine's Day senior year, he took an 18-hour flight to Monatz. But he opened the apartment door and saw Eleanor having sex with a man.

The floor was full of their used condoms...

No matter how much Eleanor cried, begged, and promised again and again that she would never do such a thing again, Benjamin still broke up with her.

Benjamin left the apartment and walked upstairs.

He pulled out a small velvet box expressionlessly.

Inside was a diamond ring.

He was going to propose to Eleanor that day, but he didn't do that. And he would never propose to any woman again.

Benjamin was no longer dreaming to get married. It was not like he had no right woman to marry over the years.

It was that he didn't think about getting married anymore.

Chapter 112 Mr. Clark, Discipline Your Woman

Benjamin returned to his apartment.

He looked pale. When Madelyn saw he didn't look fine, she asked softly, "What happened?"

Benjamin gazed at her with dark eyes.

Madelyn changed her outfit into a dark floral dress with a long champagne-colored suit over it. She wore her waist-length, sandy hair down her back. She was beautiful and sweet.

Benjamin beckoned Madelyn to come over.

He rested his chin on her shoulder, and he said in a husky voice, "I called Camila before. It was your birthday the other day. How about I throw you a birthday party on Saturday?"

Madelyn was flattered.

Benjamin raised his head, kissed her for a moment, and then said, "Take me to the office."

Madelyn thought something was bothering him.

She was not stupid at all. She guessed it had something to do with the woman he loved secretly. Instead of asking him about it, Madelyn put her arms around his neck and pouted, "I'll drive my sugar papa to work every day if you want."

Benjamin laughed.

He patted her lazily and walked to the dressing room to change his clothes.

Madelyn walked up to the morningdew piano and gently stroked it... Benjamin was a good lover, but he was definitely not a good husband.

He doted on her, but would not love her.

Madelyn was glad that she realized it early, otherwise, she would lose her head, declare her love to him in the near future, and tell him that she wanted to live with him forever...

Madelyn could effortlessly imagine his answer.

"Madelyn..."

Benjamin came out of the changing room and saw she was lost in thought...

When Madelyn looked at Benjamin, who was so perfectly put together, she smiled faintly. "Mr. Clark is very handsome today!"

Benjamin curled his lips upward.

Madelyn drove him to the office, and none of them spoke. Benjamin whispered when he got out of the car. "I'll probably have a lot to do in the next few days."

Vivian drank a lot of wine, cried, and laughed bitterly. "Madelyn, how come we are so unlucky that our boyfriends cheated on us with Elizabeth? Is she that sexually attractive? She's not as good-looking as us. And we're much hotter than her. Why do men like her?"

"Is it because she's a slut?"

After pondering that for a moment, Madelyn thought Vivian was right.

Madelyn told Vivian stuff that she wanted to hear. "She will meet the man who will make her pay!"

Vivian slumped over the table, and her speech was slurred. "She can only fool Jackson, that jerk! Madelyn, you know that, don't you? The last time Elizabeth went to Daniel's, she was beaten to death. She even seduced Benjamin. But they didn't even look at her. Only Jackson screws with her. He's such an idiot!"

Finally, Vivian threw up all over the toilet!

When she sobered up a bit, Madelyn hugged her and whispered, "Vivian, you should get a divorce!"

Madelyn thought, "Vivian is only 24 years old, young and beautiful. Jimmy is just not worth it. It would be better if she cuts her losses in time, starts a career, or find a new boyfriend!"

Vivian froze for a moment.

She murmured. "I want to! I want to get a divorce, but I'm not resigned myself to this. I've been with him for years. It's all ruined by a bitch."

Madelyn's heart sank.

She called Jackson and asked him to come pick Vivian up.

When Jackson answered the phone, he was very polite, but he wouldn't come to pick Vivian up.

He said, "Madelyn, you just stay out of this! I'm cheating on Vivian but I don't take Elizabeth seriously. Isn't Vivian at fault? What man can stand her temper?"

Madelyn was furious.

She said coldly, "You can divorce her if you can't stand it! If you had divorced her earlier, I wouldn't have stopped you from dating young girls. But why do you upset Vivian right now by sleeping with a woman we both know? Jackson, you love fooling around, but we women do not want to be with promiscuous men like you."

Jackson looked at his phone in disbelief.

Was Madelyn speaking?

How come she had a worse temper than Vivian? How come she was so aggressive?

What did Benjamin like about her?

Jackson wondered, "Does Benjamin like it when she criticizes him and calls men for their promiscuous private lives?"

Coincidentally, Jackson and Benjamin were at the same dinner party.

Others thought it was Jackson's wife checking up on him, so they made fun of him. "Is Vivian giving you a hard time again?"

Jackson got drunk.

He looked at Benjamin and laughed. "Mr. Clark, it's your woman. She accused me of being a promiscuous man. Why don't you give her a lecture?"

Chapter 113 I'm the One Behind Her

When Jackson said that, the whole room was quiet.

Someone nudged him. "Jackson, stop it! Go pick Vivian up! Don't sink to women's level and argue with her."

Jackson was drunk and tongue-tied.

He threw tantrums. "I just slept a woman. Vivian doesn't even dare to say anything. How dare Madelyn, an outsider, interfere with my business? Who the hell is behind her?"

The room became even quieter.

Benjamin chuckled.

He wiped his mouth with a napkin and got up. "I'm leaving!"

Someone asked him to stay. "Mr. Clark, don't go. Jackson drank too much and offended you. Why don't we punish him with three glasses of wine to get over this whole thing?"

Benjamin wore a half-smile.

He looked at Jackson, who had sobered up and said gently, "You just asked who was behind Madelyn. I'm telling you, it's me, Benjamin! Madelyn is my woman. I never raise my voice to her. How dare you speak ill of her in front of me?"

Jackson was in a trance.

Benjamin smiled coolly. "I didn't want to attend this dinner today. But I'm here because of Madelyn, who's intimate with Vivian! I'll take Vivian home if you're not gonna pick her up."

Benjamin left after he said that.

After Benjamin left, the room was quiet for a long time. Someone patted Jackson's shoulder. "Apologize to Mr. Clark! Jackson, no matter how slut those women are, you could only have fun with them and couldn't take them seriously. Elizabeth has a bad reputation, and you mustn't do anything stupid, or you'll be laughed at by people in our circles."

Jackson wiped his face.

He felt completely and undeniably sober, and hesitantly asked, "What about Benjamin and Madelyn?"

Jackson thought, "Benjamin is not serious about Madelyn, is he?"

Because Benjamin was known in the industry as a workaholic who didn't want to get married, Jackson didn't believe Madelyn would marry Benjamin someday.

Others laughed.

"Whether or not Mr. Clark and Madelyn will get married, he cares about Madelyn! Have you ever seen Mr. Clark embarrass anyone in public? Have you ever seen Mr. Clark defend a woman like that?"

"You haven't, right? Congratulations, Jackson!"

Benjamin gazed down at her.
He was good-looking. At this moment, he was so charming and mature and looked like a womanizer.
Madelyn couldn't stop kissing him on the chin. He had a little stubble tonight, and it hurt her a little.
Benjamin stared at her when he was talking to William.
William sounded very excited.
He said, "Ben, I've found the jewelry middleman! It won't be hard to find my child."

Benjamin caressed Madelyn's lips and smiled lightly, "Congratulations, Uncle Bennett."

William let out a soft sigh.

He felt so low again. "Unfortunately, that guy had a car accident two days ago and is still in a coma... Ben, I'm afraid he'll become a veggie. Then I may never find Madeline and my child."

Benjamin took a breath.

Madelyn gently bit his finger.

His gaze was deep...

William on the other side of the phone frowned, "Ben, did something happen to you there?"

Benjamin chuckled softly. "I was bitten by a cat... Uncle Bennett, you don't have to worry. I will find the experts to treat him and let him get well as soon as possible so that you can reunite with your wife."

Speaking of this, William let out another soft sigh.

He said, "Ben, "It's been so many years. She might have remarried! I just want to see her. I want to know if she is doing well, and the child... I meditatively feel it's a girl. Ben... Ben...Ben, are you listening?"

Benjamin was flirted by Madelyn and couldn't help but make love to her.

He suppressed his passion and gasped softly.

"Uncle Bennett, I'm listening!"

William muttered to himself, "She is already 24 years old and old enough to get married."

Benjamin was making love to the girl in his arms. He found it particularly interesting and even had time to comfort William. "Uncle Bennett, my aunt is good-looking, so your little girl must be pretty. She must have a bright future. She's probably married and has kids..."

William was quite relieved.

He sighed softly. "I have been worried these days about what if my daughter meets a man who cheats and plays with women's feelings. I'm glad to hear what you said, Ben."

...

"Ben... Are you listening?"

"Ben?"

Chapter 114 William Prepared To Take a DNA Test

Benjamin lifted his chiseled, handsome face and gritted his teeth. "Uncle Bennett... I'm listening."

He gazed down at Madelyn.

Benjamin was so pleased to see Madelyn's horny look that he became even more aroused. William heard something erotic from the other end of the line.

William used to be Benjamin's age and figured out what was going on.

He cleared his throat lightly. "Ben, it's late. I'll let you get back to it."

William hung up the phone.

William really missed the child he hadn't met and thought, "If it were a daughter, I hope she wouldn't find a boyfriend like Ben. He's indisputably excellent but completely consumed by pleasures of the flesh."

Ben couldn't even wait for his uncle to hang up the phone before he had sex with a woman!

Ben was so horny!

No way!

William would never let his daughter have a boyfriend like Ben!

He smiled ruefully again. He couldn't find his child, but now he even thought to himself that he did not allow his child to find a boyfriend like Ben. Currently, Ben's girlfriend was Ms. Green, and they seemed to be a good match...

Benjamin threw away his phone.

He had a great time making love tonight...

They did spend a couple of days having sex after they made up. After they came home from work at night, except for eating and showering, they spent all their time hugging and kissing and then naturally having sex...

Madelyn admitted that she was a bit obsessed with making love to him.

Benjamin was so good-looking, sexually passionate, and knew a lot about women sexually. There was no way she didn't feel anything about it.

They had sex several times on Saturday night.

Benjamin leaned over the bed to rest and habitually lit a cigarette.

Madelyn loved it when he smoked and his cheeks were sunken. She thought he looked so manly that way.

Benjamin's cell phone rang.

He took it over and looked at it, smoking.

Madelyn, who finished showering and was putting skin care products on her face, asked softly, "You have a business to attend to at this late hour?"

William was in a trance again.

Madelyn looked like William's wife. Madelyn's mother died. Otherwise, William could have asked Madelyn more questions...

Madelyn went back in the evening.

Madelyn told Benjamin that she met William at the cafe.

Benjamin smiled faintly. "Isn't Uncle Bennett someone you admire? Did you take the opportunity to have a cup of coffee with him?"

Obviously, Benjamin was jealous...

Madelyn replied, "No, it's you who is my Prince Charming."

Benjamin was pleased.

Then Madelyn said with some regret, "After a short conversation, he took a phone call from his daughter, saying he had to pick up her from the airport."

Eleanor...

Benjamin froze. He didn't respond to Madelyn's words but watched the TV.

He had no idea what was playing on TV.

Madelyn and Benjamin got along well with each other lately. Benjamin was mature and excellent, and she was willing to ask him many things. At this point, she really wanted to talk to him about the DNA stuff and wanted to know his point of view.

Madelyn talked for a long time, but Benjamin did not listen to a word she said...

"Benjamin!"

"Benjamin ..."

Benjamin came back to his senses and looked at Madelyn in front of him...

Madelyn was beautiful, gentle, and meek, and had a great personality, and she took good care of him outside of work. Benjamin knew that if he wanted to, he could get to be with her and earn his way into her heart.

He knew Madelyn loved him...

The look in her eyes always gave away what she was really thinking!

But he didn't want to be tied down. He didn't like being controlled by a woman anymore... He loved their relationship at the moment.

And he felt good about that!

Chapter 115 His First Love Had Returned!

Benjamin gently stroked Madelyn's long hair and said in a hoarse voice, "Sorry, I have some business to attend to." After speaking, he got up and walked towards the study.

His sudden movement made Madelyn think deeply.

She wasn't trying to be his wife, but she just clearly sensed Benjamin's abnormal behavior.

The person he had in his heart must have come back.

She had just mentioned William's daughter...Eleanor!

Suddenly, Madelyn felt cold all over.

Eleanor...was the one in Benjamin's heart!

But, she had met with William so many times, Benjamin even had sex with her on the phone with William, and he even joked about it a few times...But he never told her that his past was with Eleanor!

No one told her!

Everyone knew this except her!

On this early autumn night, it was chilly...

Madelyn sat alone on the sofa in the living room, only separated by a wall from Benjamin, but at this moment, she felt as if they were worlds apart!

She had fallen for him, however little it may be!

The roses on her pillow in the morning,

The morningdew they played through the night...

The night they spent together...

Madelyn smiled faintly, realizing that none of these mattered! The name "Eleanor" were enough to surpass everything between her and Benjamin...

Madelyn didn't dare to try and talk to him about it.

Because they weren't anything to each other.

She may be foolish, but she understood Benjamin's attitude about it. That bombshell still had an unparalleled effect on him, and Madelyn wasn't someone who would willingly embarrass herself!

He wanted to be alone, so she gave him space.

Madelyn walked around with Benjamin and met various relatives.

He never shied away from their relationship and was always honest about it.

Brianna had a happy face as Benjamin finally had someone!

When asked about marriage, Brianna smiled coyly, "Madelyn is still young. Give her and Benjamin for another two years..."

She spoke generously, but behind her back, she looked sadly at her son.

They slept together every day, so how come there was no unexpected event like pregnancy?

Madelyn followed Benjamin for a while, but her feet were sore and she found an excuse to sit in the small garden and rest.

Suddenly, a shadow appeared before her.

She looked up and saw Daniel!

He looked better than before, and Madelyn guessed that the crisis at the Campbell Group should have been resolved. Today was Eloise's birthday, and she really wanted to congratulate him, then they never met again.

Daniel sensed Madelyn's distance.

He smiled, "Are you happy to attend such a party with Benjamin? Do you feel like you can marry into the Clark family, Madelyn... Did you see him introduce you to Alexander?"

Madelyn looked straight at him and asked, "What do you want to say?"

Daniel leaned in, his eyes lit up with a small flame, and his mouth curled with a hint of sarcasm, "Do you know that Benjamin doesn't want to be married? Do you know why?"

He hadn't finished speaking yet when Madelyn's gaze fell on somewhere.

She whispered softly, "I know!"

Daniel was stunned, and then he followed her gaze...

The entrance to the garden of the Clark mansion.

A slender figure dressed in a fiery red long dress, swaying gracefully, with long black hair flowing down to her waist, looked hot and passionate.

Benjamin, wearing a black tuxedo, gazed at her...

They were infatuated with each other, deeply entwined.

Madelyn smiled lightly.

Benjamin called her his Morning Dew!

No, she wasn't!

Eleanor was his red rose, and Madelyn was just a plain dish he had tasted before, nothing special...

Chapter 116 Madelyn, Try with Me!

The surroundings were quiet and peaceful.

Madelyn watched as the former lovers reunited after a long separation.

Benjamin's eyes were complex, mixed with pain, shock, surprise...

Madelyn didn't know if he still loved Eleanor, or how much he loved her, but she could tell that Benjamin definitely hated her.

Hate is the opposite of love!

He had never forgotten about Eleanor...

Daniel sneered from the side, "Madelyn, are you feeling uncomfortable all over now?"

Madelyn smiled faintly, "What pleasure do you get from mocking me, Daniel? Shouldn't you be happy now? You should be radiating the glory of the Holy Father!"

Daniel clenched his fists slowly.

What did he get?

What was he happy about?

He lost the woman who loved him for four years, watching her live with another man!

All of this was his own doing! Benjamin was right. It was him who sent Madelyn to Benjamin!

It was him... who lost her!

Daniel's throat moved slightly.

He couldn't help but speak, "Madelyn, perhaps I can give up everything! Can we start over?"

Madelyn suddenly looked up!

Her eyes were full of disbelief.

How could Daniel think they could start over? He had trampled on her mercilessly, said sorry lightly, and then picked up where they left off before?

It was ridiculous!

Madelyn's eyes were slightly red, and her lips trembled.

She stared at Daniel, hating him like never before!

She couldn't explain to Brianna that she and Benjamin were just "friends" in a physical sense!

But she still liked him and deliberately avoided him!

For the whole afternoon and evening, Benjamin hardly saw Madelyn! Well, the Clarks' mansion was quite big and if you had the heart, you could always avoid someone!

The night was cool as water.

Madelyn leaned against the pavilion, with a cocktail on the stone table.

The sound of Western music filled the hall, beautiful and romantic.

Madelyn thought that the guests should be dancing and having fun now. She didn't blame herself, as this place had nothing to do with her. She wouldn't even think about fighting for anything because Benjamin's attitude had already made it clear that he didn't care about her feelings!

She would find an excuse to leave later!

Benjamin probably wouldn't have time to take her home tonight...

"Madelyn!"

A soft voice called out to her.

Madelyn looked up and saw David.

David usually dressed casually, in typical second-generation clothing, but tonight he was particularly formal and handsome.

He walked up to Madelyn.

He was tall, and Madelyn was sitting down, so she had to look up at him.

David's voice was deeper than usual, "Aren't you going to dance? You look so pretty, it's a shame not to dance!"

Madelyn smiled. "No! It's good to have a breeze here!"

"Because of Benjamin and Eleanor?" David asked directly.

He rarely spoke so sharply, and Madelyn felt a little embarrassed!

David leaned down.

His nose almost touched hers as he whispered, "Madelyn, do you like him? Do you like him so much that you're afraid to show up in front of him, afraid of being hurt by the sight of your ex-lover dancing with someone else?"

"Coward!"

Madelyn's slender neck trembled slightly.

She looked at David in front of her as if she were meeting him for the first time.

David gently touched her face and said in a seductive voice, "Do you want to know why I'm doing this? Because I want you to be happy. Isn't that what life is all about, being happy?"

"As long as you have enough suitors, Benjamin won't be able to hurt you!"

"Madelyn, try with me! I promise you'll see a whole new Benjamin!"

Chapter 117 He Knew! He Just Didn't Want to Give It!

Madelyn's worldview was shattered by David!

She didn't like playing games with exciting love, she just wanted to be with someone she loved. Even if it wasn't Benjamin, she believed that one day she would meet that person.

Madelyn ran away.

She was scared away by David.

In the pavilion, David put on a seriousness look and looked at Madelyn's back without expression.

Her half-drunk cocktail was still there, looking sweet in pale pink. David gently picked it up, his fingers brushing over the lipstick mark left by Madelyn, and then drank it slowly...

There were many girls like Eleanor in their circle.

They had the same capricious character, just different in beauty!

But Madelyn was different. She had many advantages that other girls in their circle did not have, and because of her background, she was not petty...she was simply the perfect wife candidate in their circle!

Daniel didn't cherish her.

Benjamin was busy picking up his self-esteem from his youth, and perhaps he might not have time for Madelyn!

There was a flicker of fire in David's eyes.

Ben...if you don't know how to cherish a woman, I'll cherish her for you!

...

When Madelyn walked into the banquet hall, she was prepared.

David said Benjamin was dancing with Eleanor, and the scene must have been very beautiful. But seeing it in reality was another matter.

They were indeed a good match! And they had a tacit understanding.

Benjamin held Eleanor's slim waist while she spun in his arms...

The elders around them looked on with regret, remembering how well-suited they were in the past, but unfortunately they couldn't make it to the end.

Madelyn watched quietly.

Because between her and Benjamin, there was only ending their relationship, no such thing as breaking up.

Eloise didn't understand this, and watched as Madelyn got into the car, holding her gift. She hugged it happily and went back to the main house. Just as she entered, she ran into Benjamin.

"Where's Madelyn?"

Eloise raised the corner of her mouth and said, "You made her angry!"

She lifted the box in her hand and said, "It's a gift from Madelyn!"

She couldn't wait to see it, so she sat on the sofa and opened the box. Benjamin was originally going to leave, but he also wanted to see what Madelyn had given Eloise.

She never said that she gave present separately...

When the box was opened, it wasn't precious jewelry inside, but a bright yellow amulet.

Underneath was a scroll of handwritten scriptures copied by the head abbot of the Temple. It must have taken Madelyn a lot of effort to prepare such a valuable gift.

Eloise's lips quivered.

She said very softly, "This is the best gift I have ever received!"

Benjamin reached out and touched his sister's head, and said lightly, "May you be safe every year." Then he took the car keys and walked towards the parking lot.

Madelyn returned to her apartment at around ten o'clock.

She took off her makeup and took a bath, wrapped herself in a black silk bathrobe and stood in front of the floor-to-ceiling window. She rarely drank alcohol on her own initiative, but tonight she wanted to have a little bit.

After drinking a little, Madelyn thought it was time to end with Benjamin.

But whether this relationship ends or not, she still had to listen to his opinion. After all, her father's lawsuit had not yet officially started, and she cannot offend him too much.

Madelyn thought a lot and made many plans.

Later, feeling depressed, she opened the Morning Dew and played Moonlight Lover.

Benjamin opened the door and saw Madelyn sitting playing the piano.

There were no tears or hysteria, only a hint of sadness in the piano music, but even this sorrow was extremely restrained.

This is Madelyn, completely different from Eleanor in terms of character...

The piano suddenly stopped.

Madelyn turned her head to look at Benjamin and smiled slightly, "You're back?"

Chapter 118 Benjamin, Tell Me What It Means Not to Be Serious!

Madelyn's tone was particularly calm, "Are you having fun?"

Benjamin took off his coat, threw it on the sofa, and walked over to her.

He played with the glass of red wine on the bar, his gaze deep.

Madelyn rarely drank alcohol and lived an extremely disciplined life... If she was drinking, it meant that she was in a bad mood, and Benjamin guessed that it was because of him.

He asked hoarsely, "Are you angry?"

Madelyn didn't answer. She didn't want to lie, but she didn't want to tell the truth either.

Silence lingered for a long time...

Benjamin smiled faintly, "Madelyn, when we first got together, we made it clear that we would get along well for a while and break up when we got bored. What are we doing now?"

Madelyn looked up at him and asked softly, "Benjamin, are you bored now?"

Benjamin could tell what she meant as soon as he heard IT. She wanted to end this.

Because of Eleanor?

Suddenly, he picked her up and placed her on the piano.

The piano emitted a low, mournful sound...

Madelyn struggled, feeling embarrassed by her current state. Benjamin was simply playing her.

She was only wearing a black silk bathrobe, and struggling like this exposed too much skin. Benjamin couldn't help but tighten his throat at the sight of her translucent white skin...

He rolled his Adam's apple and whispered in her ear, "Do you care so much about Eleanor's existence, Ms. Green? Are you too serious?"

Madelyn was taken aback.

Her snowy white skin behind her eyebrows was highlighted by her bulging veins.

But she held back.

She gently raised her eyes and parted her lips, "Benjamin, tell me, what does it mean not to be serious?"

Without waiting for him to speak, she took the initiative to embrace his neck and kissed him lightly on the lips. She even initiated a deep kiss with him.

Benjamin's body trembled!

Madelyn had never done this before...

He liked doing that kind of thing with her, but at this moment, he was so moved that he forgot about their argument and immersed himself in the kiss.

As for Eleanor, she was not Madelyn's concern. Eleanor was his ex-girlfriend, not Madelyn's!

Madelyn slept well at night!

Benjamin didn't come back to the master bedroom to sleep. Madelyn guessed that he was sitting in the study reminiscing under the moonlight, which was fine and saved her from being bothered by him!

But she knew in her heart that her relationship with Benjamin...

If he didn't say it was over, they wouldn't be able to end it!

In the following days, Benjamin became busy.

He rarely came back for meals and occasionally didn't come back overnight.

Madelyn never called to ask him. They were like strangers living in the same house. The sweet moments they had before were gone. Madelyn sometimes even wondered if they ever had such a sweet time!

She didn't interfere with his private life.

She was pretty busy too!

The preliminary work in the music room was almost done. She picked a good day with Penelope and was waiting to open.

On this day, Madelyn returned from the music room.

As soon as she sat in the car, she received Vivian's call. Vivian hesitated and seemed to be struggling to speak.

"Has Jackson bullied you again?" Madelyn was worried about her.

Vivian immediately exploded.

She said, "Jackson is a scumbag. I gave up on him a long time ago! It's you, Madelyn. Why don't you look at men more carefully..."

Madelyn's heart trembled slightly.

She smiled gently, "What's wrong?"

Vivian couldn't hold back and blurted everything out.

"Benjamin has had several social engagements recently, and Eleanor has been there too! This is not the worst part. Benjamin went on a business trip to Gartown, and Eleanor even went with him! I can't explain... Madelyn, check the newspaper and you'll see!"

Madelyn listened in a daze.

Ah...

So Benjamin went to Gartown a few days ago, and she didn't even know. Did their relationship deteriorate to such an extent that they were both too busy to even say a word...

Madelyn smiled faintly.

She confessed to Vivian, "It's just that kind of relationship between us. Why should I stop him from being with someone else or being a third party in someone else's relationship!"

Vivian was shocked and speechless for a while.

After a long time, she finally spoke, "Damn it! Madelyn, your mindset is amazing!"

Madelyn could still joke, "Mr. Clark taught me!"

Chapter 119 It's Your Freedom to Meet Anyone!

After hanging up the phone, Madelyn was in a daze for a while.

How could she be so indifferent?

It was impossible!

After all, they had a passionate relationship, and he had loved her!

After all...she liked him too!

Madelyn composed herself and was about to start the car when Benjamin called.

Madelyn answered, her voice as gentle as ever.

"Benjamin..."

On the other end of the phone, Benjamin paused when he heard her soft voice.

It was then that he realized that he hadn't seen her much in almost a week. When he came back at night, she was already asleep, and she hadn't woken up when he left...

Benjamin's voice was slightly hoarse. "Where are you?"

"I'm about to go home."

Benjamin looked at his watch and spoke softly, "I'll come back later for dinner. Can you cook something?"

Madelyn was silent for a few seconds before agreeing.

After hanging up the phone, she gently touched her warm phone, feeling somewhat complicated.

Actually, considering her current relationship with Benjamin, it was normal for him to call her to tell her to lie down in bed. But asking her to cook...it seemed a bit unnecessary!

Those sweet moments at home were like candy-coated poison that had once made Madelyn willingly consumed them.

Now, he was pursuing the white moonlight of his youth.

And she, Madelyn, was still incurable!

There was no maid at home, so Madelyn went to the supermarket and bought some groceries.

After paying, a few young people at the entrance of the convenience store laughed and stuffed several newspapers into her bag.

"Gredax Evening News is in beta version, sister, take a look."

"There's gossip about the wealthy and powerful, and the content is explosive."

...

They called her Miss and were affectionate.

Madelyn didn't care and casually put the newspapers in her shopping bag and placed them in the trunk.

When she got home and opened the bag to prepare dinner, she discovered that the headlines of those newspapers were all about Benjamin.

With a white shirt and sharply pressed gray trousers, he had a black coat draped over his shoulders.

It was the same outfit as in the video, meaning he had met Eleanor tonight.

Madelyn watched him calmly.

Benjamin changed his shoes, took off his coat, and naturally glanced at the dining table.

Madelyn said with a faint smile, "I've eaten already!"

Benjamin nodded.

He sat down at the dining table and flipped through the newspaper casually, saying, "Cook me some noodles!"

As soon as he spoke, his gaze froze.

All the newspapers in his hands were filled with gossip about him and Eleanor, some even taken at a hotel and looking quite intimate.

He looked at Madelyn and frowned slightly.

Madelyn said lightly, "I bought the groceries from a convenience store, and they just happened to put it in the bag."

Benjamin put down the newspaper.

He remembered how she looked downstairs earlier, not paying attention at all. She seemed to be doing well even though they hadn't had any contact for a week.

Although he was the one who was rumored to be with his ex-girlfriend, Benjamin wanted to find trouble with Madelyn.

He sneered.

"Don't you want to ask?"

His questioning tone made Madelyn uncomfortable.

She looked down and smiled faintly, "Don't worry, Mr. Clark, I won't overstep my bounds and interfere with your personal life. It's your choice who you associate with and reunite with."

Benjamin lowered his head and lit a cigarette before smiling at her in a strange way.

Madelyn didn't care anymore.

She said word by word, "As for whether or not I care, that's also my freedom!"

Benjamin thought Madelyn had grown up.

She was quick-witted and didn't take any loss!

He swallowed twice before telling her to go cook.

Madelyn was still wearing his coat when she came out of the bedroom to cook. Benjamin watched her back while she cooked.

Madelyn had a great figure, even when cooking her back remained straight.

Her chestnut hair was tied up into a bun, revealing a tender piece of neck, and combined with her slender legs...It had been a long time since they had sex. Benjamin had that feeling.

Just then, Madelyn's phone on the dining table lit up.

It was a text message from Vivian.

The hood fan in the kitchen was too loud for Madelyn to hear...

For some reason, Benjamin picked up her phone, opened WhatsApp, and saw the video that Vivian had sent earlier.

The part where he met with Eleanor tonight...

Chapter 120 Sister-in-Law, Happiness Depended on Your Own Efforts!

Benjamin looked through the message.

Even as the person involved, he couldn't explain it. And he was indeed not innocent.

Recently, Eleanor had been chasing after him.

He did not respond.

But after all, that woman was his ex-lover. Everyone knew what it meant for a woman to chase after a man all day long!

For Benjamin, this was a little interesting.

But he had no intention of getting back together with her, and certainly didn't want to be the other man.

Madelyn didn't ask, and he had no intention of explaining.

Madelyn happened to bring out their food, with Benjamin still holding her phone.

The atmosphere was somewhat ambiguous.

Finally, Madelyn spoke first, "Vivian doesn't mean anything else, don't make things difficult for her."

Benjamin put down the phone.

He snorted, half-smiling and half-sneering, "You are quite good at worrying about others, why don't you worry about yourself?"

Madelyn asked in response, "Benjamin, do you want me to care or not?"

Benjamin's breathing became more intense.

He couldn't answer!

Madelyn knew that she could not find the right answer, so she smiled wryly, "Either way, I can pretend for you!"

The atmosphere was really oppressive, so she changed the topic, "You eat first, and I'll go take a shower!"

After taking only two steps, her arm was tightly grabbed.

She turned around...

Benjamin frowned.

He wasn't in the mood to eat at all, but he held onto Madelyn's arm tightly, not knowing what he wanted to hold onto...

She was afraid that Madelyn would disagree, deliberately saying, "You left during my birthday, so consider this making it up to me."

Madelyn quite liked her, so she agreed after thinking about it.

Eloise pushed her into the closet and personally picked out a dress and jewelry for her.

She was in a watercolor chiffon maxi dress with her very thin waist, especially beautiful and romantic.

With Madelyn's hair color, she looked like a certain female celebrity.

Eloise stared at her in a daze and murmured, "How could my brother bear to leave you..."

After speaking, she felt embarrassed and stuck out her tongue.

Madelyn wasn't angry. She grabbed her purse and paired it with nude high heels.

"Where are we going?" Eloise didn't dare say! Her mother cried every day at home but couldn't interfere with the young couple's life. So she specifically told Eloise to bring Madelyn to "catch them in the act"!

Brianna instructed her like this, "Your brother is still single at his age and now the right woman left with anger because of him! Eloise, you can't ignore your brother!"

Eloise thought, "I'll handle it! I'll handle it right away!"

Eloise found Madelyn after asking David about it...

At this time, Madelyn asked her, and she was secretive. "It's just a good place!"

Eloise drove over and let Madelyn sit in her car. Madelyn couldn't resist her enthusiasm.

Half an hour later, the red sports car stopped in front of the Orchid Club.

The doorman recognized Eloise and respectfully called out "Ms. Clark," but glanced at Madelyn. She was pretty and he hadn't seen her before! Of course, Eloise saw it.

She was quite proud.

My sister-in-law!

Madelyn followed her and went up to the third-floor VIP box level while asking, "Did you invite other friends?"

Eloise stopped at the door of Room 308.

She opened the door and invited Madelyn in. She was extremely nervous, "Um, there are quite a few friends."

Madelyn wasn't prepared and went in like this.

When she adapted to the light in the room, she was stunned. She recognized almost all the people in the room. Benjamin, David's circle of friends, and of course Eleanor...

Madelyn turned her head and looked at Eloise.

Eloise ran away quickly...

"Sister-in-law! Happiness depends on your own efforts!"
